The Supreme Court Rebuked.

Our space forbids the reproduction of the entire proceedings. Orator after orator delivered himself until the committee to draft resolutions brought in their report as follows:

Wheat at $3 a Bushel.

Several nights ago about twenty bushels of wheat were stolen from the barn of Mr. C. Perry Steinmetz, in South Anville township. The next morning as Mr. Steinmetz came to the barn he found a pocket-book containing $60 in money, and several other papers, one of which contained the name of the owner. The man is a resident of Anville, where he is well known, and belongs to a respectable family. We have not learned whether the gentleman has called for the pocket-book, but the question which naturally arises is, how did it get there and what was the owner of it doing on the premises of Mr. Steinmetz on that particular evening? Explanations are in order.—Lebanon (Pa) Ind.

Woman suffrage has won its battle in the Territory of Washington, as both houses of the Legislature have voted to strike the word "male" from the election laws.

A Dreadful Dude.

There was a live Dude at large yesterday at the passenger depot. He attracted the attention of half a dozen newsboys and among themselves they began discussing the animal. They were probably laying plans to coax him back into his cage. At any rate he heard one of the boys call him a Dude: This made the Dude mad and he was about to fight the little newsboy. The little newsboy he was about to attack was only ten or twelve years old. Yet we will bet a nickel that if that little boy had made a very wry face and started towards the Dude that animal would have took to its heels and not stopped this side of Chattanooga. From its appearance that was about the size of it. Yet that Dude could swear big oaths like a bold bad man.—Knoxville (Tenn.) Tribune.

Toads and frogs were originally introduced into the Sandwich Islands to exterminate cockroaches.

SIXTY-EIGHT CHILDREN.—Samuel Johnson, colored, who is now living upon Crowders Creek, in this county came into town last Wednesday. Noticing that he looked very old we concluded to interview him. This is the result. He was born in Gaston county near Tuckaseege Ford in 1809 on the plantation of Mr. Robert Johnson with whom he lived a number of years. He has had five wives who have borne to him 68 children. At last accounts most of his children were living and married, and he thinks that he has considerably over 100 grandchildren. He is now a widower, but he may not be single and alone long.—Gastonia Gazette

We learn that a very valuable gold mine has been discovered in Patrick county, Va., about 10 miles from this place.—Mt. Airy News.
