ASHEVILLE

Asheville, Jan. 19.—Simple but beautiful in detail was the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Threlkeld...

The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The bride had Miss Peggy Hancock...

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Threlkeld gave an elaborate reception for Mr. and Mrs. Russell...

Miss Margaret Cuthbert of this city, and Mr. J. E. Penley of Logan, West Va., were quietly married...

The Fortnightly Club met on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Canie N. Brown on Montford ave.

Mrs. James Pattison giving a talk on "Whitman" and Mrs. Thomas J. Harkins giving a talk on "American Poetry."

Mrs. Howard Cowperthwait and Mrs. Marie Harkness of New York, who have a cottage in Evergreen Lane...

Miss Agnes Aglesby, who is spending the winter at Margo Terrace, entertained Tuesday evening with a dinner party at the hotel in honor of friends in the city.

Mrs. Dena Elizabeth Mace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Mace and Lieutenant Sidney Jacob Stelling were married Monday morning at St. Lawrence's Catholic church here.

The bride wore a modish traveling suit and the groom was in full uniform. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Stella Mace...

Friends in Asheville have received announcements of the wedding of Miss Barbara Crinkley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Stewart Crinkley...

KERNERSVILLE

Kernersville, Jan. 19.—Complimenting her house guest, Miss Gladys Sills of Winston-Salem...

A real bridal setting had been arranged for the occasion, and preceding the ceremony a most enjoyable musical program was rendered.

As the first notes of the wedding march from Lohengrin pealed forth, Mr. Junius Beard of Durham...

Next entered the bridesmaids, in the persons of Misses Evelyn Joyce, Bernice Linville, Irene Gibson and Mary Beard...

Then came the lovely young bride in the person of Miss Frances Oliver, leaning on the arm of her father, Mr. Garland Porter.

The affair was an enjoyable one for the ones who took part in the marriage as well as the visiting people who made up the audience.

A number of games were enjoyed by the young people also during the evening, a guessing contest having been introduced for their amusement.

In the latter Mr. Bernard Stockton and Miss Mary Beard were the lucky contestants, for which they were awarded pretty silk handkerchiefs.

An interesting feature of the evening's entertainment was a clever guessing contest entitled the "Sayings of a Summer Hat," which was introduced by the hostess.

For the most correct solution Miss Marguerite Ring was awarded a pretty box of correspondence cards.

A number of other merry games were engaged in by the young people, and many delightful musical selections interspersed the evening's pleasures...

The hostess was assisted by her brother, Mr. Edward Gibson, and cousin, Miss Frances Oliver, in serving a delightful collation.

Those partaking of Miss Gibson's delightful hospitality, besides the honoree, Miss Sills of Winston-Salem, included: Misses Mary Beard, Letitia Fortes of Ekin, Francis Kerner, Marguerite Ring, Evelyn Joyce, Frances Oliver, Lucile Ely, Messrs. Junius Beard of Durham, Rogers Ogburn, Edward Gibson, Garland Porter, Willard Pulp, Wayne Nelson, Kemp McCaughan and Gales McKaughan.

The members of the Oak Ridge Community Club were very delightfully entertained at their last meeting at the home of Mrs. A. Murra tenbow.

The game of Rook occupied a pleasant feature of diversion for the ladies throughout the afternoon, the cosy room and bright open fires which being most inviting in comparison to the dark, stormy afternoon without.

Four tables for playing were arranged in parlor and living room, and the games which were played throughout a number of most interesting progressions were most spiritedly contested.

The counting of final scores showed Mrs. Frank Linville to be the winner of the high score prize, a pair of daintily embroidered lingerie cloths, while for low score prize in the game Mrs. Ed Whitaker was awarded the consolation.

Following the games the hostess was assisted by Miss Marguerite Cannon in serving two courses of refreshments.

The next meeting of the club will be held at Oakhurst, and will be given in honor of a newly-arrived bride, the Ridge, Mrs. Elsie Mayberry, who prior to her marriage was Miss Etta Paschal of Wilson.

