Neutral Zone Invaded Regardless Of The Armistice Terms; Sultan Has Not Resigned Although He Appears To Have Been Deserted By His Followers At This Time

Constantinople, Nov. 6.—The Turkish nationalist government had handed a note to the allied high commissioners here to the effect that the warships of all nations must ask for authorization to pass the straits of the Dardanelles, the Havis correspondent here has been informed. They must also salute the new government of Turkey.

Constantinople, Nov. 6.—(By The Associated Press)—The Turkish nationalists, after overthrowing the sultan's government and declaring him bereft of all his civil power, are now seeking fresh conquests in a manner that may bring trouble with the allies.

Last night, after taking over control of Constantinople, the nationalists demanded withdrawal of the allied troops from the city and served notice that allied or American sailors would not be permitted to land from their warships at Kemalist ports except by special permission of the Ankara government.

An extraordinary meeting of the allied commissioners, quickly assembled to decide what stand they should take in the quickly altered situation, determined that they would refuse categorically the nationalist demand for military evacuation of Constantinople by the allied forces.

Along with the demand for the departure of allied troops, the Turkish nationalist government, in an additional note handed to the allied commissioners by Hamid Bey, asked that the Turkish railways in Europe and Asia, which are under temporary allied control, be handed over to the Ankara government immediately.

The Turkish gendarmes have now moved into areas known as Chankar and Asia, where only a few weeks ago British dug themselves in to prevent violation of the neutrality of that district. At Burgas, a few miles from the Dardanelles, the Kemalists have established an administration.

The allied high commissioners have accepted the new regime in Constantinople with Rafet Pashah, the military governor of Thrace as governor of the city. And the sultan's government has accepted its downfall, although Mohammed VII considers himself the lawful constitutional ruler of Turkey. He has not officially recognized the decision of the grand national assembly at Ankara, declaring his sultanate at an end. His ministry resigned Saturday evening and shortly afterwards his grand vizier telegraphed all the foreign representatives of the sultan to leave the capitals to which they are accredited and hand over their archives to representatives of the Ankara government.

TENNESSEE THE BATTLE GROUND IN THE SOUTH

Hottest Campaign In Years In That State With Both Parties Claiming Victory

LOOKS LIKE IT BE CLOSE

In Several Other Congressional Districts In Southern States Republicans Have Been Very Active; Virginia Democrats Trying Hard To Regain the Ninth

Allanta, Ga., Nov. 6.—Election of senators in five states—Tennessee, Florida, Virginia, Georgia and Mississippi—will feature the voting in the southern states tomorrow. In addition to these four of the southern states will name new governors—Tennessee, South Carolina, Alabama and Virginia.

With practically all elections in the south virtually settled at the various state Democratic primaries, interest today, on the eve of voting, was attracted to Tennessee and several congressional districts in Alabama, North Carolina and Virginia, where the Republicans are making a strong bid for power.

Tennessee furnished the real battle ground for the Republicans in this section of the country. Senator K. D. McKellar, Democratic incumbent, is opposed by Newell Sanders, of Chattanooga, Republican, while Gov. A. F. Taylor, Republican, is opposed by Austin Peay, of Clarksville. Two years ago the Republicans, in addition to electing a governor and giving a majority to the presidential candidate, increased the Republican representation in congress to five.

In Alabama the two major parties are contending for control in the seventh district, where the Republican candidate, B. L. Noogin, is opposed by M. C. Algood, Democrat, and present commissioner of agriculture. In four other districts of the state, the third, fifth, eighth and ninth, the Democratic nominees also have Republican opposition.

Final appeals also were being made today by the two parties in several districts in Virginia, the seventh and ninth. In the latter the Republican candidate, J. H. Hasinger, is nominated, while C. Bascom Stemp declined to run for a party term, is opposed by George C. Perry, and the Democrats have been making a determined effort to capture the district. In the seventh district John Paul, Republican, is opposing Thomas W. Harrison, Democrat.

The eighth, ninth and tenth districts in North Carolina furnish the battleground in that state, where the Republicans are seeking to make inroads on the Democratic holdings. The fifth district also is attracting general attention because of the fact that Mrs. Lucy B. Patterson is running on a Republican ticket, in opposing Charles M. Stedman, the only Confederate veteran in the national house.

R. R. MUST GET FULL RENTS FROM LEASES

Practice Of Certain Roads Is Nothing Less Than Giving Rebates, I. C. C. Says

Washington, Nov. 6.—Railways which lease land along their right of way to private users must charge rentals equal to the sums which private owners would charge for similar property, or the transaction hereafter will be considered by the Interstate Commerce Commission as a form of rebating in violation of law. Concluding an investigation, instituted by itself in 1917 into railroad practices in renting property in New York City, Fresno, Calif., and Spokane, Wash., the commission held today that in some cases the fixing of a low rental charge in lease of lands to large shippers had been "in practical effect" a reduction of transportation charges, amounting to a refund.

BOTH CLAIMING NEW JERSEY AND NEW YORK TODAY

Managers Spend Last Day Of Campaign Lining Up Their Forces

LODGE HAS HARD FIGHT

Democratic Leaders Claim New York City Will Give Smith Such a Big Majority Up-State Cannot Overcome It; Rhode Island Is Claimed By Both Parties

New York, Nov. 6.—The hectic day before election, when competing campaign managers steady the wavering and straighten the lines for decisive assault, was being devoted to concentration on candidates in Eastern states for congress and governor.

