

NAUW to Celebrate 72nd Founders Day

The National Association of University Women Winston-Salem Branch, recently celebrated its 72nd Founders Day at the home of Aurelia McFadden. Highlights of the program was planned by Barbara Puryear, First Vice President and Program Chairperson, were the tribute to Nettie Manning by Ella B. Tillman and the Extravaganza. The Extravaganza was a case of hats modeled by members of the Winston-Salem Branch. Daisy Staten was outstanding in her black pill-box with trailing red roses Sunday morning hat. In the sportswear category, Barbara Puryear, showed off a red hat ringed by red and black ostrich feathers and Norma Vincent strutted a black and gold cowboy hat. Mildred Griffin took the award for the most creative with her "Around the Educational World" hat. The "fun" category was headed by Maxine Leak in a white straw hat and Verna Griffin in a hand made crocheted hat. The show was judged by Andrais Brandon, Olivett Bynum and JoAnne Falls.

The National Association of University Women was originally founded in 1924 and the Winston-Salem Branch was started in 1952 with the first president being Dorothy Blunt. The purpose and mission of the group is to promote a closer union and fellowship among university women for constructive work in education, civic activities, and human relations. One of the primary activities of the Winston-Salem Branch is its annual scholarship fundraiser, The Sangria, which is held the last Saturday of May. Any female student who has been accepted and enrolls at Winston-Salem State University is eligible to apply for the scholarship.
