

AT THE THEATERS

EXPENSIVE BANQUET SCENE IN PICTURE HERE TODAY

The following relative to a picture to be shown at the Auditorium theater today will be of interest:

As an example of the lengths of which motion picture producers will go nowadays to secure absolute realism in effect used in a screen drama, case of the William Fox visualization of Henry's drama "The Two Orphans" may be cited. The scene in the splendid gardens of Bel Air, the property of the wicked Marquis De Presles who abducts Henriette, one of "The Two Orphans" embraces a midnight banquet at which wild revelry reigns. Herbert Brenon, the producer, decided that the customary stage banquet consisting of a glass dish of bananas, a ditto of apples and several empty hot-plates would do. He wanted the real thing. Expense was no object so George Andros, the maitre-d'hotel of the Ritz was summoned and ordered to serve a regular banquet for two hundred guests. The banquet cost exactly fifteen dollars a plate without the champagne which was also the real thing and disappeared before the appetite of 190 "extras" with really remarkable swiftness.

ENTIRE CHANGE OF BILL AT THE PARAMOUNT TODAY

The Paramount theater will offer another entirely new change of bill today by the Wallace and Beach Company. This aggregation of vaudeville artists and high class singers is attracting much attention and as soon as the public realizes that the miniature musical comedies are clean and refined Manager Ferrer feels sure he will receive the encouragement and endorsement of theatergoers who appreciate ninety minutes of wholesome amusement at a very small admission charge.

The bill for today and tomorrow will be along comedy lines and the manager feels sure the public will enjoy his offering. New songs and sketches with different costumes and music should add interest to the day. The pictures too will be entirely different as they are changed daily.

THE AUDITORIUM WILL GIVE TWO BASEBALL BOOKS TONIGHT

Today Elsie McGeorge and her company will give another new bill at the Auditorium and "Sugarfoot" Gaffney will have full sway for his powers as a Le a bill that will assure packed houses today and tomorrow. Tonight the manager will give away two baseball books good for every game this year, one book going to the colored gallery and the other to white patrons. Tomorrow there will be four complete shows and arrangements have been made to care for the greatest crowds that have ever packed this house on any one day in its history.

HONORED MISS OPHIA MILLER OF YACKINVILLE WAS POISONED

Yackinville, Jan. 27.—Quite a sensation was caused in this section yesterday when it became known that W. E. Rutledge, coroner for Yadkin county, was having a jury summoned to inquire into the death of Miss Ophia Miller, who died in the City Hospital at Winston-Salem, January 4. For several days there has been a rumor afloat that the deceased had been poisoned before she was removed to the hospital and that death resulted from that.

It is said that a young man who had been keeping company with the girl for some time prior to her death had secured some drug or preparation and given her to procure abortion and immediately fled the State and that the effect of the drug not only produced her abortion but also killed the woman.

The coroner's jury assembled today at one o'clock and began the taking of testimony and after the examination of four or five witnesses adjourned to meet tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

The jury is composed of S. W. Vestal, M. R. Davis, C. L. Gabard, J. H. Dobson, M. W. Mackie and J. E. Shugart and their sessions are recent. Nothing has been given out but it is rumored that one or more arrests are expected at any time.

POPULATION OF PETROGRAD DOUBLES SINCE WAR BEGAN

Petrograd, Jan. 27.—It is estimated that the population of Petrograd, including every class of transient and refugee, has grown from two million to three million since the war began. The suburbs of both Petrograd and Moscow, usually occupied only in summer, are overcrowded this winter. Besides the usual refugees from the war zone, thousands of country folk have flocked to Moscow, fearing to remain in the little country towns this winter. The influx has been so great that students in the universities there are unable to find the cheap but cheerless rooms which they have hitherto repaired, and many have been sleeping in the railway stations. As these are closed during a few hours of the early morning, part of the night has to be spent out doors.

Politeness costs nothing, so lots of it is wanted.

FINE ATTRACTION AT THE COLLEGE

Fuller Sisters Will Interpret Irish, Scotch, and English Ballads Here

On Thursday night of next week, the Fuller Sisters of England—Dorothy, Rosalind, and Cynthia, will appear in Memorial Hall under the auspices of the Salem College Alumnae Association.

These gifted daughters of old England will sing the Folk Song of Ireland, Scotland, and England and will appear in early Victorian costume with the quaint hoop skirts and the airs and graces of the period. And they really sing the old English ballads and folk songs in the way they should be sung. There have been many attempts to revive in America the old folk songs of England, but not until the arrival of these English girls has there been such an opportunity afforded to enjoy the quaintness and charm of these still living songs of a by gone time. The Misses Fuller have received a welcome from the leading Universities, Colleges, Arts, Music and Literary Clubs of America. They have sung to audiences of all classes including those at Harvard, Bryn Mawr, Columbia, Smith and Radcliffe, the New England Conservatory of Music, and they have had the honor of appearing at the White House at the invitation of the late Mrs. Wilson.

