

Pitts to Preach at Wake Forest

The Rev. Dr. Tyrone Pitts, general secretary of the Progressive National Baptist Convention, will preach at a joint vice of Wake Forest Baptist Church and First Baptist Church, Highland Avenue in Wait Chapel on the Wake Forest campus Sunday morning, October 29.

The Progressive National Baptist Convention is a 2.5 million member African-American organization that held its national convention in Charlotte in August. President Bill Clinton was the featured speaker. Rev. Dr. Pitts is the chief administrative officer of the progressive National Baptist Convention.

Wake Forest Baptist Church, a predominately white congregation, and First Baptist Highland Avenue, an African-American church, have undertaken a variety of collaborative activities since the spring of 1994 to help improve race relations. Their relationship has included building a Habitat for Humanity house, a joint youth summer mission trip to Georgia, racial discussion meeting, and a number of joint worship services and pulpit exchanges.

In April the two congregations received the local United Way's Community Problem-Solving Award for their efforts to improve racial understanding.

Richard Groves

Rev. Dr. Pitts, before moving to his current post, was Director of Racial Justice, Division of Church and Society, for the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA. He continues to serve on the National Council of Churches' general board, executive coordinating committee and national mission unit.

He also has been director of an American Baptist Urban Ministry program in Los Angeles, associate pastor at Calvary Baptist Church in Washington, D.C., and serves on boards of a number of national and regional Baptist, Christian and community organizations.

Rev. Dr. Pitts received his undergraduate degree from Virginia State University, his master's of divinity from Colgate Rochester Bexley Hall/Crozier Divinity School, and his doctorate from Union Theological Seminary.

Northern Zone Missionary Society Sponsors Rededication

The Northern Zone Missionary Society of the Winston-Salem Greenville District of the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church will sponsor a rededication service at St. John C.M.E. Church on Sunday, October 29 at 4 p.m. The Northern Zone Missionary Society is comprised of missionaries from six Christian Methodist Episcopal Churches in the area- Hanes Memorial, Holsey Memorial (Statesville, N.C.), Reynolds Temple, St. John Shouse Temple and Wayside. The Northern Zone under the presidential leadership of Alexandra Jackson has pledged to rededicate itself to service through unity.

The theme adopted for the program is "Discipleship 2000: A Missionary Calling." The sub-theme is "Rededicating Ourselves To Service Through Unity." Jerlyn Travick served as Program Chairperson and coordinator for the joint fellowship service. Other members of the committee were: Marvella Willoughby, Andrea Robinson, Dorothy Archie-Missionary President, Hanes Memorial; Dinah Pettigrew - Missionary President, St. John; Margaret Payne - Missionary President Shouse Temple; and Masie Clemons - Missionary President, Wayside.

The joint fellowship program will consist of a candlelighting rededication service with assistance from the Rev. Herman Gilliam, Chaplain for the Northern Zone, the Rev. Doretha Baldwin, and Dr. Ronald P. Davis, Sr., host pastor. Music will be provided by a combined Missionary choir accompanied by James Smith and Jerlyn Travick under the direction of Peggy Waddell, newly elected Missionary President for the Winston-Salem/Greenville District of the Carolina Conference.

A combined Rossie T. Hollis Youth Choir under the direction Dorothy Archie with accompaniment by Verna Simpson will also render musical selections. Dinah Pettigrew will serve as Worship Leader for the program.

Other Missionary Presidents for the Northern Zone include Vicki Hairston-Reynolds Temple and Shirley Mayfield-Holsey Memorial.

The public is cordially invited to join the missionaries as they pledge to continue the calling to spread God's message by a rededication to service with a common goal.

As part of its outreach efforts, the Northern Zone will donate the proceeds from this service to the Human Services Alliance; 3938 Old Greensboro Road.

The host pastors for the participating churches are: Dr. Lloyd L. Watkins, Sr. (Hanes Memorial); the Rev. Bertha Walker (Holsey Memorial); the Rev. Doretha Baldwin (Reynolds Temple); the Rev. J.I. Thompson (Shouse Temple); the Rev. Arthur Watkins (Wayside); and Dr. Ronald P. Davis, Sr., host Pastor, St. John. the Rev. Will E. Chambers is the Presiding Elder for the Winston-Salem Greenville District.
