JONES

Mrs. Lee Etta Blount Jones, formerly of Raleigh, N.C., and Mount Vernon, N.Y., died July 1, at Forsyth Memorial Hospital.

She was a native of Washington, N.C., born on June 10, 1912, to Archie and Sarah Carter Blount. She was educated in the local schools and was a member of the Beebe Memorial CME Church. Lee Etta received her undergraduate degree from Elizabeth City State University and her graduate work was completed at New York University. She ultimately retired from the Mount Vernon N.Y. school system. Mrs. Jones was a gifted musician (piano and organ). She returned to North Carolina and resided in Cary. She was a member of the Young Temple Memorial CME Church in Raleigh, N.C.

She was preceded in passing by her husband, Edward Jones, and one sister, Inez Blount Jones. She is survived by one brother, Dr. W. Archie (Dorothy) Blount of Winston-Salem, N.C.; an adopted sister, Dorothy Lee Jones Edwards, of Washington, N.C.; numerous nieces and nephews in New York State; and other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held July 5 at Young Temple CME Church in Raleigh, N.C., with the Rev. Frank White officiating. Burial followed at Carolina Biblical Gardens in Raleigh. Russell Funeral Directors were in charge of arrangements.

KENNEL

Mrs. Betty Jean Sims Kennel, of 117 Upton St. in Lexington, N.C., died July 1, at North Carolina Baptist Hospital.

She was born Dec. 23, 1951, in Lexington, N.C., to Naomi and Floyd Sims. She was a 1970 graduate of Lexington Senior High School. As a faithful member of the Buncombe Baptist Church, she served untiringly on the Usher Board, the Mass Choir, the Pastor's Aid, and secretary of the Sunday School for many years. She was employed with Stanley Furniture Company Inc. for 25 years as a machine operator.

She is survived by four children, Kevin (Helena) Sims, of Winston-Salem, Latoya Sims, of Charlotte, N.C., Victor and Brandi Kennel, of the home; her mother, Naomi Sims, of Lexington, N.C.; her father, Floyd Sims, of Lexington; one sister, Carol (Arthur) Simrel of Linwood, N.C.; one brother, Randy Crump; two grandchildren, Michael Nunn and Kayla Sims of Winston-Salem, NC; two nephews, Arthur Simrel Jr., of Lexington, and Quincy Simrel, of Durham, N.C.; and a host of aunts, uncles, other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held July 6 at Buncombe Baptist Church in Lexington, with the Rev. J.R. Woodson officiating. Burial followed at the family plot at Buncombe Baptist Church Cemetery in Lexington. Russell Funeral Directors were in charge of arrangements.

SCALES

Mr. Sylvester Scales, known to family and friends as "Nook," of 79 Vine St., Apt. M., in Hartford, Conn., died July 1, in Hartford.

He was a native of Winston-Salem, and had lived in Hartford for many years. He was of the Baptist faith and was a graduate of Atkins High School, class of 1957. "Nook" was employed with the Greyhound Bus System as a baggage attendant until he was placed on disability.

He is survived by his wife, Mary Scales, of the home; three daughters, Anita S. (Richard) Todd, Adrienne Scales and Ann Marie Scales, all of Hartford; four sons, Anthony, Aaron, Jason and Jonathan Scales, all of Hartford; nine grandchildren; one brother, Richard (Deloris) Scales, of Winston-Salem; three sisters, Dorothy (Willie J.) Saylor of St. Petersburg, Fla., Delores S. Anderson and Betty S. Hardy, both of Hartford; and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held July 8, at the chapel of Russell Funeral Home, with the Rev. Mack H.L. McConnel officiating. Burial followed at Evergreen Cemetery. Russell Funeral Directors were in charge of arrangements.

GUIDELINES FOR COMMUNITY NEWS SUBMISSIONS

News about what happens on a neighborhood or community level, developing issues, the accomplishments of our hometown people, social events, and happenings that would be shared by locals at the general store or the diner in a smaller town — these are the flesh and bones of a community newspaper. They are The Chronicle's substance and reason for being.

