

Ingram, WSSU Professor, Receives Teaching Award

Dr. Elwanda D. Ingram, Professor of English at Winston-Salem State University, recently was honored as one of sixteen recipients of the University of North Carolina Board of Governors Award for Excellence in Teaching.

She received $7,500 and a bronze medallion with her name engraved on it at luncheon ceremony in Chapel Hill on April 21.

This award was created to underscore the importance of teaching and to encourage, recognize, and reward outstanding teaching. This is the first year the award has been given.

Throughout the years, Dr. Ingram has worked tirelessly to instill in her students her love and passion for African American literature. She has been praised by students as being approachable and supportive.

She organizes university side forums, lectures at public schools and libraries, and leads discussions for churches and civic groups.

Grants have permitted her to study in Africa and South America and to participate in planning women's studies courses at Duke University.

An active member of the Winston-Salem State University faculty since 1979, Dr. Ingram received the Wachovia Excellence in Teaching Award in 1988 and she was the Winston-Salem Chronicle Woman of the Year in 1984.

Dr. Elwanda D. Ingram

A native of Kinston, Dr. Ingram holds a bachelor's degree from Morgan State University, a master's degree from the University of Illinois, and a doctorate from the University of Oregon.

WSSU Establishes Maya Angelou Institute

Winston-Salem State University has announced plans to establish the Maya Angelou Institute for Family and Child Development.

The announcement was made Friday, April 21, at the home of the noted poet, actress and educator Maya Angelou, who is a distinguished professor of American Studies at nearby Wake Forest University. The institute has received start-up money from the Foundation for New Era Philanthropy, located in Radnor, Pa., which has donated $200,000 to the effort.

The institute will be developed as a model center that can be replicated around the country. The institute will work with both parents and surrogates, and help provide child care professionals with new curricula and techniques that will maximize a child's opportunities for growth and development. The university, which has a long history as a teachers college, will use its own Early Childhood Center as a laboratory until a new facility is built. The institute faculty will also collaborate with existing social and educational organizations, such as Head Start, and eventually organize national symposiums on early childhood issues.

Maya Angelou

Angelou said she was honored to have the center bear her name and gave credit to Winston-Salem State for leading this systemic approach to dealing with societal, educational and family issues. "If the teacher knows how to reach a child, then the child stands a chance not only to survive and thrive but to be of use to the community," she said.

The Angelou Institute will be located in the university's Albert H. Anderson Center, which houses the education division. A director will be hired in early July to assist with planning while the education faculty develop specific goals and objectives. Other institute staff will include a family specialist and two program specialists, who will be hired as funding grows.

SECCA Talks Tonight

A lecture by Winston-Salem State University's Fulbright scholar, Buckner Dogbe, on "Africa/America: The Role of Women in the Art" will be held Thursday, April 27 at 7 p.m. at SECCA located at 750 Marguerite Drive. Susan Lubowsky, SECCA's executive director, will also speak.

Admission is free. For more information, call Diggs Gallery at 750-2458.

District 12 GOP

The GOP (Republican) 12th Congressional District Convention will be held April 29, at 11 a.m. at the Guilford County Courthouse, 505 E. Green Street, High Point.

The cost is $5 for each delegate and alternate. Please arrive early to register. Questions may be directed to Nancy J.R. Wells, Greensboro, 910-855-8719.

WSSU Symphonic Band to Hold Spring Concert

The Winston-Salem State University Symphonic Band will hold its spring concert at 5 p.m., Sunday, April 30, in Dillard Auditorium at the Anderson Center. The public is invited at no charge.

Clarinetist Marcus Eley, who performed in Winston-Salem last fall at the Gateways Festival featuring African American classical musicians, is the guest artist. Eley has been a soloist with the Berlin Symphony, the Louisville Orchestra and the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra. He made his Carnegie Hall recital debut in 1987. Eley also teaches clarinet at California State University in Los Angeles.

From 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., Saturday, April 29, Eley will conduct a free master class which will be held in Room 106 of the Fine Arts building. To reserve a seat, call Lee David Legette, director of the symphonic band, at 750-2530.