Messrs. Bascom and Zach Whitaker were hosts to about 20 of their friends at a most enjoyable lunch supper, given recently at the home of their parents, Prof. and Mrs. T. E. Whitaker at Oak Ridge...

After the serving of a most tempting repast in several courses, the guests repaired to the dance hall of the institute, where they tripped the light fantastic until a late hour, to the accompaniment of most inspiring music.

Those enjoying the hospitality of the Messrs. Whitaker included: Misses Marie Edgerton, Ida Mae Stafford, Marjorie Britton, Doris Blackwell, Verba and Oakley Benbow and Mrs. D. L. Donnell; Messrs. Amos Cummings, Clay King, Jack Froedgen, D. L. Donnell and Dr. M. Thomas Edgerton.

Mrs. H. E. Shore was hostess to a large number of the ladies of Kernersville at her "Thunkett Place" here recently, her guests on the occasion including the members of the different organizations of Kernersville, these being the Kernersville Rook Club, the Woman's Reformation Association, the Whatsoever Circle, the Woman's Club of Kernersville, together with the Methodist Episcopal, the Methodist Protestant and Baptist Ladies Aid Societies.

The event was in celebration of Mrs. Shore's 50th birthday anniversary and a large number of the ladies of the town were present to enjoy with her the pleasures of this happy occasion.

Mrs. J. P. Atkins greeted her guests in her usual cordial manner at the front entrance of the Shore home, and directed them to the living room, where they were met by Mrs. Shore and daughter.

The afternoon was most pleasantly spent by the ladies in sewing and knitting for the soldiers, and a close silver offering was taken for the benefit of the Red Cross fund.

For the occasion the home was very attractive in its mid-winter greenery and the spirit of holiday cheer was still in evidence throughout the gathering.

The hostess was assisted by her daughter, Miss Helen Shore, in serving delightful Moroccan sugar bread and coffee to the large number of guests present.

At a late hour the ladies had the happy idea of wishing for themselves and those who were just such happy occasions.

Mrs. Maud Kerens entertained the members of the Kernersville Glee Club at their last meeting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Kerens.

Soon after the arrival of the guests unique party cards were distributed, and the game of Rook soon engrossed the attention of the members.

When final scores were made known it was found that Miss Helen Shore was the victorious player, for which she was awarded a pretty ball-howl, filled with growing narcissi.

A number of Glee Club selections were presented during the course of the evening and before good nights were said refreshments were served by Miss Galselle Kerens and her hostess.

Miss Doris Blackwell entertained a small company of her friends at her home at Oak Ridge recently, the evening being spent in games of various kinds, dancing and music.

At the close of the evening, after the playing of the company of a number of popular songs, Mrs. J. R. Blackwell, mother of the hostess, served the guests to a course of fruit, and cake and coffee.

Prof. E. T. Mayberry, member for years past of the Oak Ridge Institute faculty, who was recently married to Miss Etta Paschal of Wilson, has arrived on the Ridge with his bride, and has resumed his work as instructor in mathematics in the Oak Ridge Institute.

Mrs. E. P. Mayberry were married in Wilson at the Presbyterian church by the pastor of the bride, Rev. J. B. Massey, and have returned from their wedding journey.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Paschal of Wilson, and is a young lady of many endearing charms with a winsome personality.

She is a member of the O. S. I. faculty, together with her sister, Miss Etta Paschal, who is a student of the institute since her graduation eight years ago.

Prof. and Mrs. Mayberry are at home to friends in the Oakland Park Hotel.

Mrs. E. P. Holt entertained a number of friends recently at her home at Oak Ridge in compliment to her mother, Mrs. Lena Harris, of Charlotte.

Mrs. Holt entertained her guests in the living room, where tables were arranged for food, and where pretty arranged potted plants were used as decorations.

Mrs. Ed Whitaker was high score prize in the game and after awarding it Mrs. Holt served refreshments to the guests present.

Mr. Bernard C. Stafford has returned to his home at Latta, S. C. after a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stafford.

TWO BOTTLES OF DRECO DID MORE FOR ME THAN $500 WORTH OF OTHER MEDICINES

Says Prominent Proximity Machinist, Severe Case of Kidney Trouble Reported Reached by New Herbal Medicine, Noted Fraternal Member Tells Wonderful Story.

