

WSSU Photo

(From left) Sarah Shikangah, Stephanie Nesmith, Jesse Frank (president of the N.C. Society for Clinical Laboratory Science), Naquanna Cross, Alexis Avery and (back) Dr. Andy Meixner.

WSSU team tops WFU, others to win Quiz Bowl

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

Students from the Clinical Laboratory Science Department at Winston-Salem State University (WSSU) took top honors in the Student Quiz Bowl sponsored by the North Carolina Society for Clinical Laboratory Science.

The competition was held in conjunction with Carolinas Clinical Connection, the annual continuing education event for laboratory professionals in North and South Carolina which was held recently in Charlotte.

The winning team was made up of Sarah Shikangah, Stephanie Nesmith and Naquanna

Cross, with Dr. Andy Meixner, assistant professor of clinical lab sciences, as the faculty advisor.

The WSSU team defeated students from Wake Forest University and Sandhills Community College in the state-wide competition.

The Student Quiz Bowl is designed to provide students an opportunity to compete using the knowledge they have gained and to help prepare them for their certification exams. It also allows students to network with those from other institutions as well as with laboratory professionals from throughout the state.

Dancing to Victory

Submitted Photo

Members of the Positive Image Performing Arts dance studio celebrate their recent victory at the Show Stoppers dance competition in Concord. A team made up of (kneeling) Kayla Williams and Jayda Bailey and (from left) Jalena Roseborough, Trinity Callahan, Aaliyah Foskey, Sydney Sharpe, Victoria Williamson and Brianna Christian won Double Platinum, First Place Overall in the Jazz and Hip Hop category. The duo of Sydney Sharpe and Jayla Bailey also won Double Platinum, First Place Overall for their routine. The studio is owned by Courtney Omega Taylor and based at the Winston Lake Family YMCA.

Photos by Todd Luck

Judges (from left) Courtney Taylor, Jamie Lee Brewer and Laura Stainback.

Stars

from page B1

to good causes, and I think that's a good use of the office," said Joines.

Many of the stars had a challenge fitting the practices into their busy schedules. Take Derwin Montgomery, who in addition to representing the East Ward on the City Council is a graduate student and pastor of First Calvary Baptist Church. It was hard for him to find time to learn the foxtrot with his partner, but he said the end result is well worth it.

"A lot of non-profits have to shift to doing stuff like this to meet that bottom line, so I'm glad I could participate in it," said Montgomery.

Fox 8 News reporter Nicole Ferguson also struggled to find time to practice. In fact, even being awake for the competition was a little bit of a challenge. She works from 3 a.m. to noon, so on a normal Thursday evening, she would've been asleep before the fundraiser even began.

"It's been challenging, but it's been so fun that you forget about that," said Ferguson, who performed a "Cha Cha" dance.

Courtney Legins, a group exercise instructor at the Fulton Family YMCA, has helped CISFC raise funds before by leading a Zumbathon fundraiser. This time, she donned a bright pink wig and matching poodle skirt - which won her the best costume award - for a swing dance. She praised CISFC and its mission.

"Anything that's geared towards helping the youth be more successful in the future is an organization worth supporting and a good cause," said Legins.

Emcee Kia Hood (left) presents a best performance award to Evette Clemons and Chris Engle.

Evette Clemons, a dance teacher at R.J. Reynolds High School, won best performance for the waltz she did with instructor Chris Engle. She was happy to do the competition because she's seen first hand the positive impact CISFC has had at her school.

"I've seen a big change in the students they work with ... from the way they were before to who they are now," said Clemons.

Also during the competition, Terri Bost of Stokes 4-H danced to the La Pantera Mambo, and Winston-Salem Journal Relish editor Susan Gilmor, who did a waltz, won Outstanding Commitment awards for raising the most money.

HANES

NC HOUSE 72

UNITED!

2012

One District.
One Winston.
One Forsyth!

www.EdHanes.com

Paid for by the Ed Hanes for North Carolina Committee

Community leaders, local media, and the State Employees Association of North Carolina agree:

ED HANES

(son of Ed "Teacup" Hanes and the late Leverne Hanes) is the RIGHT CHOICE to lead NC House District 72.

Ed Hanes is endorsed by the following community leaders:

Dr. Virginia Newell: Educator/WSSU Professor & Former WS East Ward Alderman

Judge Roland Hayes: District Court Judge, Forsyth County

Geneva Brown: Educator/Principal & Former WS/FC School Board Member

Vic Johnson: Educator/Vice Principal & Former WS/FC School Board Member

Beufort Bailey: Former member of the Forsyth County Board of Commissioners

Alfred Poe: Educator and Coach, Carver High School (NC Central Hall of Fame)

Tom Trollinger: Contract Office Furnishings/Businessman

Michael Suggs: President, Goler CDC

On May 8th Vote for the POWER of ONE DISTRICT.

VOTE ED HANES!

Richard (Dick)

★ RAMSEY ★

District Court Judge

Experience - Integrity

VOTE May 8, 2012

ENDORSED BY THE FOLLOWING CITIZENS

Jimmie Barnhill
George Cleland
Bob Lawing
Fred S. Hutchins, Jr.
Carl Parrish
Mark Rabil
Dan Johnson
John Schramm
Charlie Redden
David Hough
Pete Cleary
Josh Simmons
Steve Smith
Cheryl Andrews
James Wilson, Jr.
Warren Kasper
Michele Clifton
Dennis McNames
William West
Vince Rabil
Bill Speaks
Gray Wilson
George Cleland, IV
Darryl Hunt
Elizabeth Holmes
Chad Davis
Mel Williams
Gene Ainsworth
Henry Hinkle
Mistie Tuttle
Lexi Jones
Mia Ochoa

Eddie Daye
Mary Kathryn Thompson
Penny M. Pope Goodloe
Kelton Cofer
Jay Mahoney
Wilson Chandler
Michael Schultz
Matt Schultz
Gray Robinson
Morgan Slate
Russell Gordon
Buddy and Kard Chandler
Bill and Susan Brady
Tim and Darlene Bohan
Charles and Judy Bean
Eddie and Sylvia Hutchins
Larry and Sharon Reavis
Marcus and Ruth Seitz
Ed and Becky Eysenbach
Richard and Susan Jones
Calvin and Dot Mooney
Ike and Debbie Slaughter
Jay and Becky Parkinson
Tim and Christy Jepsen
Andrew and Blair Holmes
Bud and Candi Palmer
Dustin and Catherine
Koufman
J.T. and Lindsay Meyers
Charlie Fulk
Warren Sparrow

BUSINESSES:

George Kortesis
Stratford Station Grill

Pete and Zoe Bobotsiars
Mayflower Restaurant

Doug and Gayle Roberts
Ski and Tennis

Don Poplin
Stratford Road Exxon

Phil Johnson
TE Johnson and Sons

Mack and Rebecca Phipps
Mack W. Phipps, CPA

Mike Swaim
Cahill & Swaim

Brad Myers
Salem Electric

Frank and Linda Morris
Franklin Properties Group

rdramseyforjudge.com

Paid for by The Richard D. Ramsey Committee