

Sethos Temple Holds Annual Election

▲ Carpenter Elected Illustrious Potentate

Sethos Temple, No. 170, recently held its annual election of officers for the 1993 year. With 50 Nobels in attendance, the election was conducted by Nobel Samuel Shore, imperial deputy of the Oasis of Winston-Salem, NC.

The following officers were elected: Nobel Prelow Carpenter, illustrious potentate; Nobel Weldon

Hay, chief rabban; Nobel Curtis Clemmons, assistant rabban; Nobel Alfonso Martin, high priest and prophet; Nobel Edward Russell, oriental guide; Nobel Isaac Falls, recorder; and Nobel Nathan Colson, treasurer.

The appointed officers were named by the illustrious potentate at the first meeting, which was held in January.

Sims Center Takes Kids To Circus

On Feb. 7 at 1 p.m. Sims and Sprague Street Recreation Centers took 20 kids to the Ringing Brothers/Barnum Bailey Circus for an evening of enjoyment.

Ben Piggott and Kristy Thomas spearheaded the project for taking the children who attended the learning center for positive incentives for their above average grades in school. The following people volunteered to help supervise the children: Clarence Brown of the Sims center staff; Jamie Bridges, former Miss W.S.S.U.; and officer Ronnie Christian of the Winston-Salem Police Department.

Cassandra Penn (Wiley School) Severus Hicks (Griffin Elementary); Michelle Davis (Wiley School); Frederick Dilworth (Wiley School) and Tramond Cobb (Wiley School) enjoyed the Chicago Kids, a group of innercity kids who performed stunts and tumblings for the Ringing Brothers Circus. The Chicago kids are also school-aged kids who maintain good grades while performing with the circus.

"This was an event that was educational and fun," said Ben Piggott, center supervisor for the Sims Center. "Ringing Brothers told us that the Chicago Kids could perform for kids at the Williams C. Sims Recreation Center."

AKAs Donate To Crisis Control

Phi Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. recently completed a public service project at Crisis Control Ministry. Members of the chapter, with the assistance of Sara Lee Knitwear, donated winter underwear for distribution to the patrons of the center. According to the Rev. Ginny Britt, directors, this has been a dire need during the winter months.

The project was coordinated by Clara Gaines, chairman. Other members of the committee include Barbara Brown, Mary Bruce, Frances Coble, Bronnie Daniels, Annie Hairston, Elaine McCloud, Barbara Phillips, Ethel Walker and Virginia Wiseman.

After a September report by the Census Bureau showing that approximately 36 million Americans lived below the poverty line in 1991 (33% of whom were black), Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. launched an international campaign to heighten awareness of the world food problem and the struggle against hunger and poverty. In October 1992, AKA sponsored a major food drive and a letter-writing campaign to U.S. senators, urging them to support the Urban Aid Bill and the Children's Initiative Dr. Mary Shy Scott, international president of AKA, stressed to AKA members that it is critical that black-resources remain in black communities, and our solidarity in the struggle against poverty is strengthened.

AKAs mission is to render service to all mankind. Olivia E. Morgan is president of Phi Omega Chapter.
