

Parkland coaches to speak at Sims Center in Happy Hills

Parkland coaches Ronnie Enoch (l), Mike Pennington and Pete Gilchrist (r) will speak to eighth graders at the Sims Center in Happy Hills on May 21.

Mike Pennington, Parkland High School head basketball coach, Ronnie Enoch, his assistant basketball coach, and Pete Gilchrist, offensive coordinator of Parkland's football team, will talk to eighth-grade students about academics and sports in high school at the William C. Sims Recreation Center in Happy Hill Gardens today (Thurs., May 21), at 6 p.m.

Ben Piggott, center supervisor of the Sims Center, said he is very proud that the coaches are taking time out of their schedules to talk with the young men and women of the community about the role of academics and sports in high school.

Parkland High School, and its predecessor, Anderson High, have produced many outstanding athletes from the Happy Hill area. Some of them include current students Trammond Cobb, Tyrone Davis and Cassandra Penn. Others from the past include Robert Little, Dwain Aikens, Harrison Davis, Arthur Davis, Ed Byers, Robert Cunningham, Tory Woodbury, Ronnie Christian, Tyrone Hatchett and Reginald Little.

The public is invited to attend the event. For further information, contact Ben Piggott at 727-2837.

National Black Golf Hall of Fame sponsors junior golf camp

For the seventh consecutive year the National Black Golf Hall of Fame will conduct its Junior Camp at Civitan Park.

During the camp's first six years more than 1,500 children have participated in the program. The camp is co-sponsored by the Housing Authority of the City of Winston-Salem (HAWS).

The purpose of this program is to bring golf instruction and golf exposure to the underprivileged kids who live in the Winston-Salem area.

"We know that golf makes a more productive person," said Harold Dunovant, the program's director. "We are trying to help kids with their personal growth. We also will teach self-discipline, honor, pride and integrity.

"Golf is a game that can be played for a lifetime," according to Dunovant. "The goals for this program are to help in developing kids in the skill of golf and to teach the rules and etiquette of golf.

"We are disturbed with the way that some black youth who live in the inner city have been exposed to and involved in crime. We hope with this program to help them become more productive citizens."

Dunovant has been a golf pro for 42 years. He is a lifetime member of the Professional Golfers Association (PGA). He has been head pro at seven different golf courses throughout the United States and is considered one of the top black golf pro administrators and instructors in the country.

This year, for the first week, the camp will give a golf club and some balls to any kids who attend the camp.

Applications being accepted for NYSP program at WSSU

Applications are now being accepted for the National Youth Sports Program at Winston-Salem State. The program, which runs from June 1-July 3, is open to students ages 10-15 years old.

The program assists children and teenagers in developing skills and confidence through sports and education. It provides youngsters with an interactive learning environment.

Participants must take a NYSP administered physical. Registration and physicals will be held on the WSSU campus at the C.E. Gaines Center on May 23, from 12 noon to 3 p.m. For more information, contact Keith James, activity director at 750-2147.
