

McClain honored for service

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

The Rotary Club of Clemmons presented Bill McClain, the youth services coordinator for the Housing Authority of Winston-Salem, with its Community Service Award during the organization's June 18 awards banquet at Bermuda Run Country Club.

This award is given annually to a person in the community who has exhibited excellent leadership skills, high ethics and a rousing motivation to help better the community. McClain has assisted the Clemmons Rotary Club with its "Hand-in-Hand" project, which takes place each December when buses pick up about 250 children from the housing authority youth centers. The young people are served dinner, entertained with a Christmas program, treated to a visit to the famed Festival of Lights program at Tanglewood Park and then presented with a shopping bag of gifts.

The program, which takes most of the year to plan, has been a successful joint effort between the Rotary Club and McClain's office. McClain volunteers many hours to see that the evening runs smoothly and each child is made to feel special, according to Rotary Club Community Service Project Chairwoman Dana Marske.

McClain also assists Marske in another Clemmons Rotary Club program that sends about a dozen children to the YMCA's Camp Hanes. The logistics planning, health exams, clothing requirements and selection process are handled by McClain and his staff with the help of Marske.

That's is not some photoshopped image in the background of this photo of North Carolina School of the Arts Chancellor John Mauceri and his dog, Pickle. It's a real rainbow that appeared late last month over the sky near the school's campus and the Tar Branch Towers, where the chancellor lives and this photo was snapped by his wife, Betty.

Min. Davis will preach at Faith Unity

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

Faith Unity Missionary Church will welcome the Rev. Keith Michael Davis, a minister who attends Goler Metropolitan AME Zion Church, at its 11 a.m. service on Sunday, July 27.

Davis is the sixth of seven children of Andrew Bubble Davis and Odessa Abernathy Davis. After graduating from East Forsyth High School, he earned an associate's degree in food service management from Wilkes Community College. He has also received certification as a food service specialist.

Rev. Davis was called to preach in 1991. He currently serves at Goler Metropolitan, where the Rev. Dr. Roy Swann is pastor.

Davis was ordained a deacon on Sept. 23, 2007 in Black Mountain by Bishop George Washington Carver Sr., of the Western North Carolina Conference. He is a traveling minister of the Winston-Salem District, where the Rev. Dr. Calvin Miller is the presiding elder.

Rev. Davis is a student at Livingstone College and a security officer at North Carolina Baptist Hospital.

Faith Unity is located at 1025 E. 14th Street in the chapel of the Masonic Lodge Prince Hall. The host pastor is Nathaniel P. J. Williams Jr., and the associate pastor is Wanda H. Williams. The public is invited to attend the service.
