

Savannah, March 16.

FIRE.—Last night, soon after ten o'clock, the cry of fire, so unusual of late, alarmed our citizens. It proved to be a double-tenement, occupied by Mr. Wm. B. Harrison and Mr. David M. Fitts, in Houston near Broughton-st. the roof of which was forthwith enveloped in flames, and before the engines could be brought to bear upon the building, the fire had progressed too far to be arrested. The building was burnt to the ground; but by the active exertions of the firemen, only one other building, occupied by a colored woman, situate across the lane, was consumed. The first building was owned by Mr. Harrison and insured at $600.—Mr. H. who is the Editor and Proprietor of the Savannah Mercury, and an industrious man with an increasing family, has been a heavy sufferer, having lost, besides all his furniture, wearing apparel, &c. of himself and family, a stock of goods in his shop, valued at about $250, all uninsured, and about thirty dollars in cash.—Mr. Fitts also lost his furniture, &c. It is very fortunate that the fire broke out so early, for such was the rapidity of the flames, that the lives of the tenants would have been, at a later hour, in imminent danger. As it was, they had but time to consult their personal safety. The destruction of the adjoining property might also have been very serious.—Georgian.

The brig La Fleche, just arrived at Toulon, from Alexandria, brings news which, if confirmed, is highly important. It appears that all the difficulties opposed to a peace between the Sultan and Mehmet Ali are entirely removed; and it is reported from a source deemed quasi-official, that the Charges d'Affaires of France and England have insisted upon the Viceroys accepting a treaty whereby Egypt will be acknowledged as an independent state, on paying to the Grand Seigneur a considerable indemnity. Russia, England, and France, guarantee the execution of the treaty.

Venice, Jan. 13. The exchange of couriers between London and Constantinople has been extremely active during the last fortnight, in consequence of the intervention of England as mediator in the differences between the Porte and Mehmet Ali. We hear, from all quarters, that the endeavors of England have been completely successful.

Sweden.—Bernadotte and the Prince Oscar.—A Mr. Daumot gives a most flattering picture of Sweden and her King Bernadotte is 69, but almost unaltered by time; still possessing his noble, expressive features, black flowing hair and piercing eyes; full of animation when conversing of his campaigns in Italy. He is accessible to all, and much loved by his people. He has vastly improved agriculture, almost annihilated the taxes, and has an army of 120,000 men. Oscar is 34—a Swede in every thing from his birth upwards—fond of chemistry and mathematics, a despatcher music.

LATEST FROM BRAZIL.—Capt. Whipple, of Brig P. Souza, below this port, 62 days from Pernambuco, has furnished the Philadelphia Exchange with late papers. An insurrection broke out in January, which rendered an appeal to arms by the authorities absolutely necessary. A proclamation by the Governor, dated January 24th, calls upon the citizens to continue their usual occupations, and to repose entire confidence in the existing government, which watches over their interests, lives and property. The papers are filled with military orders and reports to the Governor, and proclamations. The object of the insurrection is rather provincial than national. The proclamations of the rebel chiefs are of the most inflammatory character. In one we notice the following language:—"The President and his desperate satellites, abject slaves of the Infernal Club." The proclamation of one concludes with the flourish—Vive Senior Don Pedro 2d, Constitutional Emperor—Viva Reform—Viva the Provincial Assembly.—Another adds to the name of the young Emperor, a viva for "Religion and Liberty."

The latest accounts from Para, it may be remembered, mentioned a similar occurrence in that province. U. S. Gaz.

MADAME SERRURIER.—The Washington Globe of the 6th inst. thus alludes to this lady:—"We understand that the late French Minister, M. Serrurier, and his lady, will sail for France in the packet of the 8th inst. Of the withdrawal of M. Serrurier, it is proper that we should say nothing; but we must express our sincere regret for the loss which the society of this city has sustained in consequence of the return of Madame Serrurier to France.—Beautiful, amiable, hospitable, estimable in every respect, she was a universal favorite. And we believe the French King could not have retorted any supposed want of courtesy in the President, on his friends in this metropolis, more severely than by the recall of one who was so fair a representative of the elegance and courtesy of the most polished court of Europe.

Royal Answer to an Address.—Now that so much has been said about the answer of William the Fourth to the address of the citizens of London, it is amusing to look back and see the style adopted in such compositions in the early part of the sixteenth century. To a corporation petition presented to Henry the Eighth, praying him to change his ministers in order to relieve his oppressed subjects, his Majesty returned the following gracious answer:—"We, with all our cabinet think it right strange, that ye, who be but brutes and in expert folk, should tell us who be, and who be not, fit for our council." It does not appear whether this petition was from the citizens of London.

Distressing Accident.—On Friday last, a parcel of carpenters were engaged in raising a House for Mr. Waddle Cade, a flaw of wind came and prostrated eleven sets of rafters. Four men were caught beneath them: two of them, Mr. Hemingway, the master workman, and a negro man belonging to Mr. Jao. P. Leonard, were so badly hurt that they expired that evening. This should serve as a warning to carpenters generally. Fayetteville Journal.

