Give Our North Carolina Boys a Fair Chance to Keep Morally Clean

This is no time to be squeamish in our language.

To refuse to face and remedy moral conditions surrounding our boys in camp is to trifle with their lives and happiness.

The Army-Navy Y. M. C. A. offers the strongest competition the dive meets in its fight for the possession of our boys' bodies and spirits.

The Y. M. C. A. hut follows our boys wherever they go. It offers them clean, upright surroundings in hours off duty.

The dive follows our boys despite the most rigorous army regulations, ready and eager to seize upon its victims in an hour of weakness.

Are we going to leave the dive with a free hand to snare our heroic North Carolina boys, or shall we give the boys a fair chance to live the kind of life THEY would like to live?

It takes money to support the Y. M. C. A. hut—your money.

The money is to keep the home fires burning for your boy. It is to give him as far as possible home surroundings—bodily and spiritual comfort.

This is one undertaking in which every North Carolina mother and father has a vital interest. Subscribe today, and help support a Y. M. C. A. hut for our boys.
