Sunrise Towers group enjoys field trip
The Residents Council of Sunrise Towers sponsored a trip to Shatley Springs last weekend. Louise H. Davis, president of the council, with her manager, spearheaded the trip.
On a sunny Saturday morning, Aug. 28, council residents and friends boarded the bus in front of Sunrise Towers at 9:30 a.m. They went to the mountains and Shatley Springs, N.C. The tour included a visit to a cheese factory, but it was close. They did some shopping at a cheese shop across the street from the factory. The next stop on the tour was an Episcopal church founded in 1896. They had recently celebrated their 100th anniversary. The priest greeted the group as they quietly entered the sanctuary, where they watched a video history of the church.
Some of the members of the group who had not been to Shatley Springs said they were anxious to get to there. At the springs, some of the group bought gallons of the famous spring water.
On the way home, they stopped at an apple market and bought apples. On the bus they were served snacks and drinks, and entertained themselves playing games and singing favorite songs.
Mrs. Davis, known as "Miss Suririse Towers," was the hostess. A spokesperson for the group said they look forward to going to Shatley Springs next fall.
