Greensboro chapter of Las Amigas honored as outstanding chapter

Three Greensboro Chapter of Las Amigas members attended the 40th annual Conclave at Virginia Beach, Va., June 24-28. The Greensboro Chapter was chosen as the "Most Outstanding Chapter" among 31 chapters.

They were selected by a panel of judges that reviewed a scrapbook collection of chapter activities for the past year. Joann Williams, national member at large, received third place in the "Outstanding Member" category. Other members attending this national event were Agnes W. H. Roseboro, chapter president and immediate past national president and Faye P. Stanley, national vice president. The conclave was packed with business meetings, workshops on volunteering, fund raising, event planning, stress management, financial planning and economic development for members to enhance personal and professional growth. As a part of the Las Amigas partnership with the National Kidney Foundation a health screening was conducted.

Jane E. Smith, President and CEO, National Council of Negro Women, Washington, D.C., was the keynote speaker for the awards luncheon. She challenged the members to make a difference in the community as it moves into the 21st century. Las Amigas, Inc. presented NCNW more than $15,000 in cash and pledges for its Capitol Campaign and several Las Amigas members committed to NCNW with life memberships.

The National President of Las Amigas, Inc. is Linda Lawrence of the Portsmouth, Va. Chapter and the executive director is Mary L. Peeler.

The organization's national headquarters is in Charlotte. Additional members of the Greensboro Chapter are: Lola A. McAdoo, organizer; Ramona Matherson; Marlene Fosque; Clastine Poole; Alycia Shaw and Glenda Smith.

Mascot meets activist

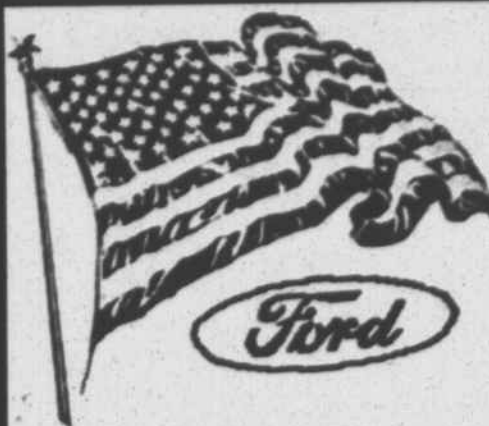

The A&T mascot and A&T students Eric Baggott and Brother Eddie Muhammad extend a welcome of "Aggie Pride" to commentator and author Tavis Smiley at Special Occasions bookstore. Smiley visited the bookstore on June 12 to personally sign copies of his new book "On Air: The Best of Tavis Smiley on the Tom Joyner Morning Show." The stop was one of several book signings he made across North Carolina.
