MARY FULLER STARS IN 'LIL' NOR'WESTER' AT PILOT TODAY

Mary Fuller, who scored such a hit at the Pilot last Wednesday, will be seen again today at this theater in a three-act Victor drama, "Lil' Nor'wester," a sea coast drama.

It is a delightful story featuring "Our Mary" with Paul Panzer and Glen White. A two-act biograph, "The Hebeche," together with a Nestor comedy, featuring Billie Rhodes, will be shown today also, completing a very attractive program.

BIG AUDIENCES AT THE AUDITORIUM YESTERDAY

Four packed houses greeted the Norman Musical Comedy Company at the Auditorium yesterday, it being one of the most successful days in the history of this popular playhouse. The company gave a spirited bill that went big, and everybody seemed to be delighted with the entertainment afforded. The picture for the day was a big feature, with "Lil' Nor'wester" in the leading role and this, too, attracted much attention.

Today at 3:15 and 10 o'clock tonight after supper, the same company will appear again, but this time in another entirely new offering. It promises to be as good as any this week and the hundreds of friends of the company will be sure to want to see it. The Norman Musical Comedy Company has made good with local patrons of the Auditorium and their close allies and high class form of entertainment has assured them of a warm welcome whenever they appear here.

'SHOULD A MOTHER TELL?' AT THE AMUZU TODAY

Betty Nansen appears at the Amuzu today in a Wm. Fox production, "Should a Mother Tell?" presents to every beholder of the masterpiece of the screen a problem which is certain to find an echo in the heart of every spectator. The leading male character is taken by Stuart Holmes.

Stuart Holmes, who plays the part of Gordon, the unfaithful husband of Marie-Helene, in William Fox's production of the sensational photodrama, "Should a Mother Tell?" is perhaps the most magnetic and versatile actor playing heavy roles today.

He is of German origin, and inherits his active imagination from a distinguished line of Teutonic forefathers. His artistic temperament was noticeable in early youth, at 15 he studied sculpture under the foremost European masters. He soon realized, however, that sculpture is the consummate expression of all the arts, and that to excel the student must have all points of view freely developed. He attained the high ideal he set himself to attain an earnest study of the histrionic art.

In this country he soon became interested in the effort to save the screen, he was successful from the start. Today he stands forward as one of the foremost players in motion pictures.

ENROLLMENT AT CLEMMONS NEARING HALF HUNDRED MARK

Clemmons, Nov. 25.—The half hundred mark is nearly reached in enrollment at the Clemmons Farm Life and High School, and it is expected now to pass that mark during the session. Forty-six have enrolled in the regular classes and a number of others are taking special work. In addition to the above, the public school has an enrollment of seventy-five, and all the classrooms are braced to their full capacity.

The oyster supper given at the school last Friday night was a considerable success, although inclement weather was at hand. Some $1000 was cleared for the library and to buy a C. S. flag for the school.

Miss Lillian Boyer of the school faculty visited relatives in Statesville Sunday.

Prin. M. E. Eagle is off the remainder of the week attending the State Teachers' Assembly, which meets at Raleigh.

County Supt. of Schools W. R. Spens accompanied by Mrs. Spens, spent last Tuesday at the school. Supt. Spens viewed the classroom work and inspected the buildings and equipment. At dinner they were guests at the Domestic Science Cottage.

The small of good things to eat is rather common on the "Hill" this week. Miss General and her classes in cooking are preparing and serving Thanksgiving dinners as their special cooking lesson. Members of the Trinity and a few outsiders have been guests of different meals.

HOME IS NEEDED HERE VERY BADLY

Absolutely No Place to Take Dangerous Tubercular Patients In City

Those who are in close touch with the unfortunate people of the city declare that the time has arrived when Winston-Salem must make some arrangement for taking care of tubercular patients, if the city wishes to uphold its reputation for mercy in dealing with unfortunate.

The situation here is believed to be not only bad but even unmerciful. These who come in daily contact with people in the last stages of that dread disease know where they are speaking. Daily they witness the deep tragedy enacted here frequently.

A story is told of an old colored man who came to this city recently from West Virginia. In the last stages of tuberculosis, death hovered above him. That was not the only sad feature of the case, for in coming to this city on the train, he endangered the lives of others.

And he endangers the lives and health and happiness of every one who comes near to him. He has been arrested several times here, and he spent one day in police station. There is no way to deal with the case. He cannot be punished. If he were placed in the cells in the city jail, it would probably result in the city's inflicting the death penalty on some prisoner who was in the cells for a minor offense.

The city is pointed out, has no right to endanger the lives of persons by putting a tubercular prisoner in the cells. It cannot do it.

A RIPE OLD AGE FOR THE BINDER

The average life of a grain binder is about five years, and less than 100 actual working days. Better care and management would increase this time almost indefinitely, writes R. M. Doyle, a North Dakota expert, in the current issue of Farm and Fireside.

