A MAJOR ENGAGEMENT The present political combat within the Democratic party of Missouri, although lim-Wilson vs. Reed. It is the record of the Wilson Administration on the World War and on the world peace against the record of Senator Reed, who was perhaps the bitterest and most unrelenting antagonist of President Wilson during his second term.

How the Democrats of Missouri will vote nobody seems able to foretell. From recent demonstrations in Washington it is plain that the people of that city are overwhelmingly with Wilson. Indicative of the sentiment there are dispatches telling of ovations given Wilson on his every public appearance. For example, the other night when it became known that Mr. Wilson was in a theatre It nearly broke up the show. Men and women rose in their sexts and yelled, "Hurrah for Wilson." And above the din there , were many shouts of "down with Reed."

Mr. Wilson is not mineing words in his fight on Reed, as will be seen by the following letter written by the ex-President recently to ex-Governor Stephens of Missouri: 'My Dear Governor Stephens:

"You letter of April 22 has gratified me. I am glad to be sustained in my own judgment of Reed by your own closer knowledge of him, and I shall hope and confidently expect to see him repudiated by the Democrats at the primaries. Certainly Missouri cannot afforded to be represented by such a marplot, and it might check the enthusiasm of Democrais throughout the country if their comrades in Missouri should not redeem the reputation of the party by substituting for Reed a man of the true breed of Democratic principle. I am sure your own great influence will contribute to the desire and expected redemption.

"Please accept assurances of my end confidence in the Missouri Democrate, and believe me, with best wishes.

"Sincerely yours,

"WOODROW WILSON." (Signed)

A LESSON IN CLEANLINESS

Judge B. F. Long often takes occasion to lecture from the bench and many a citizen has been made better as a result. But the other day in Greensboro the Judge didn't stop with lecturing, but paused long enough to give a really practical lesson in cleanliness that deeply impressed the crowd.

As a result, so the story runs, in future a certain Greensboro resident will be careful where he spits. The citizen himself admitted as much and all who witnessed the incident were prepared to believe that he meant it. It all happened in this wise;

While a case was being tried one citizen failed to get a seat near a cuspidor. But he did not let that worry him. At least he didn't until Judge Long discovered that the citizen wasn't worrying, but was spitting on the floor very unconcernedly. Judge Long at once called him to the bar. The citlarn apologized stating that he was sorry, indeed, and he really seemed to be. So he was allowed to depart after an officer had an sent for a mop which was handed to the citizen who proceeded to clean the floor ar where he had been sitting and after a nes-dollar bill the amount of fine imposed. and been handed to the sheriff.

LEST WE FORGET

This is May 10. In North Carolina it is the day of memories. Today the men in gray will march again. Their step will not be as brisk or as sure as it was in '61. But they will fall in line once more and stand together shoulder to shoulder, comrades in peace and fellow builders of the New South others, now gone, who saw them march away in defence of faith and fireside sixty years

For the people of the South have not forgot. They cannot forget. There are some things that time cannot tarnish or efface. One of them is the record of the Confederate Soldier. Another is the sacrifice of the Southern people for the advancement of liberty and true democracy in the earth.

"When the tocsin of war sounded, it was the blood of the old Confederacy that laid the first red rubies upon freedom's altar. Then instantly the world remembered that it was the South whose soldiership and valour wrested Yorktown from the British-the South whose Patrick Henry kindled the fires Declaration of Independance, whose Washington commanded the Continental army, whose Madison framed the constitution, whose Marshall interpreted the organic law aye, the South to whom the Union was indebted for existence; and if from 1861 to 1865 she drew her sword against the Union's flag. it was in defense of the Union's constitution!