Rival party workers in New York state, spurred to unusually energetic labor by the bitter contest for the governorship between Governor Miller and Alfred E. Smith, his Democratic adversary, were carrying on the battle silently and doggedly, each side enlisting the aid of hundreds of women thruout the state for the last hour drive.

The claim of the Democrats that Smith's vote in Greater New York will greatly overcome the Governor's up-state plurality has aroused city Republicans to extend efforts. Democrats up-state likewise are making a last-day campaign.

The confidence of the Democratic leaders in predicting a landslide for Smith, who they expect will carry in the entire state ticket, has had the effect of stimulating the Republicans.

New Jersey campaigners are making the most of the last few days in their campaign work in the battle between Governor Edwards and Senator Frelinghuysen, who is seeking re-election. Both claim victory.

Mr. Daniels arrived this morning, spending the day in the city, and will speak at the courthouse tonight at 8 o'clock. He is recognized as one of the nation's most patriotic Americans, an ardent advocate of democracy, a brilliant editor, and one of the most prominent and loyal Carolinians. That he will be heard by a large audience this evening is assured. He is one of the best versed in national as well as state governmental affairs, and his presentation of the problems before the state and nation today will be most interesting and instructive.

Tomorrow the people will elect their officials for the next two years. The polls will open at 6:49 o'clock tomorrow morning, remaining open until 5:12 in the evening.

SEEKING WAY TO QUIET MRS. HALL

Prosecution Does Not Want Accused Woman To Appear Before The Grand Jury

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 6.—A conference between Attorney General McKean and all the investigators of the Hall-Mills murder case has been called. It was learned today, to perfect the long chain of evidence to be submitted to the grand jury later in the week.

This conference will determine, also, it is said, whether Mrs. Frances Noel Stevens Hall, the slain reactor's wife, will be permitted to be heard by the grand jury. Mrs. Hall is known that she would insist that she be allowed to appear before the grand jury. The prosecution, however, is expected to exert its utmost efforts to prevent this, despite Mrs. Hall's willingness to sign a waiver of immunity.

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 6.—Mrs. A. G. Fraley, resident of the house that stands nearest the crabapple tree under which the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills were found slain, rose to the magnitude of a stellar witness for the state today, in a long interview with special Detective Mason.

After quizzing Mrs. Fraley for nearly three hours, Mason said he considered her a "most important witness," asserting that she had corroborated the amazing "eye witness" story of Mrs. Jane Gibson, pig-raiser, in many portions. Barbara Tough and Louise Gelate, maids in the home of Mrs. Frances Noel Stevens Hall, the reactor's wife, appeared at the courthouse shortly after noon for questioning by Mason.

BOMB EXPLODED IN ALDERMAN'S HOME

One of Chicago's Law-Makers And His Family Jolted From Their Beds

Chicago, Nov. 6.—A bomb explosion today jolted Alderman William R. O'Toole and his family from bed and damaged their residence in West Garfield Boulevard. The alderman said he was unable to assign a cause for the attack, altho the police supposition was that a possible political animosity may have been behind it. A meeting of ward captains was held at the alderman's home last night. The explosion jolted the family from their sleep and two of the four children suffered severe fright. The door and entrance to the house and window panes were shattered.

RESCUE PARTY AT ONCE ORGANIZED BY THE OFFICIALS

Families of Entombed Men Crowd Around Mine And Scenes Very Pitiful

BODIES ARE BROUGHT UP

Spangler, Pa., Nov. 6.—The first rescue party to enter the Reilly Coal Mine after the explosion this morning reported at noon today that they had found three bodies and feared that some, if not all of the other men entombed, are dead.

The rescue party entered the mine under the direction of Supt. O. J. Flanagan and had proceeded to the third rightaway when it came upon the bodies. The dead men were brought to the foot of the shaft and the party went back for further investigations.

The rescuers came to the surface after their second trip into the mine, but declined to give out any further information.

A second rescue party immediately went into the workings. The rescuers were composed of volunteers chosen from hundreds of men who had gathered at the shaft shortly before the explosion. The rescue party was composed of men who had gathered at the shaft shortly before the explosion.

After the rescuers came up some of the groups moved toward the company's office expecting that an announcement would be made. The rescue party immediately conferred with company officials regarding their findings.

The first two bodies removed from the shaft were identified as Thomas Logue and Joseph Prox. Shortly after these bodies were removed, two living miners, fearfully burned, were brought up and rushed to the hospital. The men were unconscious and their recovery is regarded as extremely doubtful.

The fan house was destroyed by fire, which flashed from the explosion and this fact caused miners to fear that the entombed men were quickly smothered.

Mine officials said the number of men in the workings was less than usual, because Monday is a light working day.

The Reilly Mine was regarded as non-gaseous and the miners worked with open lamps. The explosion was so terrific that the machinery in the fan house was blown from its foundation. Fuel air and after-damp quickly filled the mine and rescuers reported great difficulty in making progress toward the section where the main body of miners were trapped.

Spangler, Pa., Nov. 6.—(By The Associated Press)—A terrific explosion somewhere in the workings of the Reilly Mine of the Reilly Coal Company here at 7:30 o'clock this morning entombed between 90 and 95 workers, who had gone to their work scarcely half an hour before.

Superintendent O. J. Flanagan at once organized a rescue party from
