

POETRY.

We insert the following beautiful verse as a specimen of a new set of songs just published by Moore. There are twelve of them, says the London Times, and we think they are among the best efforts of the most graceful and fanciful of English lyric poets.

FROM THE BUFFALO COMMERCIAL ADVERTISER. RIOT.—We have the mortification of stating that our city was, yesterday afternoon, disgraced by an extensive and brutal riot.

The rioters were in two parties—one of about 250 in number, composed of boatmen, sailors, loafers, &c. were endeavoring to force their way over the bridge; the other party consisting of some 50 Irishmen, were disputing their passage.

The cause of the fracas seems to have been an attempt of a party of stragglers to cross the bridge for the purpose of raising an Irish row which was enacting on the opposite side of the canal: it being resisted by a number of the Irish a general melee took place—the battle increasing momentarily by fresh arrivals at the scene of combat.

At the present time, when riots are getting to be the order of the day—when mob law thrusts aside the wholesome provisions of our statute books—when the solemn sentences of the lawfully constituted tribunals of the land are forestalled by the summary judgments of the Lynch code—every precaution should be taken by the friends of good order to prevent or check the excesses so prone to spring from such a state of society.

PRACTICAL MOB-LAW.

A correct delineation of what Mob-law practically tends to, is related as having taken place here in the following manner: A reporter sent on by the editor of an eastern paper to glean the true cause of proceedings here during the late disturbances, in conversing upon these matters openly expressed his approval of the violent acts of mobocracy of the preceding night; then, said one of our fellow citizens you are really in favor of mob-law; and seizing the reporter by the collar, told him he would give him a practical exemplification of his own doctrines, and without more ado forced him into a neighboring tavern and demanded his money, unless he was strong enough to retain it. The reporter endeavored to convince himself it was all a joke; but finding the practical expounder of principles both powerful and in earnest, produced his funds and begged most humbly that the other customary measures of tarring and feathering might in this instance be dispensed with. Having given the emissary of the eastern paper a most dreadful fright in thus putting into practice his own opinions, the man of muscle, with an application of little tenderness, ejected him from the room, and throwing his money after, said, all he charged for his lesson was that it should be reported for the columns of his patron's journal; but doubting whether this will be done, it is requested that it may appear through your paper for the information of those ignorant of the results of mob supremacy.—Buff. Amer.

EPISTOLARY.—The following admirable specimen of orthography and orthodoxy, is copied verbatim et literatim from a letter of an overseer in a neighboring parish, to his employer: "Yours with respect and Daniels pigs by the boat," certainly beats all hollow, every thing hitherto heard of, in the way of epistolary conclusion.

FROM THE FALL RIVER MONITOR. CAPT. CARTER.—The Wilmington (N. C.) Advertiser and Free Press (we wish the paper had a shorter name) has some remarks upon an article that appeared in a Monitor some time since respecting Capt. Carter, which claims for us some reply. We stated, that the persons then in search of a runaway slave, "after searching till they come on deck and were about to give up the search, when the Captain stated there was one place between the pumps, where a person might be secreted, which they had not examined and went with them to the place, where they found the slave." The above statement was made from recollection, sometime after it was related to us. There may be therefore some immaterial variation from the facts as originally stated. Capt. Carter while lying at one of the wharves here called upon us to do some business for him, and while in the office, related the unfortunate circumstance of the slave being found on board of his vessel. He used no harsh or unbecoming language respecting the owner of the slave, those who searched his vessel or those before whom he was examined. He manifested no disrespect for either. He did protest his innocence of any intention to secrete the slave, and disavowed all knowledge of his being on board his vessel, and the statements which we published of his readiness to aid in the search for the slave, we then supposed and now suppose, were intended merely as evidence of his innocence. He manifested no morbid sensibility at the time, nor did he appear to seek the sympathies of any one. He was deeply affected, but struggled hard to suppress the tears that trickled down his careworn cheek.

We never saw Capt. Carter before and we have never seen or heard from him since the time to which we have above alluded. His home is in Maine. He left this place before the article to which the Wilmington Press has referred was published, and we presume has never known that such an article was published. If there was an error then, he has not had the means of correcting it. We may have misunderstood Capt. Carter as to the place named by him for the search; and if so, it ought not to operate to his injury. We saw Capt. Carter but once and never expect to see him again. From the very limited acquaintance we had with him, we believed him to be an honest, upright, unpolished sailor. We have had no occasion to think differently of him since—and we are unwilling that he, or any other person should suffer from any statements of ours, made without their knowledge or consent. If we stated the facts, as related to us by Capt. C. and it was our intention to do so, and they are untrue, he ought to bear it—but if we misunderstood him at the time or have misrecalled any of his statements, so that we have not given them to the public as he gave them to us, no matter how trifling the variance, the error is ours, and we and not he, are chargeable with it. Judging from the appearance and general deportment of Capt. C. while we saw him, we do not believe he would be guilty of an intentional falsehood.