The University of North Carolina has secured these artists for Wednesday night and in a letter to the press committee of Salem College, Prof. E. A. Herrington of the department of physics says: "I am looking forward to the coming of the Fullers with great pleasure and am glad that Salem is to have them also. I remember the enthusiasm with which they were received at Williams College and at Smith College. I have never heard more perfect music and these sisters interpret the folk songs as they should be interpreted."

Prof. Greenaw of the English Department at the University of North Carolina says: "I have heard the Fullers on two occasions and am delighted to have the opportunity of hearing them again. They make the simple folk songs live again and they show that songs may have melody and passion without sentimentality."

CHINA ADOPTS JAPANESE PLAN OF ELDER STATESMEN

(Correspondence of the Associated Press) Peking, Jan. 27.—China is to have a bureau of elder statesmen much after the Japanese plan. Hsu Shih-chang, the retiring Secretary of State, is to be the chairman of this bureau of elder statesmen and three other members have already been named. They are Chao Kuan-shun, Li Ching-hsi and Chang Chien. All three of these men have been chiefs of bureaus and saw service under the Tsing dynasty.

Members of the bureau of elder statesmen are to enjoy favorable treatment. It has been decided by the administrative headquarters that the distinguished men admitted to membership in this bureau will not be required to address themselves "chen," or subject, before the new emperor. Neither will they kowtow in his presence. They are also to be allowed to use sedan-chairs when going to the palace to be received in audience. It will also be their privilege to sit while in audience with the emperor. They will be given precious presents on the occasion of any congratulatory celebrations of the Nation and will have the honor of wearing a special costume at stated times.

This body of elderly notables should be useful to the President in avoiding questions of precedents which may arise as a result of his former subservience to many of the elder officials now in the government.

Dr. Nagao Ariga, the Japanese scholar, who has been legal adviser to the Chinese government for so many years is recommending many of the ideas which have been useful in Japan in

E. F. KINDLEY GAINS SIXTEEN POUNDS ON FIVE BOTTLES

SAYS "I COULD NOT HEAR ALARM CLOCK"

REYNOLDS TOBACCO MAN OUT WITH FACTS

"I have just finished my fifth bottle of Tanlac and have gained sixteen pounds," was the truly remarkable statement made by Mr. E. F. Kindley, a well-known employe of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company. Mr. Kindley resides at 74 Trayon street this city has been having the process of this wonderful medicine to friends and neighbors who are delighted to hear of his almost marvelous restoration to health. Before taking Tanlac, continued Mr. Kindley, I was troubled with chronic indigestion which bothered me so bad that I could not sleep at night, my hearing became so affected that I could not hear an alarm clock ring when placed to my right ear. I soon realized that this condition was caused from catarrhal conditions from which I have suffered for years. I tried medicine, I tried everything you could think of to try and get relief but it just seemed that the harder I tried to get well the worse I would get. I finally got so I could not eat solid food without suffering. It just looked like I was on the verge of a physical decline, and some times I almost despaired of ever getting entirely well again.

That is just the condition I was in when I began taking Tanlac and it wasn't any time hardly after I began taking it until I began to improve. My appetite returned, my meals do not distress me, my hearing is as good as ever was and I can now enjoy a good night's sleep. I have just finished my fifth bottle of Tanlac and have gained sixteen pounds. I consider Tanlac the most wonderful medicine on earth and I heartily recommend it. Tanlac has been the means of restoring to health and happiness, thousands of people who, like Mr. Kindley have nothing but praise for the "Master Medicine."

"The above statement should appeal very forcibly to all weak, nervous, catarrhal men," said Mr. Drum, the North Carolina distributor for Tanlac, "and I firmly believe that these troubles are caused by nothing else but the slow self poisoning of the system, known to the medical profession as auto-intoxication."

The food people eat does them absolutely no good unless they can digest it. When you suffer from indigestion or other forms of stomach trouble, the food you eat does you harm instead of good, because the food that does not digest, stays in the stomach and causes pains, swelling gas on the stomach, shortness of breath, bad taste, yellow complexion, dizziness and several other disagreeable symptoms. If this condition is permitted to run for an indefinite period of time, the entire system becomes saturated with poison and various complications are apt to result. Mr. Kindley's trouble was relieved by Tanlac, simply because it toned up his vital organs and enabled him to digest his food properly. In fact there is not a single portion of the body that is not benefited by the healthful action of stimulating the digestive and assimilative organs, thereby enriching the blood and invigorating the whole system. Next it enables this weak, worn out stomach to thoroughly digest its food, permitting the assimilation of the nourishing products to be converted into blood, bone and muscle.

Tanlac the master medicine is sold in Winston-Salem exclusively by the O'Hardon Drug Company where Mr. Drum or his assistant are explaining the merits of this famous remedy.

(Advt.) harm-izing political leaders. Dr. Ariga is supposed to have drawn up a complete new constitution, which will in effect be adopted by the Chinese government after its change to a monarchy. He recently declined to return to China, and continue in service under Yuan Shikai, but has been highly honored by the President.
