Strong Appeal for Voluntary Efforts to Solve Problems

PROGRESS SLIGHT IN SUCCESS BY CODES

PHILADELPHIA, April 2.—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, frequent target of attacks that he is fostering registration of agriculture, stated his skepticism of the merits of the farm regulation here today in an address before a regional conference of dairymen and conducted a strong appeal for voluntary efforts by the farmers to production control and the elimination of other agricultural...

By C. C. NICOLET Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON, April 2. (UP)—That half a year's experimentation with codes in industry emphasized two fundamental problems in the path of long-range fulfillment of the Roosevelt plan of industrial self-government and state co-operation. Little progress has been made toward finding a solution for either of them.

First, Shall the employer-employee relationship be one of benevolent owner paternalism toward workers, or one of strict management-employee equality in negotiations? Second, Where does industrial self-government through a code end, and monopoly begin? If there is no real line between the two, shall the anti-trust laws be replaced by some other means of government regulation of coded industry?

Eastman recommends prohibition of any interference by roads with their men's organizations, and specifically proposes that roads be barred from using funds in maintaining "so-called company unions." The language is similar to that of the pending Wagner bill which would apply to all coded industry, and which is being fought with every resource of business.

CAPITAL PRESS PRAISES WIRT

Educator at Gary Calls Attention to "Bloodless Revolution"

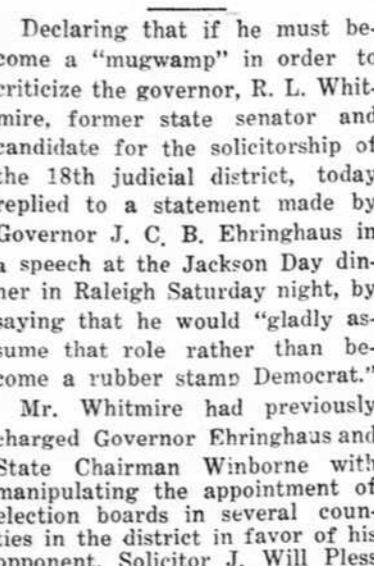

WASHINGTON, April 1. (UP).—An editorial in the Washington Post was referred to yesterday by Mrs. William A. Wirt, wife of the Gary, Ind., educator, as stating clearly the reason for her husband's "brain trust red plot" charges. The recent editorial read in part: "Dr. William A. Wirt x x x deserves credit for just one important and specific contribution. He has helped to concentrate widespread attention on the fact that much current legislation has implications, and would institute changes, going far beyond the immediate evils at which it seems to be directed. "The fact that a number of measures sponsored by the administration have no connection with economic recovery, and are far more likely to protract the depression than to shorten its course, is what Dr. Wirt has very properly emphasized."

NOT INSTIGATING A "RED" MAN HUNT

GARY, Ind., April 2.—(UP).—Dr. William A. Wirt, Gary educator, denied last night that his recent criticisms of the "brain trust" were caused by a desire to "look under beds for communists."

Wirt's charges that a member of the "brain trust" told him that the "trusters" were plotting a revolution have caused a furore throughout the country. His statement last night was given out by his wife, who has turned their workshop since the charges first were made and had assisted him in an attempt to answer questions. The statement was as follows: "I am not seeing red nor am I going around looking under beds for fascists and communists. I am not engaged in a manhunt. I merely want to call the attention of the nation to the fact that the so-called intellectual radicals are changing our government without a revolution of bloodshed. The intellectual radicals have been out in the open talking for this revolution and working for it. I respect them for their candor. I believe that as American citizens we should be permitted to discuss our government openly and freely and change the form, if we want to do so. "I am merely asking the American people to decide that question. "Do we want to go this par- (Continued on page three)

MANY VIOLENT DEATHS MARK EASTER IN N. C.

Higgason, Asheville Photographer Among Fatalities

RALEIGH, April 2.—Suicides, shooting and automobile accidents during Easter had cost five lives and left eight persons injured in North Carolina last night. At Raleigh, Jean T. Nelson, 28, history professor at N. C. State college, committed suicide early Sunday morning by inhaling carbon monoxide gas through a hose attached to the exhaust of his automobile. Nelson, a native of Ozoan, Arkansas, left two notes, one expressing a wish that his body be cremated and the other saying, "I am a nervous wreck."

"All my life I have been a loyal and active Democrat. I am still 100 per cent Democrat and will remain so through November, the Ehringhaus-Winborne-Pless machine to the contrary notwithstanding. But I deplore the fact that the present state Democratic leadership has failed to live up to the glorious record of the party in the past, and that the governor is forced to invoke the doctrine of party regularity to shield himself from criticism rather than permit his acts and leadership to speak for themselves. And if I must become a 'mugwump' in order to criticize the governor, then I willingly assume that role rather than become a rubber stamp Democrat. And I believe there are many more views in this respect at that, unless all signs fail, in fact, that unless all signs fail, North Carolina, after January 1, 1934, will have at least one 'mugwump' solicitor. "And since I am now a 'mugwump,' and 'mugwumping' is my proper place in the party, I charge the administration at Raleigh with sending the word down the line that the officials and guards at the state prison camps are expected to vote for Mr. Pless. "The glad tidings have already been received at the Henderson county camp."
