C10 JULY 18, 2002 THE CHRONICLE Alpha Mu Sigma – a year in review

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

The Alpha Mu Sigma chapter of Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority Inc. recently elected officers for the 2002-2004 term. The new officers are Earline Sutton, basileus; Naomi Jones, first antibasileus; Sharon Cooper, second anti-basileus; Dakisha Williams, third anti-basileus; Turkesshia Moore, grammateus; Carol Henry, anti-grammateus. The last sorority year has been active and successful.

In keeping with the many national projects and national motto ("Greater Service, Greater Progress"), an annual Founders Day program was held in November. Soror Turkesshia Moore was named soror of the Year, and the Community Service Award was presented to Rev. Garland Wallace for his nany community contributions. In December, the chapter nell its annual Give a Family Christmas outreach project as well as caroling at New Beginnings and Golden Lamb rest homes in Winston-Salem. In March, a youth symposium, The Next Level, was held at the Uni-versity of North Carolina at Greensboro in conjunction with the Omicron Eta Undergraduate Chapter. Issues such as drug abuse, self-esteem, goal setting and career planning were discussed.

In a continuing effort to inform the community about health issues, a health fair is held annually in March at the Win-ston Lake YMCA. The members also participated in the Winston-Salem Multiple Sclerosis Walk and served as marshals for the N.C. Special Olympics opening ceremonies along with other N.C. Sigma Gamma Rho chapters Because Sigma Gamma Rho was founded on educational principles, Alpha Mu Sigma continues to motivate youths and teach them attitudes of success and determination. In doing so, the group continues to donate school supplies and educational materials to at-risk schools through the Operation Big Book Bag program. East Winston Pri-mary School was chosen as the school to assist this year.

The Philo affiliate, calso known as friends of Sigma, has also been very busy. The Philo affiliate is a very important part of the chapter. Philo members provide support where it is needed and continue to devote themselves to the principles of Sigma. They have participated in all of the chapter's events as well as received accolades of their own. At the sorority's 2002 regional conference, the Philos won first place in the scrapbook competi-tion, first place for the Community Service Award and third place in the arts and crafts division

In the months to come, Alpha Mu Sigma and the Philo affiliate will attend the sorority's 49th Biennial Boule in July in Miami and will host the E. Jerry Jones Golf Tournament at Win ston Lake Golf Course Sept. 14 and 15.

For more information about the chapter and upcoming events, visit the Web site at http://www.geocities.com/amsig ma sgrho or write Alpha Mu Sigma Chapter, P. O. Box 20831. Winston-Salem, NC 27120.
