WHOMP! HERE IT IS!! PROJECT YOUTH RECYCLE!!!

A group of enterprising and talented youths ages 9 to 16 have proven that recycling sounds better with a beat! An entertaining and educational video is the product of a summer program entitled "PROJECT YOUTH RECYCLE" sponsored by the City of Winston-Salem's RECYCLE TODAY program and Keep Winston-Salem Beautiful, Inc.

18 young people from the East Winston Community participated in "PROJECT YOUTH RECYCLE". They spent one month learning about and exploring first hand how recycling and solid waste operations work in Winston-Salem. After seeing it "up close and personal", the kids were challenged with the

The video will be aired several times on the Winston-Salem/Forsyth County School Channel 2 during the month of December. Additionally, the video will be shown to school groups, civic organizations and visitors touring the BFI Recyclery. It's an effective tool in reinforcing the recycling message. Equally important, the video serves as an example that young people are fast learners and powerful messengers - even when the language is their very own!

This is the first year the City of Winston-Salem has sponsored PROJECT YOUTH RECYCLE and because of its success thus far, the project will likely become an annual event.

Our sincere thanks to the sponsors and participants of our premier PROJECT YOUTH RECYCLE:

task of producing a video to encourage nonrecyclers to "get with the program" specifically, the Curbside Recycling Program.

THE RECYCLE RAP

The resulting video, which was written, produced and performed by the participants, is creative and effective in its message. The video includes a mock newscast by WREC-TV (Recycling, Education in the Community TV), and includes an EXCLUSIVE interview with a Garbologist who's discovered an amazing phenomena at an old landfill.

The video pokes holes in the lame excuses used by non-recyclers. The rap video uses humor and the sincerity of youth to recruit converts to the recycling crusade.

IT'S A STEEL. FOOD & BEVERAGE CANS THAT IS!

Don't forget. Your RECYCLE TODAY program accepts steel food and beverage cans. It's easy to recycle steel cans. Here's how:

- Rinse cans thoroughly. Acceptable cans include: fruit, vegetable, soup, meat, fish, pet food, juice and coffee cans. No aerosol or paint cans, please.
- 2. Drop the lids into the cans. Squeeze the lid slightly to keep lid from falling out. You don't have to remove the label, but it helps!
- Place the cans into the bin along with other recyclables.

A SWEEPING SUCCESS!

On September 18th, 260 Big Sweep volunteers collected 12,980 pounds of trash and debris from Winston-Salem waterways! 12 sites were included in the Big Sweep, which is part of a nationwide cleanup held each fall. Some of the sites cleaned and beautified by the 260 hard working volunteers included Kernersville Lake, Upper and Lower Peters Creek, Salem Creek and Salem Lake. A new site was added this year, the Tar Branch Creek near Wachovia and Poplar Streets.

The waterway cleanup is sponsored by First Citizens Bank and Keep Winston-Salem Beautiful. If you missed out on this year's Big Sweep, don't worry. We'll provide you with plenty of notice to volunteer for Big Sweep 1994!
