why all the largest berries were on top of the box he replied, "We put 'em there so you won't have to look for 'em."

This season, the biggest Overcoat berries in Winston-Salem are ON TOP—at Boyles Bros.

You don't have to hull over a whole town full of coats to find the Apple of your Eye and the Peach of your Perfection.

We've made our job easy by having the coats—and lots of them—the selections in all sizes—and then to cap the climax we put the prices from $3 to $10 UNDER what they would bring if we didn't want to stay on top in the spot light.

PUT UP IN LIQUID FORM

When run down, nervous, tired and worn out all the time, take this reliable preparation and known what it is to again feel like your yourself. The cost, regardless of the size of your purse, is the same and it may be secured without trouble at any first-class drug store, and by taking it one loses no time from work or pleasure and soon feels the wonderful transformation which comes over one when regaining strength, vitality and old ambition.

The formula is on every bottle and you are taking an honest tonic on the wine basis without addition of any alcohol or bad whiskey compounded with the best known drugs for the special object of restoring your strength and stomach to what they should be to enjoy health.

In your anxiety to get better quickly, don't overdo it, as many sufferers do, and take larger doses of this standard remedy. It will not act any faster and you will not receive the same benefits from its use you otherwise would.

Your druggist possibly keeps it but if he doesn't, it is sold in Winston-Salem by E. W. O'Hanlon, Inc., pharmacist.

WARNING—Paw-Paw if taken according to directions and not as a beverage, will be found superior to any tonic, having a quarter of a century's unqualified endorsement from people all over the world. Interstate Drug Company, Inc., New York.—(Advt.)

SAYS FOOD STATUS IS STILL SERIOUS

British Food Controller Makes Statement on the European Situation

London, Tuesday, Nov. 12.—John Robert Clines, British food controller, said today the food situation in Europe continues to be serious, necessitating larger shipments until spring. He said he confidently expected America to back up any British sacrifices which might be necessary in behalf of the needy peoples of Europe recently freed from German domination.

Mr. Clines remarked that the situation had been prevented from becoming critical only by the fact that a certain amount of wheat flour reserves had accumulated in England. He continued:

"The food emergencies of peace are likely to be formidable. A certain amount of the stocks now held as military reserves probably will be released and I hope with the diminution of munition shipments the tonnage position will be improved. This, however, will not entirely solve one of the most serious problems, the shortage of beef and mutton. Virtually all the refrigerator tonnage of the world is already employed to the maximum of its capacity for meat deliveries. For instance, while there probably will be vessels available to bring to Europe the accumulated wheat harvest of Australia, there are only a few additional refrigerator ships to bring the large stores of meat from that country and New Zealand. Nor will an expansion of tonnage modify to any extent our position as to fats and dairy products. There is an absolute world shortage of those commodities."

"We are not yet sufficiently informed as to the condition of liberated countries to announce any definite policy.

"We feel we can look to the American public to back up in any sacrifice we may make in behalf of the peoples of Belgium, northern France, Italy and Serbia. Central Europe, so far as we can depend upon reports is in the shadow of famine. What action may be incumbent upon the allies remains to be seen. One thing is certain, that allied food control must be continued at any rate for many months after peace and probably must be extended to take an international scope."

"To effectively carry out this plan the allies in Europe must rely upon a continuation of the far-sighted policy of the United States government in providing credits for food supplies."

"Apart from the allied situation as a whole the commodities urgently needed in the British Isles are meat, butter, cheese and cattle feeds."

"Unless there is an improvement in these supplies of commodities, the present meager rations are likely to be cut down."

"There is a strong feeling in this country that the bare necessities of life shall continue indefinitely under government control. This gathers strength from ever-rising prices. I hope it may be possible to devise some plan of international action by which prices can be brought to an equitable basis and all profiteering in food necessary to maintain human existence may be eliminated."

"The American government and Herbert C. Hoover, the American food administrator, know the exact facts regarding the allies' food requirements. They will soon know the real position of central Europe. The American people have already proved they are capable of meeting any sacrifices, however great in the allied cause. I feel sure that whatever further calls President Wilson and Mr. Hoover may think it necessary to make in order to meet the food emergencies of victory, they will be answered in the same spirit which the nation has displayed since it entered the war."

IS HASTENED BY THE ARMISTICE

Washington, Nov. 13.—Preparations by the government for ransacking the lives of soldiers and sailors on their return have been hastened by the signing of the armistice.

