A wreck at Macon this county on the S. A. L. Ry. occurred Friday evening of last week. The mail train going north ran into the rear end of a material train that was taking the side track. No one was killed in this altogether uncalled for wreck. The engineer was badly hurt by jumping and some few others badly shaken up, but no one seriously hurt. The mail train engine was derailed and badly injured, about a half dozen flat cars were torn into kindling wood and trains delayed about four hours. The flagman, who was sent up the track to warn the mail train with a large number of human beings thereon, was so careless as to stop to talk with an acquaintance, and in those few seconds the mail train came dashing around a sharp curve and did not see the danger until too late to avert it. Had that flagman gone a few yards further with his flag, there would have been no damage done. Several parties from Warrenton drove over to Macon to see the wreck. The hurt were cared for at the Egerton hotel by Dr. M. P. Perry.
