PROSPECTUS

of a new paper, in the town of Wilmington. The subscriber proposes to publish in this town, a newspaper to be called the

WILMINGTON WEEKLY CHRONICLE IT is confidently believed, that Wil mington has passed is lowest point of depression, and that its progress henceforth must be upward, and onward, to a prosperity unknown in its former history Its importance, as connected with the completed, and those projected with a works of a public character now nearly prospect of ultimate accomplishment, is certainly becoming daily more and more apparent. The efforts too, which are making to improve the port and its vari ous passages, as well as to make known its present great advantages, must tend the increase the consequence of Wilmingon as a commercial mart . It is therefore hought that two papers should, and will be sustained here.

As tegards the principles which will govern the subscriber in the performance of his editorial duties, it will of course be expected that he should make them public n the most explicit manner.

In the first place then, as that may be y many deemed of the most importance, iis political principles coincide with those · ntertained generally by the Whig party if the Union. For names, he professes b have little reverence, farther than the dividuals who bear them evinge a devoton to, and a willingness to make sacrikes for their country. He will not bwever, under any circumstances, be ome the mere partisan. He will not onsent to advocate measures, adverse to ne dictates of his deliberate judgment, no natter by whom proposed, or by whom ustained Believing that the present ause of the Whig party is the cause of ruth, the cause of patriotism, the cause of good government, he will advocate its loctrines with firmness, but with candor, with zeal, but with proper deference to he opinions of political opponents.

The great interests of the Internal Improvement of North Carolina, claim and shall receive from the subscriber a warm and hearty support. In striving to uphold and advance these interests, he will not be governed by sectional feelings or cirsumscribed notions. The energy of his purpose, and the labor of his affections, mail be given to raise high the prospe ney of North Carolina, " one and ndivisible."

Education, Common School Edutation, as another element of vast import ance to the well being of the State, will also find in the Editor of the Chronicle an earnest co-laborer with others, for the general diffusion of its benefits, and an untiring agent for the spread of its mighty influences.

The Chronicle will be at all times a supporter of the supremacy of the lawsof good morals-and constantly endeavor to inculcate on the public mind, correct ideas on all subjects which it discusses.

It will likewise be a vehicle of commercial, mercantile, local and miscellaneous intelligence, to all which shall be given close attention as to fulness and

The terms of the paper are fixed a $2,50 per annum, payable upon the delivery of the first number. The publication will commence so soon as the necessary from 400 to 500 bales of cotton each, are built f good materials, and with little cessary arrangements can be made. It will be of the super royal size, or out that of the Advertiser, and printed in good paper, with new type. Wilmington, N. C. December 5th, 1888.

for publishing in Fayetteville, N. C. a Weekly

Newspaper, under the title of THE NORTH CAROLINIAN. THE subscriber, having this day purchased of he proprietors the presses and types of the North Carolina Journal, begs leave to announce to the public, that he intends, as soon as the necessary arrang ments can be made, to commence the weekly publication of a puper at this place, under the above tide. Duly sensible of the importance of newspaper publications to the community at large, and of the corresponding responsibilities of editors, the editor of the North Carolinian only here promises his readers his industrious efforts and persevering application to make the paper a useful channel of correct intelligence upon all subjects of public interest, falling within the range of his limited experience, observation, and research. The columns of the North Carolinian will be freely devoted to the hearty but temperate and candid support of the measures of the present dministration of the General Government, on the ground that the editor believes that the prihciples upon which they are founded, to be the same which have always governed the great body of the Democratic Republicans of the country as contradistinguished from the Federal or National Republicans, who mainly constitute and give character to the opposition party, or selfs:yled Whigs. It shall be an object of paramount consideration in publishing this paper, to draw public attention to and concentrate public opinion more zealously upon, the peculiar interests of North Carolina as an independent State, by often presenting to the reader's observation, the State's most prominent claims to distinction and rank among her sister States ; by anxiously co operating with every effort that shall be made for the full developement of her vast and yet unemployed resources; and by every other fair means, endeavoring to kindle and keep alive a manly spirit of State pride; (wo prone to be extinguished or kept cold by party bickerings about federal politics)

As almost every man in the State is t greater or less extent a planter, the editor will seek diligently to make his paper profitable to the agriculturist by frequent and copious extracts. from approved books and periodicals, upon the subject of farming. The periodical press has been of late so much enlarged in its circulation, and so much improved in the departments of literature and taste, that the editor would feel he did mjustice to the consequently enlightened state of public opinion, feel. ing, and intelligence, if he did not here promise earnestly to lend the aid of his hum'le capacity, in the general diffusion of literary subjects, through the channel of his paper. Should the partiality and kindness of the sub-scriber's friends enlarge the subscription so as to justify it, he will discontinue his practice as all

We understand that the Grand Jury of Otsego has found a bill of indictment against Col. James Watson Webb, Editor of the Courier & Enquirer, for a libel on Mr. "J. Fennimore Cooper," the Great Novelist. The libel complained of consists of certain strictures in the Courier Enquirer on the great novelist's two-last works, " Homeward Bound" and " Home as Found." N. Y. Gazette.

Fish Story - The editor of the Grand Gulf Advertiser relates what he calls for a wonder, a true fish story, which is as follows: " A young lad named Hauler -very appropriate name, say we-did nemally, a few days back, haul from the depth of the father of rivers a mammala catfish weighing 210 nounds. It is a little strange that, in this instance of piscaory adventure, the fish weighed 110 pounds more than the lad who caught it."
