

Kaleidoscope Arts Is Coming To Town

Kaleidoscope is a participatory arts program for children ages 6 to 12, and it is coming to Winston-Salem, November 11-18, under the local co-sponsorship of the Junior League of Winston-Salem.

Created and funded by Hallmark Cards, Kaleidoscope is designed to stimulate children's innate creativity. During their hour-long journey, children can play a steel drum to an accompanying tune, watch pictures dance into action by cranking the handle of an animation wheel, or draw and punch out their own jigsaw puzzle.

During its stay in Winston-Salem, Kaleidoscope, housed in its bright yellow tent-like structure, will be at Parkway Plaza, 1253-C Silas Creek Parkway.

Weekdays are reserved for school groups, but on the weekend, Kaleidoscope is open to the public on a first-come, first-served basis. Sixty-minute sessions are scheduled Saturday, Nov. 14, at 10 a.m. and 11 a.m., and 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. and 3 p.m., and on Sunday, Nov. 15, at 1 p.m., 2 p.m., and 3 p.m. Admission is free, and tickets are available 30 minutes before each session.

A hand-turned wheel die-cuts a jigsaw puzzle in the Kaleidoscope Art Workshop. Puzzles are one of seven art projects offered to children ages 6 through 12 at Kaleidoscope.

After 7...Brothers Soothes The Soul

After 7 are brothers Kevon and Melvin Edmonds, along with Keith Mitchell, who have become best known for their combination of elegant vocal styling with a 90's high-tech edge. On stage their moves remind audiences of the male vocal groups of the 60's, but their music sets the stage and creates a contemporary presence that gives the best of both worlds.

Their self-titled platinum plus Virgin Records album debuted the summer of 1989 and generated four top ten singles that led to a host of awards and major tours.

"Ready or Not" and "Can't Stop" went Gold. Other hits were "In the Heat of the Moment" and "Nights Like These," from the soundtrack of the movie "The Five Heartbeats."

After three years, After 7 is back with their second release "Takin' My Time." This melodic theme creates a transitional platform for an assortment of music that runs the full spectrum of up-tempo grooves to melodic ballads, illustrating After 7's ability to soothe and relax the soul.

"Kickin' It", written and co-produced by Dallas Austin and Randy Ran, is the first single that combines youthful appeal with a street-wise vibe ... a summer feel-good song. Known for their ballads, this release is a welcome surprise for After 7 fans.

Keith Mitchell found his musical calling at the early age of seven, directing his church's choir and performing with his brother and sisters in a sibling group.

Brothers Melvin and Kevon Edmonds are two of six siblings with younger brother (producer) Babyface, and have always had a love of music, something that was in their home from childhood. "Singing was like breathing ... it was something we had to do."

Robinson Stumps in N.C. for President Bush

By SHERIDAN HILL
Chronicle Assistant Editor

Renowned local republican Vernon Robinson was pulled off the desk at his temporary job at Bush reelection headquarters.

Saturday Robinson began travelling through 35 towns in the Piedmont and Charlotte, stumping for Bush. Since losing the Republican nomination for state superintendent of schools candidate, Robinson has been working at Bush's re-election campaign.

Friday Robinson was given notice to hit the road the next day.

Robinson says he will be speaking at public events such as Catholic school PTA meetings, Republican rallies, and Republican luncheons such as the one he addressed here this week.

"The entire campaign staff was sent out into the field," said Robinson.

He wants voters to know that the president stands for change, and that Bush hasn't done such a bad job with the economy.

"We are taking a hit on the economy, but there's a world-wide recession going on.

Japan has higher inflation rate than we do," says Robinson.

Of the voters who elected George Bush in 1988, only one percent were black.
