Dr. McCoy

St. Philips to install new pastor

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

St. Philips Moravian Church, the oldest standing African-American church in the state, will install its new pastor on Sunday, June 15 at 11 a.m.
The Rev. Dr. Christopher E. McCoy was born and raised in Winston-Salem, and has obtained a Bachelor of Arts degree in religion and philosophy and Master of Divinity from Shaw University. He earned a Doctorate at Stamford Hill University of London.

He was ordained in 1988 and served as minister of music at Mt. Carmel Missionary Baptist Church, where he delivered his initial sermon. While attending Shaw Divinity School, he was called as the assistant pastor at St. Stephen Missionary Baptist Church, serving with Rev. J. R. Samuels. McCoy continued his ministry by teaching seminary at New Jerusalem Missionary Baptist Church.
Dr. McCoy is also retired from United States Navy. While in the service, he sang with the Philadelphia Mass Choir under the direction of the late Rev. James Cleveland. He brings more than 20 years of experience and service to the pulpit. McCoy plans to back the legacy of St. Philips as being a strong tower within the Bon Air Avenue community and the city.

He is married to the former Karen Young and has three sons, one grandson and a stepson.
The public is cordially invited to attend the installation service, which will be at 3002 Bon Air Avenue.

Union to hold Arts Festival

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

The Union Baptist Church Performing Arts Ministry will present its 3rd Annual Performing Arts Festival, "I Thirst for Thee," from June 20 - 21. Community night will be held on Friday, June 20 at 7 p.m. It will feature the UBC Steppers and Male Mimes along with other churches' dance and mime ministries, including those from Ambassadors Cathedral, Christian Fountain Church, Praise in Motion of Capital Heights, Md.; Power House Deliverance Garden Cathedral of Greensboro; Silent Impressions Adult Mime Ministry of Greensboro; Temple Memorial of High Point; and Union Baptist Church of Lexington.
On Saturday, June 21, at 5 p.m., the Union Baptist Performing Arts Ministry will present a full concert. The Ministry has four liturgical dance groups - God's Anointed

Praisers (GAP), for four-to-ten-year-olds; FAVOR, for 11-to-16-year-olds; Women of Worship (WOW); for more mature ladies; and God's Golden Angels Dance Ministry, for "seasoned women."
Two mime groups, one for children and one for adults, both called God's Unspoken Word in Motion, are also a part of the Performing Arts Ministry. Each group will perform.
"Dance and mime, as in any other worship area, is to be directed to God," states Music and Fine Arts Director Walteria Spaulding. "The groups minister through dance and mime during worship services and programs."
The festival is free and open to the public. For more information, call 336-724-9305 x 222. The church is located at 1200 N. Trade St., where Dr. Sir Walter L. Mack Jr., is pastor and teacher.

Smith Summer Camp will start on June 16

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

First Baptist Church on Highland Avenue will hold its popular Louise Smith Summer Adventure Camp again this year from June 16 - Aug. 8, from 7:30 a.m. - 6 p.m., daily.
Applications are currently being accepted for children ages 5-12. The camp will provide a safe, Christian program for young people. Academics will be taught based on the North Carolina Standard Course of Study. Activities will include recreation and sports and field trips.

On June 14, there will be a Parent Orientation and Open House at the church from 10 a.m. - 12 noon.
Parents will receive a more detailed description of the camp program and get a chance to meet the staff and view the facilities. The staff is asking that parents bring their child's 3rd quarter report cards so that certified teachers from the Winston-Salem/Forsyth County School System can better learn how to help each child.

Louise Smith

The camp is named for legendary educator and community servant, the late Louise Smith, who helped the church create one of the city's most innovative summer youth programs.
