There was the usual manoeuvring for position at the start, the Columbia getting a bit the worst of the game, crossing the line thirteen seconds ahead of the Shamrock, and therefore giving her rival the coveted opportunity of blanketing the leader, and which the Shamrock was not slow in using. Then ensued a luffing match, Captain Sycamore endeavoring to keep the Shamrock dead astern of the Columbia, and that vessel striving to get clear of the blanketing of the Shamrock. The challenger's greater sail area soon began to tell, and gradually she lessened the distance be-

Nearing the mark the Shamtock drew considerably in the lead, and, taking in balloon jib and spinnaker as she swung around the point, found, as the Columbia followed her around, that she had gained one minute and four seconds in the run down the wind and that she had then but six seconds of time allowance to overcome in the thresh to windward. "I was terribly disappointed, for Shamrock had led me to centre my hopes in this third race. With two against us success or even further contest depended on winning to-day's race, an event of which I felt certain throughout the more than four hours of the race until that last sudden change. It was enough to take the neart out of any man.

"However, I would rather retain the riendship and respect of the American people than lift that cup, and what that means you must know. "In regard to the contest for the America's Cup I feel that the Shamrock put up a good fight, a better fight than has any other boat that ever crossed with intent to take back the cup. I believe the race to-cay was the closest, especially at the finish, of any ever sailed in these contests. We brought over our best and did our best. There is little else to say.

"Whether I shall ever challenge again it is too early to say. I do not know what I may do in that regard or what will be done with the Shamrock II., but it is not true that she will remain here to race next spring."

The Evidence Presented by the Witnesses of the Judge Advocate.

A Number of Facts Have Been Established, But Some of the Charges

Have Falled of Proof. Washington, D. C .- The evidere which has been offered by the Judge

Advocate in the Schley Court of Inquiry has established a number of facts, and the state of the case is now about as follows: 1. It is charged against Schley that when he was sent to look for the Spanish fleet he delayed unnecessari-

Rear-Admiral Sampson, some of which told him to go to Santiago, and others to remain at Cienfuegos. It is also proved that a secret code of communication with the Cubans, arranged by Captain McCalla, which was known to Rear-Admiral Sampson, was not communicated to Schley, and that if he had known this code he could have ascertained in a few hours that the Spaniards were not there and have gone on to Santiago. 2. It is charged that when he did go to Santiago his progress was slow. It has been proved that his larger ships did not make the speed they might have made. It has also been proved that the smaller vessels could not go any faster than they did, and that Schley accommodated the speed of the squadron to these rather than abandon them. It is now a question of the court whether Schley was right in this, or whether he should have left his small ships to the mercies of the Spaniards.

3. It is charged that off Santiago he turned back on the pretense that he could not coal at sea, when it was quite possible to do so. On this point there has been a conflict of testimony among the Judge Advocate's witnesses. It has been shown that a few hours after he turned back the weather moderated, and he then returned to Santiago and coaled.

4. It is claimed that the three scout ships which were detailed to teen persons have died where she lived stay at Santiago and find out if the Spaniards were there met Schley as he was coming to Santiago and told him that the Spaniards were undoubtedly there, but that notwithstanding this Serves a Year Before the Authorities Dishe made the "retrograde movement," mentioned. Mrs. A. J. Witwer, of Dayton, Ohio, is Alleged to Have Poisoned Four Husbands, Five Children, a Sister and Four Other Persons - Police Are Making an Investigation.

Dayton, Ohio.-Mrs. A. J. Witwer, a widow, residing in this city, was arrested by the police at the instigation ly at Cienfuegos in spite of orders to of the Coroner, and was held pending go to Santiago. It has been proved an investigation into most serious that he spent about three days there, and that he received dispatches from charges. Mrs. Witwer, the police say, is suspected of fourteen murders, the list including four husbands, one sister and four members of different familles in which she was employed as housekeeper.

The last supposed victim was her sister, Mrs. Anna Pugh, who died a week ago under mysterious circumstances. An autopsy, performed at the request of Mrs. Witwer's mother, who came here from Detroit, is said to have disclosed the presence of arsenic and copperas in the stomach.

Following closely upon the death of her first husband, Frederick Schweger, came, according to the police department data, the death of two children. The second husband died suddenly several years after the wedding, and the children of this marriage died in rapid succession. Her last husband, A. J. Witwer, died last April. In each instance death was somewhat sudden and all were strangely alike.

The prisoner is forty-seven years old, and formerly lived in Middletown, this State. She has two sons in the Philippines, and a sister, it is stated, in a New York asylum. No conceivable motive for the suspected crimes has been disclosed. Drugs which were found in the house occupied by Mrs. Witwer are in the possession of the police and will be examined.

Mrs. Witwer says she is entirely innocent. While she admits that fourshe says that the deaths were natural.
