THE GLOBE: A Congressional, Agricultural and Literary Newspaper.

THE approach of Congress calls out the Annual Prospectus of the Globe Establishment.

The time is full of interest. The coming in of a new Administration—the consequent breaching of a new policy touching the internal concerns of the country—the new and most important issues arising oun ry—the new and most important from the late vast succession to the public domain, and the great national shjects associated with it—and the great national shjects associated with time the difficulty in our relations with France, and the great national sujects associated with the he impending difficulty in our relations with France, and the possible complication of our affairs with the routless of Europe,—compile to create great expec-lation as to the proceedings of the next Congress.— The approaching Session will probably continue till ate in the summer of 1850. The debates, from the igitation of so many questions of vital interest to the tepublic, will draw forth all the talent of the National Legislature. To bring its deliberations home to he people, on each succeeding day, while measure re maturing, is, in effect, to bring the whole nation at role to the remotest parts of the Union, forms a subfig opinion which reacts upon Congress and controls its decisions.

To become a useful instrument, however, but the remotest parts of the Union, forms a subfig opinion which reacts upon Congress and controls its decisions.

WILLIAM T. BAIN S. A.

To become a useful instrument, however humble, o assist the working of the admirable nunchinery of ur popular institutions, is the ambition of the con-acter of the Globe. Extraordinary preparations are heretofare been made to meet the increasing emands of our rapidly-improving and growing coun-

The Globe Press has already enlisted the ablest Reporters yet known to Congress; its materials and nachinery are of the best sort; and the exclusive de-Reporters yet known to Congress; its intalerials and archinery are of the best sort; and the exclusive descision of the individual who for so many years has nade it his study to embody and publish the labors of Congress, gives reason to hope that an advance will be made to the accomplishment of this undersking commensurate with its increased importance. But the accumulation of expense consequent on the additional number of Reporters required—the extra harges incurred in printing at night the debates of his precading day—the vast addition made to the unseepublished by the protracted sessions and the uller reports given,—will render our enterprise a ulture, unless Congress shall so far patronize it as to secone a purchaser of such portion of the daily sheets such, as shall contribute to make the reports that if them. The undersigned has ventured on the reparation he has made for the next Session, in the xpectation that Congress will subscribe for as many any sheets for each Member, at the subscription rice, as will, in part, defray the expense of reports. rice, as will, in part, defray the expense of reportrice, as will, in part, defray the expense of reporting, and give their circulation as Congressional decuments in their several districts.
