Hanes Hosiery Teams Claim West Central Community Center Titles

A pair of Hanes Hosiery Recreational All-Star basketball teams captured championships in tournament play this week in Pfafftown in the West Central Community Center Invitational held March 17-24.

The 14-under Hanes team defeated the West Central All-star squad 70-63 and 72-64 in double elimination to win the title. To get to the championship, the Hanes team defeated Yadkin County 71-50 and Stokes County 79-73. The Hanes All-star team consisted of

The 16-under Hanes team used their quickness and a trapping defense to corral its championship. The Hanes All-Stars beat a determined Stokes County team 72-63 to claim its second straight championship in the tournament. In the first round, Hanes whipped Midway's All-star squad 63-49 and knocked off the Surry County Youth Basketball League B team 99-63 as seven Hanes players scored in double figures.

The Carolina Central Hornets won its second straight tournament in two weeks by taking the Sun Drop Shootout.

Central AAU Takes Gastonia Tourney

By MICHAEL JOHNSON
Chronicle Sports Writer

The Carolina Hornets 13-under Amateur Athletic Union basketball team won the tenth annual Sun Drop Shootout Tournament in Gastonia, clinching its second championship in two weeks. The Hornets won the Greensboro Invitational Tournament last week.

The Hornets defeated four teams on its way to the championship last Saturday and Sunday: Winston Lake, 37-35 in overtime; the Charlotte Warriors, 41-11; the Kernersville Hurricanes, 61-46; and the Raleigh Rockets 54-31.

Carolina Central's most intriguing contest was against Winston Lake, who led until the final minutes of regulation when Travis Holcomb-Frye made a steal and converted it to tie the game with five seconds left.

In overtime, Rodmond Dunlop's steal and conversion tied the game at 35-35 before Holcomb-Frye's steal and offensive rebound of his missed shot accounted for the game's final margin.

It was the second time Holcomb-Frye's heroics saved a game for Carolina Central. Holcomb-Frye's steal against the Charlotte Sonics blue team in last week's championship game set up the winning basket for the Hornets in Greensboro.

Against Charlotte, Marcus Oliver scored 15 points and hauled in six rebounds. Against Kernersville, A.J. Steele and Carter

Williams each scored 14 points to withstand a 24-point effort from the Hurricanes' Jason Brown. And in the championship game against Raleigh, Steele scored 14 points to lead Carolina Central and Oliver and Mike Dames scored 11 each.

Dames was named the tournament's most valuable player. He was joined by Steele and Williams on the All-tournament team.