There are his rules for binder care, viz:

"When using the binder, oil a little at a time often.

"Before putting it away remove all dirt and old grease also.

"Clean and grease all bright parts, especially the knotte ball.

"Make needed repairs at once while they are fresh in your mind.

"If other work is too pressing to permit immediate repairs, tie strips of bright cloth over the parts in need of repair.

"Finally keep the binder under a water-tight roof and close the door up so that chickens must roost elsewhere.

Sweet girl, yes, I know, but since you have left off your side whiskers, you don't look so much like poor, dead and gone Fido." New York Week!

COSTS MILLIONS TO FEED RODEN

Farm and Fireside says: "Six kinds of weeds, principally ground squirrel and prairie dog, cause the farmers of North Dakota a loss of a million dollars each year, and when the season is dry this loss is much greater. Probably the alfalfa, States of Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota, and the Canadian province suffer quite as severely."

SMALL GIRL HERE USES PROFANITY

Only Three Years Old But Curses Like a Sailor—Wife Desertion

One of the greatest problems that confronts the Associated Charities in this city is the problem of husbands deserting their wives. The men can leave the city and go elsewhere and be relieved of the expense of caring for their wives and children.

But the deserted women, their hearts going out to their children whom they love more than life itself, have to remain here and make a terrible fight against want, and in many cases, but the intellectually with the problem thrust upon them by worthless husbands.

It is declared that desertion by husbands of their wives is responsible for many cases of want in this city. Many are the tragedies that have their inception in the desertion of the husband.

The women have to work in the factories in order to sustain the lives of their children, and while they are at work, their children must be forced to be left to work out their own development in a large measure.

This presents a new and dangerous aspect to desertion. The children in many instances grow up in life without any chance of development along their lines. It is declared to be one of the most pathetic things seen in the city, by those who come in contact with their parents of life, to see children starve up without any hope. And the cause in many cases rests upon the father who deserts his wife.

A tragic incident is told by a lady in this city of a little girl three years old who was at the City Hospital, and was adopted by a woman in this city later, her health began to break down and she had to turn the child over to the Associated Charities again. She made this statement:

"I am sorry to give up this child but my health is not such as to enable me to take care of her. She is pretty, bright, but only three years old, she curses like a sailor."

This is pointed out as one of the instances of the great injustice done to the innocent by husbands deserting their wives.

And husbands are responsible for the support of their children. And every effort will be made to bring this class of offenders to justice.

CHARLOTTE MAN MAKES STATEMENT

J. D. Long Among Latest to Endorse Tanlac

"Master Medicine" Benefited Both Himself and Wife

Other Preparations Had Failed to Prove Successful

Thousands of people in Charlotte and vicinity are testifying daily in connection with Tanlac, the new medicine that is being so widely discussed and distributed in Charlotte and vicinity. Mr. J. D. Long of this city said recently:

"I consider I was in a mighty bad fix and the trouble has been with me for more than two years. I was unable to hold my weight, but I was all out of shape and going down hill all the time.

"My principal trouble was some thing like dyspepsia and indigestion but my liver and kidneys seemed to be affected, and I was on two or three of a various kind of medicine. For the past month or two my stomach has been so weak and upset I couldn't eat anything but raw eggs and things like that and had to diet myself all the time.

"I tried nearly everything you could think of in trying to get well, but as I couldn't sleep at night, and I would feel tired and worn out all through the day; in fact, I just felt worn and was tired all the time.

"When I got to reading about the Tanlac and was first all right. My wife is taking it, too, and we are now on our fifth bottle. I guess I have taken a little over half of it and have actually gained in weight. I am feeling better and more like work than I ever did in my life.

"I can eat anything now. I can even eat hard-boiled eggs of anything I want. It is really a shame the way I felt. When I felt down to the table I can get away with more than a regular plain meal, and it seems to agree with me and do me good, for I never have an ache or pain of any kind.

Tanlac, The Premier Preparation, is sold in Winston-Salem exclusively by the O'Hanlon Drug Store, Price $1.00 a bottle, 2 for $2.50 or 6 for $5.00 (T.M.)

Boy Killed

On Saturday night at about 10 o'clock, Roy Stork, a boy of 17, was killed by a train near Blowing Rock. The boy was on his way to school and was carrying a bundle of books. He was struck by a train and killed instantly. His parents are very grieved.

GOWANS Rub-St-On

Don't take chances with coughs, colds, croup—these run their course and develop into fatal diseases. Ordinary sales and doses will not penetrate. There's one treatment that is more powerful and penetrates quicker to the seat of the trouble than any known remedy. That's why thousands who have once used it are found in the ranks of the cured.

Do not let this convince you. I have been in the retail drug business for twenty-five years, and which time I have sold, as well as used, quite a lot of different medicines. I must say, however, that Gowans Preparation is the best I have ever used or sold for the use for which it is recommended. It is my duty as well as my pleasure to recommend it.
