TIFFENING OF U.S. POLICY NOW SEEN

TOKYO, Oct. 28. (UP)—The Japanese foreign office intends to make an early reply to the United States note protesting "arbitrary and illegal" Japanese tactics affecting American interests in China, it was understood today. While there was no official indication of what the answer might be, it was expected that it would reflect attention to realities and changes in China during hostilities and point out that the "open door" policy based on pre-war conditions in the far east is untenable under present conditions. The American note, delivered Oct. 6 and made public in the United States yesterday, was referred to Japanese morning newspapers today. It was the first time Japanese business circles learned of the American complaint. The flushed note got little attention in the general public, which was engaged in celebrating the return of Hankow, provisional metropolis, by the Japanese.

TRADE REPRISALS VISIONED HERE

By GERRY ROBICHAUD
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (UP)—The United States today awaited reply to a new sharply-worded note to Japan demanding that it cease "arbitrary and illegal" tactics which stifle American trade and restrict the rights of American nationals in captured Chinese territory.

The note, which was delivered Oct. 6, but kept secret until yesterday, did not say what steps the country will take if Japan fails to comply with the fresh demands. It did say, however, that the United States is finding it increasingly difficult to "reconcile" its current trade situation with "open door" pledges of the Japanese in the past and added that early reply would be "helpful" in the relations between the two powers.

Experts said that the message is one of the bluntest to go forward from the state department in years. They regarded it and President Roosevelt's equally pointed warning to dictators yesterday night that this country will not permit outsiders to interfere with settlement of controversies in the western hemisphere as a clear indication of a change of this nation's foreign policy.

There was strong feeling in quarters that the note, which was demanded that the traditional "open door" policy to China be maintained, was prompted by increased pressure from American businessmen in the far east and notably in anticipation of the fall of Canton and Hankow with a consequent extension of trade relations to South China.

HUNGARY AGREES TO ARBITRATION PLAN

BUDAPEST, Oct. 28. (UP)—Hungary last night agreed to Czechoslovakia's demands that Germany and Italy decide whether any other powers should be called in to arbitrate a settlement of the Czech-Hungarian territorial conflict.

Hungary's abandonment of insistence that Poland, her staunch supporter, be included on a court of arbitration was revealed in a note delivered to the Prague government last night in an effort to restore the broken-down negotiations.

Political quarters in Budapest said the new exchange of notes appeared to be a step toward eventual agreement on a new frontier. Differences remain, however, because of the Czech's refusal to permit plebiscites in "doubtful" areas of racial population in Slovakia and Ruthenia.

Hungary's new note proposed that a mixed Czech-Hungarian commission of military experts meet immediately to arrange the cession to Hungary of areas of (Continued on page four.)