"The men did not die in vain. They live in a literature that loves a lost cause. Troy's downfall awoke the harp of Homer. The Greek-sung glories of Thermopylae have sprung from the death bed of Leonidae. The triumph of Wellington at Waterloo has not eclipsed the Marengo of Napoleon and in the distant years to come, Fame's loudest blast will sound to all the listening world the

OUR BIGGEST TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM

Have you ever taken note of the elevators in our tail office buildings and hotels? How many round trips from bottom to top do you suppose the average elevator makes a day? How many people used it? The number is so large that the elevator is today unquestionably our greatest transportation sys-

Statistics show that there one hundred and fifty-six thousand elevators in the United States. They haul more people than all the rallebads, surface street cars, elevateds and subways combined. So say engineers who atter five years' study, have just completed a safety code to decrease elevator accidents.

This new safety code, prepared by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. is a composite of national experience. Baltimore expects to be first to adopt it. Other cities should study it carefully. Do you ever get scared, riding in an elevator?

Accidents are few, considering the number of passengers. But if you want to play safe, keep an eye on the elevator door. Threefourths of elevator accidents occur at the doors or by falling down the shaft.

Most of these accidents can be eliminated by installing interlocks. With them in place, the car cannot move until the door is closed. and the door cannot be opened until the car is at the floor landing. Engineers endorse this as real Safety First.

Archimedes, Greek mathematician, some 2200 years ago invented the first "flying chair"-a crude elevator, lifted by ropes, operated by man-power. It was not until 1850 that George Fox invented the first power elevator, lifted by a screw-plunger. Steam elevator was displaced by hydraulic type, still used by the thousands. The electric elevator came in about thirty-five

Observe that it took more than two thousand years to perfect the crude idea of Archimedes. Fundamental progress is slow in this world, and success is possible only through infinite patience and unceasing endeavor in the face of repeated disappointments and failures. That is as true of individuals as it is of inventions and progressive movements.

It was the elevator, perfected by Americans, that made possible the creation of skyscrapers. The skyscraper increases congestion of population, so it is as much a curse as a blessing-except for land owners and exploiters. Evil. however, frequently breeds good. Thus the elevator, producing the skyscraper, compelled the development of fire proof building construction, which has extended out to protect buildings without elevators. Peculiar, how a commonplace device like the elevator influences our lives and civilization. More interesting, it is the only form of free transportation.

BAD APPOINTMENTS

(New York Times.) Missouri appears to be President Harding's unlucky state. Every time he draws the net of patronage in St. Louis he lands some strange-looking fish. First, he got that preposterous misfit as Governor of Porte Rico, E. Mont Reily, and now, on the recommendation of Senator Spencer, he has nom inated as Collector a gentleman who in 1920 testified to an amiable but careless taking of $2,500 campaign money and depositing it to the credit of his own bank account. His selection has stirred the Democrats of Missourt to great and virtuous wrath, while it has proved too much for some of the strong est Republican stomachs it the Senata. The

It is said that if the President does no withdraw the nomination of Goldstein it will be pigeonholed in committee or rejected outright. Thus it would appear that the Senate is acquiring a new and welcome sensitiveness on the subject of bad appointments to office. This is especially the case when they are not only unfit in themselves but are of a sort to make a political scandal and hurt the party. It used to be said that nominating a man to a Federal position made one ingrate and nine enemies. That was and enough on the appointing officer, but if in addition there is to be an outcry and a protest and a demand for better men, he will wish that the Civil Service law could be extended to cover all offices.

The increasing squeamishness and appreensions of Republican Senators over questions of party patronage are one eign that an election is coming on. But it may be hoped that they are also an indication of a more jealous public opinion in the matter of bestowing office upon men whose chief qualification for it is the lowest kind of political ditry work.

And who is going to catch and hold the flapper while the poetry is being administered? It might be possible to slip some over via the Victrola between dances, but what manufacturer of records is willing to take a chance on gumming up so much gutta percha for missionary work?

Another obstacle to be overcome is the finding of folk who could apply this treat ment when the flapper has been sufficiently ubdued to be quasi-non-resistant. Anybody reading poetry this year save those who see t on the screen in sub-titles?
