NWOA Holds Regional Conference

The National Women of Achievement held its Southeast Region Biennial Conference in Winston-Salem at the Best Western Regency Inn, April 29-May 1. The event, attended by more than 200 achievers, community leaders and family, had as its theme: "Committed to Serve Our Youth, Senior Citizens, and Community For Such A Time As This." The immediate past national first vice president of Fort Worth, Texas, Beatrice Douglas, called the event "precious impressions in sisterhood." The Southwest region director, Helen W. Falls, acknowledged that achievers "work decorations and in the achievers' attire. Especially was this true on April 29, for the Bringing in Ceremony (BIC) for sixteen new inductees. Manderline Scales conducted the ceremony.

On April 30, the agenda began with the opening welcome and introductions by program chairperson Annie Hairston. Lucille Gwyn gave the meditation and prayer.

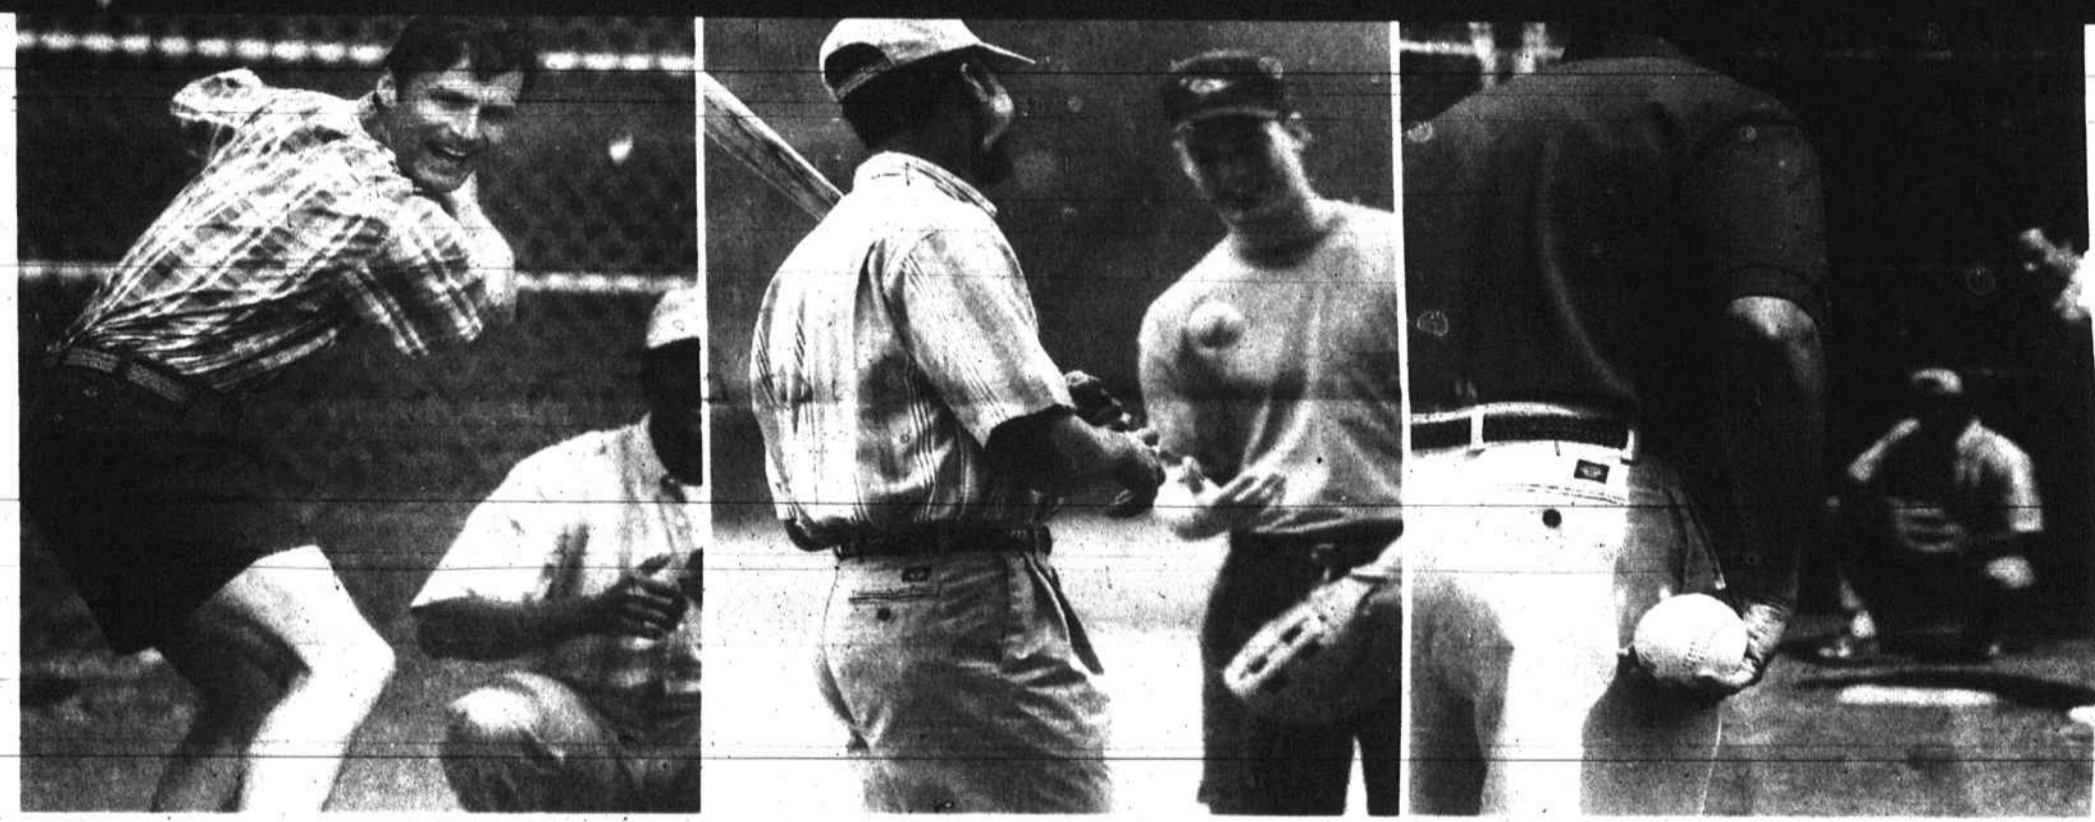

Alderwoman Joycelyn Johnson brought greetings. Virginia Newell presented Mayor Martha Woods' special achievement award to regional director Helen W. Falls.

Louise Hamilton was presider and Edna Revels presented chapter awards to a member chosen from each chapter for outstanding service. Falls received a special plaque proclaiming her president emeritus of the Winston-Salem Chapter for 13 years as organizer and president. Richardean Wilson was mistress of the dais for all sessions, and Gwynn served as chaplain.

The Mt. Zion Baptist Church Bell Choir, directed by Veronica Jones, provided music.

Meeting to Be Held
