Men in Black bring Kwanzaa to Goler

The fifth annual Kwanzaa celebration at Goler Memorial AME Zion Church will begin Sunday, Dec. 7, at the 11 a.m. worship service. Special guests will be 100 Men in Black, comprised of the men of Goler, family members, their neighbors and friends.

Kwanzaa is a celebration of African heritage built around seven principles: unity, self-determination, responsibility, cooperative economics, purpose, creativity and faith. The chairperson for the event is Emma Harper. "I'm excited that our men have been so responsive," she said. "We certainly invite our Christian men from other churches to come and celebrate this occasion with us. We have spiritual food for the soul and home-cooked food for fellowship after the service." The church is at 1600 Patterson Ave. The pastor is the Rev. Dr. Seth O. Lartey.

United Cornerstone to celebrate pastor's milestone

The church family of United Cornerstone Missionary Baptist Church is finalizing plans for an upcoming testimonial banquet to be held for their pastor, Dr. J. Ray Butler, and the first lady, Marion Butler. Pastor Butler will celebrate 50 years of ministry and seven years of pastoral ministry with United Cornerstone. This year marks the "year of jubilee."

Butler, a native of the Snowhill Community in Roseboro, and his family came to Winston-Salem in 1970 upon accepting the pastorate at Shiloh Baptist Church.

For 20 years he led the congregation to become one of the leading congregations in the state through mission programs. He taught and implemented the concept of tithing at Shiloh.

The Shiloh-St. Peters Child Care Center was a vision that became a reality under his administration. He led efforts of negotiation with the City of Winston-Salem to purchase the facility, and made the necessary deposit for purchase. Today, Shiloh-St. Peters Day Care is a model facility in the state of North Carolina.

Dr. J. Ray Butler

In November 1990 Butler took on his third full-time pastorate, at United Cornerstone Missionary Baptist Church. Butler has served as past moderator of the Rowan Baptist Association and past president of the Ministers' Conference of Winston-Salem and Vicinity.

He currently serves as chairman of the Board of Trustees of Shaw Divinity School, chairman of the Personnel Committee of the General Baptist State Convention, (2nd term) a member of the executive committee and general board, as well as parliamentarian of the General Baptist State Convention, a member of the Board of Directors of National Baptist Convention Executive Committee, the General Board of Lott Cary Missionary Convention, and the North Carolina Board of Licensed Contractors.

He is the author of two books, The Christian Communion As Related to The Jewish Passover and Monetary Stewardship (1988), and From Playtime to Pulpit Service (1991).

Butler is married to the former Marion Lucas, of Durham. They have four sons: Charles, Vincent, Ellis and Larry Butler.

The public is invited to join the family at United Cornerstone, also known as The Stone, as they honor their pastor Dec. 12 at 6:30 p.m. at the M.C. Benton Convention Center.

Special guest speaker for the occasion is Dr. Clifford A. Jones Sr., pastor of Friendship

Missionary Baptist Church in Charlotte and president of the General Baptist State Convention of North Carolina and the Lott Cary Missionary Convention.

For further information contact Bernest Cason at 785-1268. United Cornerstone is at 2745 Patria St.

Questions & Answers on recovering from grief *

Questions asked during bereavement counseling are answered by the editor of Afterloss, the grief-recovery letter.

Q When someone you love dies, it seems that you will never be happy again. Is this so?

A. There is an adjustment phase to every major change in our lives. The return to a joyful existence can certainly be attained. Some achieve this happiness sooner than others and for a variety of reasons. These include (but are not limited to): (1) a willingness to take the steps required to work through your grief (2) your own personality structure (3) your tenacity and (4) the new opportunities that may subsequently emerge.
