Best Yet Garden Club Holds March Meeting

Best-Yet Club met at the home of hostess Florence Rennick with Olivia DeReef as her co-hostess on March 26. The meeting opened with devotions led by Doris Gillian. Followed by the prayer, a song "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," and reading by Gillian, our devotions ended. The president, Claudine Cheek called for the reading of the minutes by the secretary, Janet Warren and the sick committee report from Virginia Stewart. Each report was received and adopted.

Virginia Stewart have given the report from the Fourth District Garden Council Meeting regarding plans for the Flower Show. Best-yet was also asked to provide flowers for a special project sponsored by Ruth Washington's Club. This will be decided by the group if we accept the project. A special kickoff meeting for the flower show was held on March 28, at the Rupert Bell Recreation Center.

President Cheek distributed brochures about our upcoming fundraiser. Various items were viewed for consideration.

A report on anniversary celebration was given by Ann Moye. The club will celebrate its anniversary by attending church at First Baptist Church on May 15. A continuation of the celebration will come at the end of the month by meeting for brunch and touring on May 28. Further plans concerning the 28th are to be discussed in the April meeting.

The club the discussed plans for a Fall trip to Tryon Palace and other stops along the way. Stay tune for further information concerning future projects.

The meeting was adjourned by the president. Birthday cards were distributed to members with March birthdays as then enjoyed warm conversation and repast served by the hostesses.

Arts Council of Winston Salem Earns Recertification

The Arts Council of Winston-Salem and Forsyth County has received recertification from the North Carolina Arts Council as a Grassroots Arts Program Local Distributing Agent for 1994-97. This assures that The Arts Council's expenditures of Grassroots money in Forsyth County are effective and equitable.

A Community Development Panel, consisting of five North Carolina Arts Council board members and four guest panelists from the community arts field, evaluated 77 Local Distributing Agents (LDAs) and assigned each organization a ranking based on performance standards.

The Arts Council received a rating of 3.6 based on a scale of 1 to 4 with four being "excellent" and one being "poor." The majority of state LDAs (39) received rankings between 2.0 and 2.9. The average score was 2.7 and the mean score was 2.8.

Through their assessment, the panel praised The Arts Council for "excellent fiscal controls and accountability," and "excellent long-range plan," "extensive support of organization and programs of colors" and "excellent subgranting systems and materials." The Arts Council was also recognized for having a percentage of people of color on their board that exceeds the percentage of people of color in Forsyth County and for thorough and professional systems of planning and evaluation.
