Camp Meetings and Hogs.

Foi several days the colored people have been holding a camp-meeting at Keysville, near town. Before it started one of the leading brethren approached a white gentleman who lived near and raised a good deal of stock, and and the following conversation ensued: "Boss, how many hogs is yer got and whar is dey?" "Well, about thirty, and most of them are in the woods." "Boss, I'd 'vise you to put dem hogs in de pen and sit over dem wid a double-barrel gun. Camp meeting and hogs don't mix well together."—Washington Gazette.

Amusements.

The Opera House opened a preliminary season last night to an audience of fair proportions. All who were present took note before the raising of the curtain of the improvements made during the vacation. The house looked much brighter than it did at the close of the season. This was due to fresh paints, carpets, matings and curtains. In the orchestra were one or two new faces who gave strength to it. The play "Top o' the Morning" is by Fred. G. Maeder, who does nothing poorly and has added much to the reputation of several stars, now of the first magnitude. Mr. John F. Ward, who is at the head of the company, captured the audience in his triple character of Rody O'Flaherty, Doctor Felix McGlincy and Laty O'Fogarty. Deserving of special mention was the leading lady, Miss May Davenport, who sustained a dual character, and the little Miss Ida Ward, who is beyond question one of the finest child actresses on the stage. Of the rest of the company it is sufficient to say that they were equal to the parts assigned to them by the plot. Of the play, it is like all of Maeder's productions; it offers the opportunities, and the rest is left to the actors. The same company will hold the boards during the week.—Pittsburg Commercial Gazette.

New Orleans Exposition.

Parties in Vera Cruz have asked for space at the New Orleans Exposition for the display of Mexican fruits, flowers and trees, and the exposition authorities have determined to invite such displays from other semi-tropical regions. A full equipped department of this kind would be one of the most beautiful features in the exposition. New Orleans is only three to five days distant from the tropical region of this hemisphere, and steamers ply between it and the Gulf ports every week. A large garden filled with high-colored tropical flora, orchids, fruits and trees, all living and growing in native luxuriance and beauty, would be a sight to excite the admiration of the Northerners who visit the exposition.

Messrs. Worth & Ashby will open the Mt. Airy warehouse for the sale of leaf tobacco about the 13th of November. . . . The free school is on a boom. Over 50 scholars in attendance. . . . A Mr. Bryan, of Elkin, has received the appointment of Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue for Surry county. . . . Mrs. R. P. Rawley, of Piper Gap, Va., has the thanks of the News for a mammoth beet, weighing 14 pounds, and measuring 3 1/2 inches in circumference. It is the beet that beat the beet that beat the biggest beet that ever was beat by a beet.—Mt. Airy News.

LOSS BY FIRE.—From citizens of Monroe who were in the city yesterday we learned of the destruction by fire, the day previous, of the gin house of Mrs. Mary A. Matthews, located near Sandy Ridge church, in that county. With the gin house ten bales of cotton, all the property of Mrs. Matthews, were burned. The loss is one thousand eight hundred dollars. The origin of the fire is supposed to have been a match in a lot of cotton which ignited as it was going through the gin.—Charlotte Journal-Observer.
