Bryan's Son Best in Law Exam; Wife Aided Him

MRS. WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN Washington, Dec. 1.—The news that William Jennings Bryan, Jr., son of the Secretary of State, has made one of the highest grades among seventeen applicants before the State Board of Examiners at Tucson, Ariz., for the right to practice law in that State, was the cause for Mr. and Mrs. Bryan being congratulated many times this week. The fact that young Bryan's bride was advised by her physicians to live in Arizona as a means of building up her health was a sad blow to the ambitions of the Secretary's son. But Mrs. Bryan hit upon an admirable scheme to overcome the handicap of changing the scene of his endeavors. The plucky young wife offered to help him with his studies. The plan worked admirably, according to the result of Bryan's examination.

FEDERAL AID FOR ROAD BUILDING

Overman Re-introduces His Bill in the Senate

Washington, Dec. 1.—Senator Overman today re-introduced his bill to appropriate $500,000 annually to build and maintain post roads and star route roads in any State that will co-operate with the Federal government. Half a million dollars is to be made available every year for fifteen years. Any county willing to co-operate with the government in this road building movement can do so by making an appropriation and having the State act in its behalf, regardless of whether adjoining counties will co-operate.

SETTLEMENT IS AGAIN DEFERRED

Short-Length Papers Found for Which Full Fees Not Charged

Because of the fact that it has been found that there are many short-length papers that have been recorded in the Register of Deeds office for which full fees are not charged, on the request of Hon. C. B. Watson, counsel for ex-Register of Deeds H. W. Masten, the question of taking action in the matter of settlements was postponed until the first of January in order to allow a complete examination of the records in the office during the administration of Mr. Masten.

CONGRESS BEGINS REGULAR SESSION WITHOUT ANY ADD

Extraordinary Session Simply Runs Into Regular

DEMOCRATS STILL AT WORK ON CURRENCY

SENATE LEADERS ARE CONFIDENT BILL WILL BE ENACTED INTO LAW BEFORE THE HOLIDAYS

Washington, Dec. 1.—Congress today closed the extraordinary session which began April 7, and settled down to the regular long session, which is expected to last into the summer. Only absolutely necessary formalities marked the event.

The Senate worked practically all day, but the House contented itself with a brief meeting as a formal opening. The attempt to institute day and night sessions for the consideration of the currency bill failed. Democrats agreeing to give the Republicans until tomorrow to consider it, the Republicans announced that they did not filibuster against the currency measure.

The Democratic leaders predicted the enactment of the currency law before the holidays, and as a result it is thought the long session plan fell down. The Senate succeeded in beginning work on the currency act. When the discussion of Hetch-Hetchy bill lagged in the afternoon the currency bill was called up. The upper House at a 4 o'clock recess adopted a motion to recess until 8 o'clock and resume consideration of the currency.

Resume of Work Washington, Dec. 1.—The sixty-third session of Congress which began at noon today without any untoward formality is expected to cover a long period of hard work extending almost until next September, marked by the passage of a large number of important bills which will make it an easy matter for the Democrats to face the voters at the next congressional election with the confidence gained from the knowledge of duty well performed and campaign pledges well kept.

The session which ended today at noon automatically saw the passage of the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill and about five-sixths of the work performed on the passage of the currency bill. This will in all probability be completed before Christmas and will mark the passage of the two largest bits of legislation promised by the Baltimore platform. The fact that there was not a quorum in the House for several weeks during the time that the Senate Committee was holding hearings on the currency bill has no real importance aside from the political capital that the Republicans will attempt to manufacture from it. The Senate and House were in session constantly and a quorum could have been quickly secured had necessity arisen, and meanwhile the attention of the country was being concentrated on the Senate Committee which was considering the currency bill, and this condition of affairs was deemed the most advisable in the interest of the people by shrewd legislators.

Other measures passed was the Overman resolution taking deputy collectors and marshals out of the civil service.
