Farmers Institute.

It is quite certain that a large majority of our farmers are not getting as good result from their farming operations as is possible without increasing either labor or expense.

Take for instance our great crop, corn. Do the 2,750,000 acres planted in corn produce what they should? Can we not increase the yield and the net profit by better methods? Do we select the seed in the best way? Do we plant the best varieties? Are the right kinds and amounts of fertilizers used and applied in the best way?

As long as the average yields for the State remains below fifteen bushels per acre it is certain that the average man still has much to learn about growing corn and it is probable that the best corn grower can also learn something still improve his methods?

The purpose of the farmers institute is to discuss just such questions relating to corn culture and similar questions about all other crops and farming operations. If the farmers of the county will come out and discuss such questions with a view of increasing their knowledge and improving their farming this institute may be of untold value to the county.

Get a free sample of Dr. Shoop's "Health Coffee" at our store. If real coffee disturbs your stomach, your heart or kidneys, then try this clever Coffee imitation. Dr. Shoop has closely matched Old Java and Mocha Coffee in flavor and taste, yet it has not a single grain of real coffee in it.

Many of our fond hopes are inflated with hot air.

I'll stop your pain free. To show you first—before you spend a penny—what my Pink Pain Tablets can do, I will mail you free, a Trial Package of them—Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets, Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, Period pains, etc., are due alone to blood congestion. Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets simply kill pain by coaxing away the unnatural blood pressure.

Warrenton Awake.

Much Building Activity in the Town.

Warrenton, N. C., June 20.—Warrenton has a building boom on, and street improvements are going forward as never before in the history of this good old town, inhabited by as lightened, law-abiding citizenship as may be found in any community.

The large new and handsome brick court house, to cost about twenty thousand dollars, is rapidly nearing completion. Court is being held up stairs while work is going on.

There is no town in the State for its size that has a handsomer or better newly fitted postoffice than Warrenton. It has only been occupied since the first of May. It was built and is owned by the Bank of Warren. Adjoining the postoffice W. A. Miles & Co. are building a new brick hardware store, a basement and two stories.

The ground is being prepared upon which a new municipal building will be erected. This is to be a large and commodious building. On the ground floor will be the market, fire department and station house. On the upper floor will be opera house, mayor's office and all other necessary apartments.

The Warrenton Railroad Co. has purchased a lot in the northern part of the town, upon which they will begin soon to erect a massive passenger station and freight warehouse.

The first of last month Warrenton voted a special tax of twenty cents on the hundred dollars, for the purpose of raising funds to build a public school, to cost about $1,500 to $2,000, work upon which will begin soon so as to have it ready for the opening session next fall.

Dr. King is renovating and otherwise improving his brick building on the corner of Main and Market streets.

Beginning from the depot, running South on the east side, a new granolithic sidewalk has been put down, from ten to twelve feet wide, and when completed will be about one mile long. There are a good many other improvements going on in the town that cannot be mentioned in this communication, with such fine water, pure air, good people, and splendid farming lands all around, there is no reason why Warrenton should not build up and go forward more rapidly within the next two or three years than she has in the last ten.

HE HAD HIS DOSE.

An Incident of the Terrible Battle of Montmirail.

In February, 1814, the French army made a heroic stand against the allied forces of Europe, and in one week relieved for a short but glorious period its lost prestige. Though composed largely of half raw recruits, it escaped from the very center of 250,000 foes, attacked an army of 70,000 men, won 4 battles and captured 68 cannon, 5 generals and 25,000 prisoners.

Bancel did not at first pay any attention to him. By and by he noticed the man again, still in the same posture, tranquilly smoking his pipe.

"What are you doing there?" cried the surgeon.

"Smoking," answered the man. "Does the major forbid me to smoke?" "What!" returned the officer. "Aren't you ashamed to be loafing around here while your comrades are covering themselves with glory?"

Lincoln's Grocery.

Result of One Partner's Hunger and the Other Partner's Thirst.

A giant in stature, he was as awkward as he was strong. His rustic appearance was enhanced by an ill fitting suit of homespun. Thus at the head of the ox team he made his debut in the outer world, without means, without education, without influence. This may seem a sorry beginning, but let it be remembered that if on that day he had graduated from Harvard in a fashionable coat the gates of history would probably have been closed against him.

Mr. Lincoln's first business venture resulted in downright failure. He formed a partnership with one Berry, under the firm name of Berry & Lincoln, to carry on a grocery, for the purchase price of which the firm note was given. Berry was a jolly, irresponsible soul, who was born thirsty and who gave his undivided attention to that part of the stock known as "wet groceries."

It is related that Mr. Lincoln bought a barrel of a customer, in the bottom of which, among other rubbish, was found a copy of "Blackstone's Commentaries." This was a great find for the law student, but as the book there after engrossed his attention the grocery business collapsed.

A "Jumbie Bird." In the West Indies is found a bird called the sunset bird, because half an hour before sunset and half an hour before sunrise it utters its peculiar cry of "Soleil coucher!"

Homemade Stump Puller. Make your own stump machine. Go into the woods and pick out a sapling of beech or ironwood or other strong timber fifteen or twenty feet long and seven or eight inches through at the butt. Fasten the log to the stump with a stout chain. Sometimes you can get a good hitch around some big root. Hitch the team to the outer end of the lever and drive around the stump. The twisting will take out a pretty good sized stump and do it quite easily.—Farm Journal.

Call Early For Good Ones. At the end of a big ball one of the guests went into the cloakroom at 2 in the morning and put on his things, and the attendant came forward with a coat.