POST OFFICE CORRESPONDENCE.

Copy of a letter addressed to the president and directors of the American Anti-Slavery Society, by S. L. Gouverneur.

Gentlemen—I have received a letter from the post-master at Charleston, of which the enclosed is a copy. I have transmitted another to the Postmaster General.

Entertaining full confidence that you will duly appreciate my sincere desire, to reconcile a just discharge of my official duties with all the delicate considerations which are in the case presented to me. I have respectfully to propose to you that the transmission of the papers referred to, be suspended, until the views of the post-master general shall have been received.

With great respect, &c. &c. (Signed) SAM'L L. GOVERNEUR.

Sam'l. L. Gouverneur, Esq. Sir—Your communication addressed to "the president and directors of the American Anti-Slavery Society," has been handed me by Mr. Bates, and shall be laid before the executive committee.

I am, respectfully, your ob't serv't. ARTHUR TAPPAN, President A. A. Society. New York, August 7, 1835. ANTI-SLAVERY OFFICE. New York, 8th August, 1835. Sam'l. L. Gouverneur, Esq. P. M. New York. Dear Sir—Your favor of yesterday, covering a letter from the postmaster of Charleston, in regard to the recent violation of the U. S. mail in that place, and proposing to us to suspend the transmission of our publications until the views of the postmaster general shall be received, has been laid before the executive committee of the American Anti-Slavery Society, and I am instructed, very respectfully, to transmit to you the following reply: "Resolved, That while we are desirous to relieve public officers from any unnecessary difficulties and responsibilities, we cannot consent to surrender any of the rights or privileges, which we possess in common with our fellow citizens, in regard to the use of the U. States Mail."

Early on the morning of the 7th inst. I addressed a communication to you, enclosing a copy of one which I received from the Postmaster at Charleston. Referring you to the peculiarly delicate considerations which were involved in the case he presented, I respectfully proposed to you to suspend the transmission of your papers until the views of the postmaster general, before whom the whole subject has been laid, could be received. This communication having been delivered to you by Mr. Bates, assistant postmaster, I received a verbal assurance that you would cheerfully comply with the proposition I had made. In full assurance that this proposition would not be changed, I gave the necessary instructions to separate the papers referred to, in making up the mail for that portion of the country, and retain them at this office. The resolutions to which I have referred, gave me the first intimation of the change of your views; and was received at this office about the time of closing the mail. It was therefore, too late in fact, to cause a different disposition to be made of these papers. They were accordingly retained here in pursuance of the original understanding with you, nor will they be transmitted by mail until the instructions of the postmaster general shall have been received.

Having thus placed you in possession of the facts, I beg leave to refer more distinctly to the resolution of your committee. My views have been much mistaken, if it is intended to imply that I required relief at your hand from "any difficulty or responsibility," whatever as "a public officer." Had you declined, in the first instance, the proposition I had offered, my determination would have been promptly announced to you. Placed as I was in a peculiarly delicate position; appealed to by an officer of the same department at a distance, to lend my aid in preserving the public peace—securing the safe transmission of the important contents of that valuable branch of the mail department—and arresting a course of excitement which could not fail to lead to the most disastrous results, I should not have hesitated to adopt that course which, in my judgment, the highest obligations imposed, had it even demanded in some degree a temporary "surrender of the rights and privileges" you claim to possess. While manifesting so openly your benevolence to the colored people, I thought I had a right to claim some portion of your sympathies for the white population of that section of country—the peculiar situation of which Mr. Huger had so fully described. I would respectfully ask, gentlemen, what injury could result from a momentary suspension of your efforts, compared with that which might have occurred, had they been pushed at all hazards?

I entertain for you, and all your rights, every sentiment of respect which is due, and I deeply regret, that a departure from the original understanding, which promised to prevent all excitement and collision, has compelled me to express myself so fully. I have reflected deeply on the subject. The laws which secure to you the rights you claim, also impose the penalties on those who infringe them. I shall assume the responsibility in the case you have made with me, and to the law and my superiors will hold myself accountable.

With great respect, &c. &c. SAM'L L. GOVERNEUR. New York, August 9, 1835. A RECRUIT—"Shoulder arms!" exclaimed the Captain, in a voice intended to resemble thunder; but the execution of the order was any thing but simultaneous; and one man, it was observed, was still standing at ease. Upon being challenged by the Captain, and asked why he had not 'shouldered' along with the rest, "What the deils' a' the haste, (quoth he) canna ye wait till a body tak' a snuff?"

