

POP WARNER ROUND UP

Squads put up points during third week of action

CHRONICLE STAFF REPORT

Winston-Salem Indians gold 26, Winston-Salem Rams 14 (Mitey Mite): The Rams opened up the scoring on the first play from scrimmage with a 45-yard touchdown pass to make the score 6-0. They made the PAT to make the score 7-0.

The Indians then scored after M.J. "Bush" Morton scored a 20-yard touchdown. Eric "Big Baby" Wright ran the extra point in to tie the score at 7. The Rams then raced 60 yards on the kickoff return for the touchdown. The extra point was good to make give the Rams a 14-7 lead. Then, it was all Indians (3-0). Amir "Nightmare" Grant roared 30 yards for the touchdown. The extra point was no good to make the score 14-13.

On the second half kickoff Cortez "Crusher" Barber returned the kick 70 yards for the Indian score (20-14). The extra point was no good. Rahson "Head" Goode then rumbled 45 yards to end all scoring — making the final score 26-14.

The defensive standouts for the Indians were Kier "Bam Bam" Scales, Daquan "Hands" Miller (interception), A. Hicks, Jalil Bash, Hemi Revels, Chrishon Robinson and Marquis Nash — among others.

"These kids showed a lot of heart by continuously fighting until the final buzzer," said Indian coach Chuck Fuller. "The guys practiced hard. And, I always tell them that hard work pays off."

The Indians will host the South Fork Panthers this week.

NBA star Tim Duncan will be inducted into Wake's hall of fame next weekend.

Duncan among group to be inducted

CHRONICLE STAFF REPORT

Five Wake Forest University graduates and a former head coach will be inducted into the Wake Forest University Sports Hall of Fame on the weekend of Sept. 26-27.

The induction class includes former basketball stars Randolph Childress '95 and Tim Duncan '97, Olympic triathlete Hunter Kemper '98, former Deacon golfer Len Mattiace '90, ex-New York Giants general manager Ernie Accorsi '63 and former basketball coach Dave Odom.

The six new members of the Hall of Fame increases the membership to 112. This marks the largest class of inductees in the 38 year history of the Hall of Fame.

The induction ceremonies will include a dinner on Friday, Sept. 26 at the Benton Convention Center. The class will be inducted into the Hall of Fame during halftime ceremonies of the Wake Forest football game against Navy on Saturday, Sept. 27.

Duncan is probably the most popular of the group. He was a four-year letterman at Wake Forest who led the Deacons to four straight 20-win seasons from 1994-97. A three-time All-American, Duncan played in more games than any other player in Wake Forest history. The 6-11 Duncan earned first team All-ACC honors three times and was twice named the ACC Player of the Year. A phenomenal shot blocker, Duncan garnered at least one rejection in 127 of 128 career games and is second in NCAA history with 481 career blocks. His 87 career double-doubles is a school record, and he became just the 10th player in NCAA history to record 2,000 points and 1,500 rebounds.

The No. 1 overall selection in the 1997 NBA Draft by the San Antonio Spurs, Duncan was named the Rookie of the Year in 1998 and has led the Spurs to four NBA championships. Duncan was twice named the NBA Most Valuable Player and earned NBA Finals MVP honors three times. He has been a 10-time NBA All-Star and a member of the NBA All-Defensive Team 11 times.

Duncan is may be the most popular, but Ernie Accorsi may be the most interesting inductee. He spent 36 years in the National Football League and built one of the league's strongest franchises in the New York Giants. Accorsi was not a student-athlete at Wake Forest but served as the sports editor of the Old Gold & Black and as the sports director for WFDD. Following graduation, he served on active duty in the U.S. Army in 1964 and then became a sports writer in Charlotte, Baltimore and Philadelphia where he broke the story of Wilt Chamberlain's trade from the 76ers to the Los Angeles Lakers in 1968. He's also worked for several universities and NFL football teams.

Davis runs Randy Moss truck to Top 20 finish

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

Marc Davis stepped into the No. 81 Chevrolet Silverado of Randy Moss Motorsports two weeks ago after making his NASCAR Craftsman Truck Series debut at Gateway International Raceway, in Madison, Illinois.

The 18-year-old has been competing in the NASCAR Camping World East Series where he has scored three top-five and five top-10 finishes in competition during the 2008 season. After turning in a solid qualifying run that put him in the 12th starting position, Davis had confidence going into the 160-lap event. He kept the No. 81 Chevy in the top 15 running positions throughout the race and sat just outside the top-10 late in the event.

"The race was really good for us," Davis said. "Qualified 12th and we were in the top 15 pretty much all day. Learned a whole lot. Initially in the race our lap times were alright and really couldn't hang with the other trucks in traffic. The truck was coming in a little bit more and I was able to run some people down. It was a really good learning day for us."

With eight different caution periods, the youngster struggled with the restarts but was able to settle in and make his move during the green-flag runs.

Davis took the checkered flag in the 16th position for what was a great learning experience for the young driver. As far as having his first Craftsman Truck Series event behind him, Davis was pleased with his performance and felt confident about his run.