As our paper expands, we expect to receive more community news from new readers. It is our goal to use news of this kind that will be interesting and important to all our readers. To this end, we offer the following guidelines to help you, the reader, also be a participant.

1. Submissions should be newsworthy and timely.

News is about events that are of some interest to the general readership. An article about an event that is in the past is best submitted as soon as possible after the event. An article published June 26 about an event that occurred May 15 isn't really "news."

2. Be objective. News is composed of checkable facts, not opinions. If a submission about a luncheon is 70 percent about how attendees felt or how delicious the food was, it will probably be cut by 70 percent. How attendees felt cannot be checked, and how delicious the food was is a matter of opinion. A specific person, however, may be quoted as saying he or she felt honored to be there, and that the food was delicious.

3. Write in third person. If an article in the paper reads "We won first prize at regionals," the reader has no way of knowing to whom "we" refers. It is better to say "Boy Scout Troop 219 won first place at the regionals." Likewise, "Everyone is invited" is preferred to "You are invited."

4. Be complete. News pieces should answer five basic questions: Who? What? When? Where? and Why? For instance, the Moose Lodge held a barbecue Saturday at the fairgrounds to benefit the orphans' home.

5. Make it legible. Because many readers may not have access to a computer or typewriter, handwritten submissions are accepted if they are clearly written on standard-size paper. Index cards, church bulletins and newspaper clippings will not be accepted.

6. Leave your number. For a variety of reasons, the staff may have to contact the person who submitted the article. The name, daytime phone number and evening phone number of the person who wrote the article, or another person who knows enough about the event to be helpful, must be included on each submission.

7. Beat the deadline. The community news deadline is Monday at 5 p.m. However, if space demands that something be left out, news that comes in latest is most likely to be omitted. Therefore, sooner is better. All pieces submitted after the deadline will be held over for consideration in the next issue.

8. Remember, it's a newspaper. The Chronicle must adhere to certain rules of journalism. All material is made to conform to those rules as far as possible; therefore, articles will rarely if ever appear exactly as written. If a submission cannot be edited to conform to standards, it will be omitted.

Following are some examples of what is not news:

- advertising for a for-profit enterprise
- philosophic or religious opinions
- thank you notes
- personal complaints

9. Be patient. As is evident in corrections that sometimes appear in The Chronicle, the staff is human and makes mistakes. Mistakes are not the result of careless disregard for the facts or mischievous intent. The Chronicle will make every attempt to correct misinformation.

Questions & Answers on recovering from grief *

Questions asked during bereavement counseling are answered by the editor of Afterloss, the grief-recovery letter.

Q. When someone you love dies, it seems that you will never be happy again. Is this so?

A. There is an adjustment phase to every major change in our lives. The return to a joyful existence can certainly be attained. Some achieve this happiness sooner than others and for a variety of reasons. These include (but are not limited to): (1) a willingness to take the steps required to work through your grief (2) your own personality structure (3) your tenacity and (4) the new opportunities that may subsequently emerge.

Community Photo Guidelines

We hope you have noticed the many changes in The Chronicle over the last few weeks. We have tried to produce a newspaper that you can be proud of. To that end, we are asking you to please send us only professionally done photos with your articles and announcements. Good studio color photos are the best. We scan all of our photos electronically and must start with a good photo in order to produce a clear crisp image on newsprint. If you take the photo yourself, make sure you have enough light to expose everyone in the picture. We sincerely appreciate the support you have given us thus far. We look forward to giving you the kind of newspaper that will make you proud.

Thank you.

Here are some guidelines:

- Please take photos up close. The closer you are, the better the picture will look in the paper.
- Photocopies, newspaper clippings, overexposed pictures and dark photos cannot be used.
- Avoid taking photos in the shade or against dark backgrounds.
- Make sure faces are easily identifiable.
- Subjects doing some type of activity is preferable to posed shots.