Almost everybody in this section knows C. L. Teal, the prominent fraternal worker and machinist in the Proximity Mills, and whose home address is Box 32, Proximity.

Mr. Teal is an active member of the Redmen and has the distinction of having gone through all the chairs of the Woodmen of the World. His popularity is due in no small measure to his active interest in the affairs of his community and his advice on social and political matters is much sought.

Mr. Teal has been afflicted for a long time with a particularly insidious form of stomach trouble which seemed to get treatment until a friend of his, Mr. Basinger, told him of Dreco, the new herb medicine which he said helped him wonderfully.

Here is Mr. Teal's story of his experience with Dreco: "I have had an interesting reading for the hundreds of men and women in this section who think their cases are beyond relief. Read every word.

I have been suffering for years and the doctors said I would not live six months longer if I was not operated on.

F. Daniel, S. F. Webster, D. R. Joyce, H. H. James, Elizabeth Pickett.

Miss Rhoda Farris, who teaches near Stokesdale, gave a box supper a few nights ago, at which $45.00 was realized. Of this Miss Farris gave $35.00 to the Madison-Mayodan Red Cross chapter.

Last Friday morning was the coldest weather experienced in this section for many years. Mercury dropped to 8 degrees below zero, and from sections of the county came reports that it reached 12 below. That is very cold weather, and the scarcity of very cold ones do some extraordinary things.

The Mayodan-Madison Philatelic class met Thursday afternoon in the Philatelic class room. After business was transacted, Misses Stella Poole, Elsie Martin, and Doris Martin served hot chocolate cake and fruit. The next meeting will be held at the residence of Mrs. Helen Teal's parents.

These present were: Mesdames W. N. Poole, William Price, J. S. Reynolds, Grady Young, S. P. Teal, Misses Stella Poole, Jessie Wilkins, Mary Meiller, Mattie Bassett, Doris Lemma and Elsie Martin, Messrs. Ben Apple, Kirby Reid, John Gilbert, Savannah, Ga.

Mr. Emmett Suttentfield, who has been preaching near Weldon, returned to his home here Tuesday.

Miss Nannie Kivett has been on an extended visit to Greensboro, where she visited her nephew, who is to leave for camp.

Miss Mattie Bassett of Preston, Va., and Miss Helen Teal of this place spent a few days last week in Green Valley with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Price.

changed very much the attitude of congress, greatly increasing the strength of suffrage in senate and house.

The political expediency argument has become rather compelling. Enough women have the vote to make them a very important factor in national elections and nominations.

There is a very general idea to be found even among members of congress that the passage of the Susan B. Anthony amendment makes voters of all the women in the United States. It does nothing of the sort.

All the passage of the amendment does is to submit the question to the states, as provided by the constitution for the adoption of any amendment.

The enfranchisement of women will not take place until three-quarters of the states have approved the amendment.

How long it will take to secure the support of the states after the matter has been submitted to them by congressional action is problematical.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The passage of the federal suffrage amendment by the house the battle for suffrage is three-quarters won.

The senate's action must still be secured. This task is undertaken hopefully.

The same influences which put the amendment through the house are relied upon to put it through the Senate. The Senate has been more favorable to suffrage in the past than the house.

According to a late poll suffrage lacked about eight votes in the Senate. This, however, was rather an incomplete poll and was taken before President Wilson came out for the amendment.

The President's declaration and the feeling among party leaders that suffrage has become a paramount issue which neither party can afford to be wrong on is relied upon by suffrage leaders to insure victory in the Senate as in the house.

The Susan B. Anthony amendment has been voted on twice in the United States Senate. Once in 1884 and the last time on March 19, 1914, when it failed to secure the two-thirds vote, but secured a majority of one vote, the vote being 34 to 35.

Since the last senate vote was taken, a number of important states have enfranchised women. Some of them have given women complete and equal suffrage—suffrage. Notable New York, which figures away in presidential campaigns, has become a woman suffrage state. This has
