carefully screen players from other organizations and will encourage them to stay with their present teams.

"Only 13 of the 73 initial signees we've had were from other teams," she said. "They are tickled to stay in their own neighborhood."

The Panthers will be based out of South Fork Elementary School where they will practice and play games. There will be registration on April 29 from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. at the school for anyone wishing to play next fall. Prospects must bring their birth certificate and report-card at the time of sign up along with a $75 entry fee.

Presently there are 10 adult volunteers spearheading the project, but more are needed, says Crooks. "We need adult volunteers. We encourage adults to volunteer even if they don't have a kid in the league."

Poole holds the school record in the 200-meter dash at 21 seconds and covers the 40-yard dash in 4.28 seconds. He has a 37-inch vertical leap.

"It's hard to find 'cover' cornerbacks," said Carolina coach Dom Capers, who likes to blitz on defense and needs cornerbacks who can cover receivers one-on-one. "We had Tyrone Poole the No. 1 defensive back."

Capers compared the 5-9, 182-pound Poole to Darrell Green, another small defensive back who proved size doesn't matter by earning All-Pro honors with Washington.

"There are guys who play like little guys and there are small guys who play bigger," Capers said. "Tyrone is a tremendous physical specimen with tremendous jumping ability. That will enable him to play bigger receivers."

Poole combines physical talent with mental toughness and an abundance of confidence.

"I feel like I'm a multidimensional player," said Poole, who had 17 career interceptions at Fort Valley and was named the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference player of the year as a senior. "When I'm on the field, I feel like I'm the best player out there. I feel like the better the competition, the better

I am. I've always felt like the abilities I possess are second to none at my position."

Douglas vaulted from relatively obscurity before the draft to a prized linebacker after an outstanding NFL scouting combine.

The 6-2, 250-pounder, who chose to enter the draft after his junior season at Central State, was projected to go late in the first round, but ended up going in the middle, the third linebacker selected. The top-rated backer, Mike Mamula of Boston College, was tapped by Philadelphia with the seventh pick, and Mark Fields of Washington State was taken by New Orleans with the 13th pick.