Alto regulations have not yet been fully drafted, it is certain that each of the 4,250,000 men in military or naval service now holding voluntary government insurance, will be permitted, within five years after peace is declared, to convert it without further medical examination. Ordinary life 20-year endowment maturing at the age of 42, or other prescribed forms of insurance will prevail.

The insurance will be arranged by the government, not by private companies, and the cost is expected to be at least one-fourth less than similar forms offered by private agencies.

The government will arrange to collect premiums monthly, if men wish to pay that way or for longer periods in advance. This may be done thru post offices. The minimum amount of insurance to be issued probably will be $1,000 and the maximum $10,000, with any amount between those sums in multiples of $500. There will be provisions for payment in case of disability as well as death according to the tentative plan.

An important feature of the drive-to-war will be the work of the women teams organized under the direction of Mrs. Julian Castle. They will make a house-to-house canvass, appealing to housekeepers to contribute at least one day's household expense to this great work. Housekeepers are urged to remain at home until the solicitors call, and also to have their contribution ready, thus conserving the time of the canvassing teams. Other ladies of the home are also asked to make their contributions at that time.

11—“The war is over” was the expression heard everywhere in reoccupied Belgium today. The abdication and flight of the German emperor was received without elation and enthusiasm, but the news of the unconditional acceptance of Marshal Foch's conditions was greeted by the people and soldiers with relief and satisfaction.

The civilian population is more bitter toward the Germans than are the soldiers who fought the enemy to a standstill. Terms of bitter hate and execration are heard among civilians while the soldiers grin soberly and say, “The war is over.”

When purified blood, rebuilt strength and regulated hours are essential in the after-effects of influenza, grippe and other prostrating diseases, Hood's Sarsaparilla has a remarkable health-helping effect.

It expels the poisons that have weakened and depleted the blood, causing pallor, anemia, flabby flesh and lax muscles. It is the standard blood remedy of the ages, a superlative record of nearly 100 years.

Many people's health is really astonished in how many cases a fine, gentle, easy cathartic in these trying times. We recommend Hood's Pills, used in the best condition and equally effective with delicate women or robust men. Easy to take, easy to operate.

SPECTRE OF BOLSHEVISM APPARENT

It is reported that the new Russian government has declared war on Germany.

FEAR OF BOLSHEVIST TROUBLES

American, Nov. 12.—Popular joy in Holland over the end of the war is overshadowed by indefinite apprehension of Bolshevik troubles and doubts whether a partial demobilization of the army with an increase in the bread ration will suffice to stave off漫游 infection.

The revolutionary socialist party has already issued a manifesto advocating Russian autonomy. Moreover, a new republican party has arisen aiming at the abolition of the czar, army, navy and dominion. While there are no immediate prospects or trials, there is plenty of combustible material. For the moment, however, joy reigns supreme, especially at The Hague.

Revolution Proceeds Calmly

Paris, Tuesday, Nov. 12.—The lack of German news reaching here by way of Switzerland indicates some interruption in the usual channel of information. Zurich has confirmed reports that the frontier is closed to travellers arriving from Germany. It is reported that Friederich Ebert, the German chancellor, has given a place in his cabinet to George Ledebur, social democrat leader, but this report is given under reserve.

Information received here is that the revolution is proceeding calmly and methodically.

Revolution Makes Impression.

London, Tuesday, Nov. 12.—The revolution in Germany has made an impression in Sweden where organs of the independent socialists publish a manifesto urging the establishment of soldiers' and workers' councils every where in order to establish a socialist government and repudiate according to Copenhagen's advice to the Exchange Telegraph Company. General demobilization of the army and an eight-hour working day are also demanded.

State of Semi-Anarchy

Triest, Monday, Nov. 11.—A state of semi-anarchy prevails in all the regions of Austria traversed by the Austro-Hungarian soldi, returning from the Italian front. The soldiers have abandoned the ranks and have joined the mobs in sacking and setting fire to property. All kinds of excesses are being committed.

They work was most appreciated by the boys during the long years and days following active battle at the front. That has been the experience of soldiers and workers during the entire four years of the conflict. They have just entered upon a period of hostility along the entire front. Fighting has ceased and peace appears at last sight. The horrors waiting ahead. Scenes of the slaughter of thousands of human beings, of comrades falling at their side writhing in pain, death agony from a many shot, and those unable to die but because of heat of battle, are still in their minds. Their nerves are shattered and brain damaged. Most they sit in idle loneliness, brooding over their infinite scenes of memory, or will invent phantoms and mental reverie thru their offerings a contribution to the united war fund. Each one must answer tomorrow.