MELANCHOLY EVENT.—The brig Susan, Captain Tilden, belonging to William Howell & Son of Baltimore, arrived at Trinidad, Cuba, on the 5th of February.—On coming to anchor, the black cook, named William Adams, whom Capt. Tilden had, an hour previously, chastised, though slightly, for his impudence, availing himself of the time when the crew were aloft, furling the sails, and the passengers in the cabin, while Captain Tilden was reclining over the railing, struck him with an axe, on the back of the neck, which felled him on the deck, then with the blade, having severed the jugular vein, put an end, almost instantly, to his existence. Capt. Tilden was a young man, greatly esteemed as one of the most enterprising and respectable ship masters of Baltimore. He has left a wife and three young children, to whom this sad event is a most deeply afflictive calamity. The cook is in jail at Trinidad, in irons, and is to be sent home for trial.

EARTHQUAKE.—Captain Lee, of the schooner Cygnat, from St. Martins, reports the occurrence of an earthquake at that place, on the 11th of February. The shocks were frequent and more severe than any preceding ones within the recollection of the oldest inhabitants. Extensive fissures were made in the walls, &c. but no lives were lost. At the same time, similar shocks were experienced at St. Kitts and St. Bartholomew. N. York Sentinel.

In a new edition of "Pithian," recently published, Mr. Butler has given some notes connected with its origin, and the commencement of his literary career. From a notice in a London journal we extract the following interesting and valuable passage:

I knew not a single critic, and scarcely a single author, when I began to write. I have never received to this day a single word of encouragement from any one of those writers who were considered at one time the dispensers of reputation. Long after my name was not quite unknown in every other country where English literature is received, the great quarterly journals of my own disinclined to recognize my existence. Let no man then cry out for "cheers," or for literary patronage, and let those aspirants, who are now often pleased to write to me, lamenting that they want of interest and their non-acquaintance with critics, learn from the author (insignificant though he be) who addresses them in sympathy and fellowship, and who cheerfully allows that the favor he has received, so far from being less, is greater than his merits; that a man's labors are his best patrons—that the public is the only critic that has no interest and no motive in underrating him,—that the world of an author is a mighty circle, of which enmity and envy can penetrate but a petty segment, and that the pride of carving with our own hands, our own name, is worth all the "cheers" in the world.—Loag live Sidney's gallant and lofty motto, Aut viam inveniam aut faciam!

Anecdote of Judge Truxtun.—His Lordship was very quick and smart at repartee. One of the neatest specimens of his talent in this department occurred at his chambers not long since. An attorney applied to enlarge a rule for some purpose. It was granted. The opposing attorney observed, that in the whole course of his experience he had never heard of a rule being enlarged under such circumstances.—"I shall have pleasure, then," said the Judge, "of enlarging the rule and your experience at the same time."

A Portuguese Nunery.—An English lady who had lately visited a convent, told that she spoke with a nun who had been immured for thirty years. "I cannot describe to you," she said, "how tired, how worn out I am with my hopeless confinement. I would consent to die to be allowed to return for one year to the world; and I have an ardent desire to mingle even for one month with society; but alas! I cannot escape from my imprisonment."—My informant also said that in the church of the convent she saw some gentlemen most devoutly crossing themselves; and on remarking on their piety afterwards to a friend, "You are mistaken," was the reply; "those pious gentlemen were engaged in making signs to the nuns, who were peeping at them through a grating behind the altar."

Original Anecdote.—Col. Crockett once happened to be present at an exhibition of animals in Washington City, where a monkey seemed to attract his particular attention, and he rather abstractedly observed—"If that fellow had on a pair of spectacles he would be just like Major Wright of Ohio." The Major was also present—overheard the observation—and gently tapped him on the shoulder, when the Colonel very formally remarked—"I'll be shot Major, if I know whose pardon to ask—your's or the monkey's."

Thomas Campbell Esq.—We are happy in being authorized to remove the anxiety which our information has occasioned in the friends and admirers of the polished and spirited Campbell. We understand that he has been enjoying, with all a poet's ecstasy, the novelties of Algiers and the splendor of its neighboring scenery, which he has frequently explored in his rides among the hills, amid the magnificence of the lofty palm and banana, and the luxuriance of the vine, the fig tree and the myrtle. He is recovered from his illness, which was the effect of severe cold, and he returns by way of Tunis, Sicily, Greece, and Italy, to England in the end of the month of May.—Cal. Mercury.

COL. AUSTIN.—This gentleman, who has been so long the subject of Mexican caprice, and incarcerated in a dungeon of the Republic, has, we are happy to learn, been released from confinement; and probably ere this has regained his family mansion in Texas. N. York paper.

CURE FOR BURNS AND CHILBLAINS.—A. Brunson, of Meadville, Pa. says from fifteen years experience, he finds that an Indian meal poultice, covered over with young hyson tea softened with hot water, and laid over burns and frozen flesh as hot as it can be borne, will relieve the pain in five minutes; that if blisters have not arisen before, they will not after it is put on, and that one poultice is generally sufficient to effect a cure.

"Mr. T." says Ned, "don't you think marriage, would not money rather dull?" "You are a too paradoxical, Ned; who ever heard of a couple perpetrating marriage without money—eh? my boy?" "No paradox at all, friend T., and I'll prove it. I have seen a couple bound in the thrall of 'double blessedness, by a country justice; nor could they raise a slipping in joint meeting to pay Hymen his fee."

"Granted, Ned, granted, and yet they had money?" "How so—what kind of money?" "Why—matrimony!"

DIED. On the night of the 23d inst. in this town, GA. PRIEL HOLMES, aged 3 years, son of OWEN HOLMES, esq.
