ONE CASE DISPOSED OF IN COUNTY COURT YESTERDAY

Much of the day yesterday was consumed in the Forsyth County Court in the hearing of the suit of Naomi Stealer et al against Frank Lowell and the City of Winston-Salem, in which the plaintiff is suing for $1,000 for injuries alleged to have been received through the neglect of Mr. Lowell, who was employed by the city. With the filing in of East Third street it became necessary to raise the building to a level of the street and the plaintiff contends that the porch was not properly supported and gave way, causing her to fall and receive injuries. The case was not completed yesterday and will be taken up this morning.

In the case of H. A. Tatum against S. W. Apperson, the plaintiff was allowed damages of $20, while no damages were allowed on the counter claim of the defendant.

WAUGHTOWN PRESBYTERIANS HAVE GOOD REVIVAL SERVICES

Despite the bad weather, the revival service last night at the Waughtown Presbyterian church drew one of the largest congregations that has yet been out. The response to the invitation was also the greatest they have had so far.

Rev. Dr. Wilson preached the all-night sermon. He has been the pastor of the congregation for two years. The subject was "Confessing Christ," and he took the position that Christ is on trial before the world and all the world is testifying one way or the other. In the next world, said Dr. Wilson, the position will be reversed and the world would be on trial before Christ.

There will be services again tonight at 8 o'clock to matter how the weather may be. Dr. Wilson will preach the regular sermon of the series just as he would were the weather clear and those who want to keep up with the series should attend.

The interest of the congregation in deepening in the revival and an invitation is extended to those who have not been attending to come.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE TO GET NEWS OF HIS RE-NOMINATION

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, June 15—President Wilson arranged to receive news of his re-nomination tonight in company with several relatives and friends at the White House. Special wire facilities kept the President in touch with every development at the St. Louis convention.

Prior to tonight's session of the convention the President was in communication with administrative leaders at St. Louis on details of the platform and an organization plan for the Democratic National Committee. His decision to have Vance C. McCormick of Pennsylvania to manage the committee as chairman of the committee and Representative Carter Glass of Virginia serve as Secretary was reached only after prolonged consideration and after consultation with Democratic leaders here and in St. Louis.

Mr. Glass already is thoroughly in touch with the President's plans and ideas on the political situation, and Mr. McCormick is expected to confer with Mr. Wilson within the next few days.

MAY REVOLUTIONIZE CEMENT BUSINESS

(By Geo. H. Manning)

Washington, June 15—The accidental discovery that a process devised by some cement mills, with the manufacture of cement only a by-product, although this has not exactly come about, the cement company last year, with potash at war prices, sold $100,000 worth, and it is said the profit was $80,000.

Dr. F. G. Cottrell, the discoverer of the process who is now the Chief Metallurgist of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, worked it out while a professor at the University of California several years ago.

The result of the California discovery has been that cement companies generally are now considering adoption of the process and going after the potash, the large company near Hazleton, Pa., which from its location did not have to bother about the distance, is now only putting in the potash process to save potash, which estimates to amount to four tons a day.

It has been estimated by some cement mills that the present mills in the United States, properly equipped, can turn out 100,000 tons of potash yearly, or about one-fourth of the amount imported from Germany in normal times.

It is further declared that there will be sufficient incentive to establish potash plants near deposits that are rich in potash, and that in future so cement will have a haphazard location. It is even intimated that mills may be erected in certain parts of the country for the purpose of making potash the main product, and cement the by-product.

The belief is prevalent among those who are interested that, as a by-product in the manufacture of cement, potash is sufficient in value to affect profoundly the question of the manufacture of iron in certain sections and from certain materials.

Mr. Charles Cattelot, of Stanton, Virginia, a well-known chemist and metallurgical expert, makes the statement that the by-product that can be collected from the blast-furnace gases are sufficient in value to affect profoundly the question of the manufacture of iron in certain sections and from certain materials.

He says further that the interesting thing about the potash is that it is apt to follow the silicious impurities, so that those furnaces that are at a disadvantage now on account of what is spoken of as low-grade material may, by the utilization of the by-products, produce iron cheaper than other furnaces which are at present blessed with the finest of raw materials.

The United States Bureau of Mines is much interested in the question and has been encouraging the development of the process. Van H. Manning Director of the Bureau believes that in a short time the United States will be able to produce for itself most of the materials for which it had to depend on Europe before the war.

PREDICTIONS, PROMISES AND PLEDGES POURING ON HUGHES

(By The Associated Press.)
New York, June 15—Pledges, promises and predictions continued to pour into the ears of Charles E. Hughes today from Republican leaders and the rank and file of the party. He had virtually no time for conferences, but spent nearly the entire day welcoming visitors.

Mr. Hughes reiterated today his decision not to comment on political issues until his notification of nomination which probably will be subsequent to July 4. Half a dozen invitations to make Fourth of July addresses are under consideration.
