

Large-scale Atkins Reunion will honor the late Amos Harper

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

Atkins High School Reunion Planning Committee for Classes of 1943, 1944, 1946, 1947, 1948, 1949, 1950 and 1951 will meet on a regular basis to finalize activities scheduled for Labor Day Weekend.

The Committee will honor former leader and organizer Amos W. Harper Jr., who passed away last year. It was more than 25 years ago that Harper put together an organization in which several Atkins High classes would come together to prepare reunion activities that took place every two years. Through his leadership, the groups grew to seven classes and held some of the largest reunions ever for Atkins High.

In 2001, the group held its first Millennium Celebration, which drew more than 400 alumni. The event returned in 2003.

Some of the tentatively-scheduled events for this year's Reunion include skits dedicated to Harper and a slideshow presentation showing many highlights from his life. These activities will be held on Friday, Aug. 31. A dinner and dance will follow on Saturday, Sept. 1. The culminating activities will include a memorial service, a business breakfast, a Sunday morning meeting, a worship service at a local church and a picnic in the afternoon.

Other reunion activities and attractions will include singers, dance groups and a fashion show.

The weekend celebration will be held at the Sundance Plaza Hotel & Spa on University Parkway. The organizers are Robert Scales Jr. and David N. Peay. Annie Pearl Wilson is the advisor, event planner and program chair.

Sigmas register voters

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

Project Vote is one of the fraternity's national initiatives. Sigma chapters across the country are encouraged to continuously register and educate citizens to participate in the democratic process. The priorities of Project Vote are also voter education, voter participation and getting out the vote.

The Sigmas of Winston-Salem (Delta Sigma and Delta Alpha chapters) worked jointly to register new voters. Delta Sigma Chapter President Reginald D. McCaskill was given permission to conduct Project Vote during the Community Day by Tim Grant, the head of the City's Recreation and Parks Department. Voter registration materials were provided by the Forsyth County Board of Elections.