The Human Brain. The human brain has not steadily increased since paleolithic times, and as Professor Lankester tells us, by way of concrete illustration, the brain of Isaac Newton was not much larger than that of an Australian black.—London Outlook.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Seeding Rape.

The farmer with a few head of hogs should grow an acre or so of rape. This forage is especially fine for summer pasture after clover and other grasses have died, says the Chicago Inter Ocean.

The Cheshire Hog.

The Cheshire swine resemble the Middle Yorkshire in form. It is a medium sized breed, although there are numerous records of pigs dressing over 400 pounds at nine months of age. It is a long bodied animal and weighs more than appears at first sight.

Selecting a Breed of Hogs.

The well known swine breeder, A. J. Forejoy of Illinois, says that the large early maturing type of hog is the work of many years' breeding, feeding, care and management and that the first 100 pounds of such pigs cost much less than the next 100 and that the cost of food in supporting them is but one-fourth as much for the first 100 pounds as the fourth 100 cost.

The risk is also much less in growing hogs that can be put on the market at the age of six to eight months than in having to carry them along well over the winter. To get this or a heavier weight better raise two crops of pigs a year from the sows and sell them at a light weight than one crop carried on to a heavier weight.

An English Dairy Cow Ration.

An English farmer's dairy ration for a herd of high class Jersey cows is as follows: During the summer each cow is fed daily, in addition to grass, two pounds of crushed oats, four pounds of wheat bran, two pounds of cottonseed cake, two pounds of bean meal, fifteen pounds of mangel, ten pounds of cut hay and eight pounds of long hay per head.

Treatment For Barbed Wire Cuts. The following is said to have been proved an excellent treatment for barbed wire cuts: Wash the cut thoroughly with castile soap, using tepid water. After washing it spray the wound with a weak solution of carbolic acid and then dust over it all the fresh air slaked lime that will adhere.

Fecondity of Swine. Professor Bonomi of the institution of animal industry says his investigations show that the sows of the Poland-China breed have increased in fecundity during the past twenty years. A ten year experiment shows that, while the Poland-China litters average 7.52, the Duroc-Jerseys average 9.26.—Farmers Advocate.

Poultry Notes. Lettuce affords a quick growing and choice green food for young chicks, and green food is essential to their welfare.

Do not allow ducks to have access to water only to drink until they have passed the downy stage. Put sand and gravel in the bottom of the drinking vessel.

Michael's Interpretation. An old Irish gardener, meeting his employer, touched his finger to the tip of his cap and said: "Good morning, yer honor. Oi had a fine frame of ye last night."

Worked the Mistress. Here is a good story of the dangers of giving gratuitous information: A servant wounded her hand with the prong of a fork. In reply to her mistress' inquiries she explained that she was very nervous lest the wound should become inflamed, as she believed the fork to be nickel plated.

AN INNOCENT HOAX.

Canon MacColl's Letters, For Which Gladstone Got Credit.

The late Canon MacColl was a tiny man with a tiny voice, yet he was regarded as a giant among controversialists, and his voice reached to Europe. His voice proceeded from behind a mask, which men thought concealed the features of a greater man. His letters to the Times denouncing Germany in general and Bismarck in particular over the Franco-Prussian war were signed Scrutator. They were read with the closest attention, for everybody outside Printing House square seems to have believed that they were the letters of Gladstone. In this belief European statesmen poured missives upon the author of the letters, letting light into the strangest official secrets and treating him with the profoundest deference. The letters were sent to the office of the Times, and great was the enjoyment of the canon as he read them.

Possibly Gladstone did not know that he was regarded as the author of the letters. Be that as it may, he was as much in the dark as the rest of the world. Max Muller was among those most deceived and in one of his letters during the controversy quaintly apologized for, seeming deficiency in his argument, pleading that, while he used "only a wooden sword," he was called upon to withstand in argument "one of the most powerful athletes of our time," one who "wielded the very brand Excalibur." The "most powerful athlete" whom Muller had in mind was, of course, Gladstone. The German emperor was as effectively puzzled and caused a letter to be written suggesting that the time had come when the writer might raise his visor and reveal his identity. The canon still lay low, enjoying the fun. Bismarck had contemplated suing the author of the letters for libel, but when he was eventually let into the secret anger had disappeared, and he sent him a cordial invitation to Friedrichsruh.—St. James' Gazette.

Just a Difference In Sound.

The difference between English and American methods of pronunciation often produces misunderstanding. The other day an Englishman who had just arrived here went to the Waldorf-Astoria. He was a bit lost for a minute just where to find the register book, the Waldorf office being divided into several departments, one for the "information bureau," another for "letters" and so on. The Englishman finally stopped at one of the departments and inquired whether it was the desk of the hotel "clerk." "No," was the reply; "this is the Waldorf-Astoria hotel." Through saying "clerk" instead of "clerk" the young man at the desk had taken the Englishman to mean Hotel Clark.—New York Times.

Common Spiders.

Spiders are more varied and plentiful than is commonly supposed. In almost every locality in the country at least 300 or 400 species may be collected. In summer spiders abound on all kinds of plants, from grass to trees. It is only when the webs are covered with dew that they become especially conspicuous. The webs are then no more plentiful, but I often hear the question asked on dewy mornings or foggy days, "What makes so many more cobwebs than usual today?" The collecting moisture makes especially noticeable the flat webs on the grass. These are made by members of the agelenidae family of spiders. Each has a noticeable tube at one side in which the spider lives.—St. Nicholas.
