Questions & Answers on recovering from grief

Q. I've always thought I was pretty independent and had good self-esteem. Since my husband died, I seem to have no confidence left.

A. When we lose the person who used to reassure us, our confidence may falter. Now it is up to you to develop a positive sense of self.

Nothing will boost your confidence more than rewarding the good work of others, so be generous with your compliments about the good things you see others doing as well.

Questions asked during bereavement classes are answered by the editor of AFTERLOSS. For a free copy of one of our new little booklets, Grief is a Process, Not an Event or "I Never Know What To Say!" please call or stop by.
