However, he was relieved of his duties on Jan. 29 by President Dorothy C. Yancy.

Richardson, former Bears' assistant, named Livingstone's new coach

Livingstone College, which was left without a head football coach when Rudy Abrams left the program to take over at North Carolina Central, hired one of Abrams' former assistants as its new coach.

The Blue Bears named Greg Richardson, former defensive coordinator under Abrams, to succeed his former mentor. Richardson was part of the Livingstone staff from 1994-96 and served his final two seasons under Abrams. A 1974 North Carolina Central graduate, Richardson was an assistant head coach at the Univ. of Buffalo from 1992-94. At BCSR press time, Richardson was in the process of assembling his staff.

St. Augustine's continues domination in men's, women's track

St. Augustine's men's and women's indoor track teams recently captured championships at the CIAA indoor track and Field Championships in Richmond, Va.

The Lady Falcons successfully defended their 1998 indoor track championship. SAC captured eight individual events in the meet and also took second place in the mile relay.

The Lady Falcons scored 103 points, far outdistancing Livingstone, which was second with 52 points. Florencia Hunt captured the women's Outstanding Athlete Honors after taking first place in the Mile and 800-meter runs. Adriane Sims took first place in the High Jump, with a leap of six feet en route to being named Outstanding Field Athlete.

On the men's side, St. Augustine's had little trouble capturing yet another league track championship. The Falcons scored 161 points, nearly three times as many as its closest competitor. Shaw was second with 54 points.

Frederick Adongo added to his growing list of domination in long distance running, winning the 3,000 meters and the Mile. Adongo earned Outstanding Track Athlete Honors. His teammate, Dane Magloire, received Outstanding Field Athlete honors by taking first place in the Triple Jump and finishing second in the Long Jump.