PROPOSALS for PUBLISHING BY SUBSCRIPTION. The Debates in the Convention of North-Carolina. Which assembled at Raleigh, June 4th, 1835, TO AMEND THE CONSTITUTION.

IN consequence of the numerous applications on the subject, the Subscribers have determined, if sufficient encouragement be given, to publish in a neat Volume, with all convenient despatch, THE DEBATES IN THE CONVENTION, which recently met in this City. For the purpose of ascertaining whether a sufficient number of Subscribers can be obtained to justify the undertaking these PROPOSALS are issued. The Volume, which will probably make from 300 to 400 pages, will be printed with handsome Type, on good paper, and will be furnished to Subscribers, bound in boards, at THREE DOLLARS a Copy, payable on delivery. JOS. GALES & SON. Raleigh, August 1st, 1835. 32-3t.

Runaway. FROM the Subscriber on the 25th May last, a mulatto fellow by the name of DICK, The said Dick is about 45 years of age 6 feet high, and has a considerable stammering in his speech. He is supposed to be lurking about Rocky Point, or on the Sound. I will give a reward of Ten Dollars for his apprehension. FIFTY DOLLARS REWARD will be given for information that shall convict any white person of harboring the said Negro DICK. T. COWAN. June 17, 1835. 24-4t

The Lady's Book, FOR JULY, WAS PUBLISHED ON THE FIRST AUGUST. This number commenced a new volume, and contains one of the plates of Fashions, which has rendered this work so celebrated; also, the Fashions of the olden time. Five similar plates will be given this year. $3 PER ANNUM, PAYABLE IN ADVANCE. Every number contains a steel engraving or a plate of Fashions, elegantly colored; two pages of Music; two Engravings of distinguished authors; embellishments of scientific subjects, or views of remarkable places.

GALLERY OF PORTRAITS. Under this head will be published, likenesses of distinguished authors in this country and in Europe. Already have been issued, striking resemblances of Butler, Brougham, Hoggs and Cunningham, and the following are now ready for press, and will be published, two in each number, until the whole is completed, Shelley, Lewis, Moore, Coleridge, Rogers, D'Israeli, Noe, Mad. de Staël, Jane Porter, Campbell, Roscoe, and Southey. A fac simile of Washington's hand writing, and of his accounts, will be found in the August number. Also, Steel Engravings of the Parting Hour, illustrated, by A. C. Brooks, A. M.; a view of Park Place, New York; Excerpt: Anthology, by M. Carey, Esq.; Embroidery; Music, &c. The signatures of distinguished citizens will be continued. In short, no effort is spared to render this work paramount to all others of a similar nature.

L. A. GODEY, Publisher, No. 3 Franklin Place, Philadelphia. The subscriber, to convince those persons wishing to subscribe for the Lady's Book, that there is no deception in the work, will forward any month's number as a specimen, by sending him a letter, post paid. If any of our agents should have extra numbers of volume 10 on hand, that they cannot use, they will confer a particular favor on the publisher by returning them immediately accompanied with a note stating the number sent, and who they are from. We are so nearly out of volume 10, that we wish to provide a supply in season. Newspapers exchanging with the Lady's Book will confer a favor on the subscriber by giving the above three or four insertions. 33-4t.

JUST RECEIVED, And for sale at this Office, A FEW COPIES OF SIX MONTHS IN A CONVENT. Price 75 Cents. $35,000 Copies of this work has already been sold by the publishers.

Look at this! I AM determined to wind up my affairs in Wilmington, and do low and all those indebted to me, to come forward and make some kind of settlement, without further trouble, before the first day of April next. Those who have accounts and cannot pay, must give notes, and those who have notes must pay—as it will be impossible for me to pay off and go to the west, otherwise.

THE STORE at present occupied by myself, with large WARE-HOUSE and YARD, with the adjoining Store, lately occupied by John Nutt, is offered for SALE or RENT, and possession given immediately. (Insurance is very low.) The property is too well known to require any description here—suffice it to say, it has no superior in Town in situation or convenience for country or bartering business.

I AM fully aware of the depreciation of the value of Real Estate, from the over-listed policy of our Legislature, but am in good earnest and determined to SELL, BURN or TRADE the first fair bidder; the terms shall be accommodating—Ten Years credit if required. My WHARF is also for sale. Also, A good Horse, & an old SULKY—few last rate of FLLOUR, and a few boxes prime CANDLES; and some other good articles, not worth naming, but which will be sold low, at the Old Stand, to close a poor concern.

DURING my absence, my Clerk, A. B. MCGILL is authorized to settle my business. HENRY NUTT. Feb. 25. 8-4t.