Jessup Crowned Miss Jabberwock

Jabberwock '95 "A Little More Magic" was held Saturday, April 22 at the Kenneth R. Williams Auditorium on the campus of Winston-Salem State University.

Eleven young ladies competed for the title of Miss Jabberwock '95. The winner was Revonda L. Jessup. The First Runner-Up was Shantha K. Hyman, a senior at North Forsyth High School. Second Runner-Up was Quaneisha S. Davis, a junior at Carver High School.

Revonda L. Jessup

Miss Jessup, a junior at Mt. Tabor High School, is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. John Jessup. Some of her activities at school include membership in the National Honor Society, Latin Club, Student Council, Junior Council, Ebony American Society, Varsity Cheerleader, and Tabor Girls Council. In the community she is a member of Top Teens of America, Jack and Jill of America, and St. Paul United Methodist Church. In addition to being a participant in Kaleidoscope at Wake Forest, she is a Research Apprentice at Bowman Gray School of Medicine.

Jabberwock is sponsored by the Winston-Salem Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. as a fund raising vehicle for scholarships. All the contestants will receive a scholarship to a four year college of choice.

The Jabberwock '95 Steering Committee consisted of Norma Guthrie, Mose' Belton-Brown, Sharon Buford, Sandra Chapman, Denise Hartsfield, Yvette Hatcher, Doris Herrell, Diedra Howie, Jacqueline Jessup, Patsy Murrill, Elizabeth Newton, Rosalind Redd, Pamela Wagner, Gladys Wilson, and Rosa Wilson.

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
			26	27	28	29
30	1	2

The old is good. Wed. April 26, 8 a.m. through Sat. May 2, 1995 at our Winston-Salem Lowe's Food Stores. Quantity rights are reserved. None sold to date.

Lowe's FOODS

RED HOT PRICES

At The Freshest Store in Town!

LOOK WHAT 49¢ WILL BUY!

Season's First 49¢ Save 30¢ Per Pound

World Famous Season's First Super Sweet Vidalia Onions

Washington State Extra Fancy Large Golden Delicious Apples 49¢ Save 50¢ Per Pound

7.25 oz. Kraft Macaroni & Cheese Dinner 49¢ Save 19¢

12 oz. Frozen Morning Fresh Farms Orange Juice 49¢ Save 30¢

4 Roll Angel Soft Bathroom Tissue 49¢ Save 50¢

Sliced & Wrapped FREE!

USDA Choice Whole Sirloin Tip 1.29 Pound

USDA Choice 1.89 Pound

Tyson/Holly Farms Grade A Breast Quarters 89¢ Lb.

USDA Choice Sirloin Tip Roast 1.99 Pound

16 oz. Meat or Light Meat Oscar Mayer Wieners FREE Buy One, Get One

6 Pack Shasta Soft Drinks 99¢

1 Roll Better Valu Paper Towels 39¢

17.3 oz. Kellogg's Complete Bran Flakes, 16.2 oz. Apple Cinnamon Rice Krispies or 16 oz. Frosted Mini Wheats 1.99

1/2 Gallon Pet Ice Cream 1.99

16 oz. Valleydale Sliced Bacon 99¢

All Varieties 2 Liter Coke 89¢

12 oz. Meat or Light Meat Oscar Mayer Bologna FREE Buy One, Get One

12 oz. Advance Chuckwagon, Chicken Fried Beef Patties, Pork Patties or Chicken Fingers FREE Buy One, Get One

OUR EXCLUSIVE 200% FRESHNESS GUARANTEE

At Lowe's Foods, we have always guaranteed the freshness and quality of all items in our store, so if any item does not meet YOUR freshness standard, simply provide proof of purchase and: We will replace that item 100% and *We will refund that item's price 100%.

TOTAL FRESHNESS GUARANTEE 200%

The Junior League of Winston-Salem, comprised of over 1,000 members, takes pride in its contributor to the community.

Over the last three years the Junior League of Winston-Salem has contributed over $120,000 to the community in areas of children and families, and education.

League members volunteer over 32,000 hours of their time annually.

99 Reynolda Village • Winston-Salem, NC 27106-5120
(910) 722-9681

The Junior League would like to thank all of the volunteers who gave of themselves before, during and after the Rummage Sale April 21-22, 1995.