Goler Metropolitan commissions acolytes

Eighteen young men and women were commissioned as acolytes following an intense seminar (14 hours of training) held at Goler Metropolitan A.M.E. Zion Church, during January, 1998.

Captain Gregory Carey of the John Wesley A.M.E. Zion Church, Washington, D.C. lead the Acolyte Seminar. Brother Carey has contributed much to many of the programs in the A.A.I.E. Zion Churches through Zion.

Brother Carey discussed the history of the acolytes during the first night of the seminar. The earliest record that we have tells us that in the year A.D. 251 they were 42 acolytes helping in the churches in Rome. The word acolyte means "companion," "attendant," or "one who helps."

The acolytes perform a number of important functions before, during and at the close of the worship service. They kindle and extinguish the altar candles, assist with Holy Communion and Baptism, and perform other duties which may be assigned to them by the pastor. Crucifers are senior acolytes. They assist the minister to vest, carry the cross and lead the processional and recessional, wash the ministers hands before communion, and supervise the acolytes.

The Friday night portion of the seminar ended with a delicious chicken dinner provided by Mr. Thomas Morgan for all participants, parents, and other relatives.

Brother Carey opened the Saturday morning session at 10 a.m. with a question/answer review quiz for everyone. The youth then learned about the altar and its furnishings, the Liturgical Year and Seasons, Church Ceremonies and the Liturgical Vestment.

The Liturgical Vestment worn by the acolytes consist of a cassock and a surplice. the cassock is a long outer gown worn over the street clothes. It represents "putting on a new person." The surplice (or cotta as it is sometimes called), is a short vestment worn over the cassock. The surplice represents "our touch of humanity."

Following lunch, the acolytes reassembled in the seminar to study and practice the principles of the actual ceremonies - standing, sitting, walking, bowing, etc. Brother Carey (stressed uniformity of actions during the practice sessions. Everyone enjoyed a pizza dinner at the end of Saturday's session.

After opening remarks by Brother Gregory Carey, parents, other relatives and friends joined in the Sunday morning service culminating with the commissioning of the following Crucifers: Brian Burney, Nita

Dewberry, Erin Jefferies, Nicole Kilgore and Ryan Wall. acolytes: Carrie Dewberry, Ryan Livingston, Jaradd McDougal, Jessica Morgan, Scott Morgan, Garry Ogden, Joya Simmons, Adrian Stokes, Billy Tolliver, Chris Wall, Patrice Williams, Philise Williams, and Kevin Wilson.

Norma Drayton and Olivia Morgan serve as advisors to the acolytes. The Reverend James M. Sloan is the pastor of Goler Metropolitan.
