Trustee's Sale of Land.

By virtue of the power and authority conferred upon me by a certain Deed of Trust executed by Charles D. Saint-sing and Adelia Saintsing, his wife, on the 25th day of March 1903, and duly registered in the Office of the Registry of Deeds of Warren county, State of North Carolina, in book No. 67, page 433, default having been made in the conditions of said Deed of Trust, I will, at the request of the holder and owner of the bonds secured in said Deed of Trust, on the 27th day of April 1908, at 12 o'clock M., sell at the Court House door in the town of Warrenton in said Warren county, at public auction to the highest bidder for Cash, all that certain tract or parcel of land in said Warren county, and bounded and described in said Deed of Trust as follows, viz: Beginning at a stone, Davy Davis's corner in Billy Saint-sing's line, thence N. 48 E. a distance of 14 1/2-10 chains to a birch, thence N. 81 E. 21 3/4 chains to a corner stone in the line of C. W. Cole, Sr., and C. W. Cole, Jr. thence N. 22 1/2-chains to a stone, corner of C. W.
Cole, Jr. in Mrs. Perdue's line, thence N. 87 W. 32 1/2-10 chains to a stone, corner of J. Boswell in D. R. Mustian's line near Mrs. Perdue's corner, thence S. 13 E. 16 chains to Parham's corner in Davis's line, thence with Davis's line 8 chains to the beginning, containing One Hundred and Five acres, more or less. Said sale will be made to satisfy the balance of the debt secured in said Deed of Trust. This the 27th day of March 1908.

Aunt Sallie Allen.

Aunt Sallie Allen was one of the most remarkable women I have ever known. She was the daughter of the late William Watson, of Warren, and the sister of the four Watson brothers, who during the last half century occupied such a large place in the affairs of Warren county. One of these brothers, Mr. Lewis N.
Watson, of Axtell, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Dowlin, of Halifax, yet lingers with us. Three brothers, Messrs. William, John and Thomas Watson, and one or two sisters have passed over to the other side.

Aunt Sallie Allen was the wife of the late Edmond Allen. She was born in 1809, and died in 1900. She left five sons, Messrs.
Nat., Robert, Peter, Austin and Walter Allen, and two daughters, Messdames Sallie Rodwell and Cary Davis, and a large number of grand children and several great-grand children. She early gave promise of those striking characteristics of mind and heart which distinguished her through life. There lies before me the following certificate which indicates that even as a child she was bright and studious. Here it is:
"This may certify that Miss Sallie Watson has by her assiduity this week merited the first honors in her class.

a glimpse of her childhood life in the long ago. T. J. TAYLOR.

Arbor Day.

The suggestions given in this bulletin for a lesson in the observance of Arbor Day have been made by W. W. Ashe, Forester of the Geological Survey. It is to be desired that this day shall be more generally observed and that our young people shall be brought to a realization of the value of our forests and the beauty and need of trees for shade and decorative purposes. Arbor day is May 10, and how soon many of our school yards could be made places of beauty if on each Arbor Day the school would plant a certain number of trees or shrubs and then care for them during the year.

While the same sentiment which is attached to the observance of Arbor Day in the scantily forested western states cannot be applied in a well wooded State like North Carolina, yet the observaance here of such a day has its significance. Arbor Day in North Carolina could be set aside for the school children to learn of the great natural gift which we have in the forest to the well-being and wealth of our people.

The right way to plant a tree, how the roots and crown should be, the manner of pressing the earth firmly about the roots, and how to prune the branches—this is a manual exercise but one which it is well for everyone to be able to perform.

The life of the tree is closely associated with the smallest roots which absorb moisture and the need for preserving these when transplanting should be emphasized. The moisture the tree must have, its use of manure (leaf, mould and humus), how it grows and bears its fruit are elementary to the fundamental truths of the relation of the forest to the happiness and progress of our people.

Next to the very soil itself, which in North Carolina was originally nearly all forest covered, the forest has been the chief source of livelihood for our people.
If it at one time temporarily barred the progress of the farm, it yielded at the same time a revenue in furnishing both warmth and shelter. When the farming land became worn and thin or gullied, the thickets of pine again covered the soil, restoring its fertility and making it productive. The relation of the forest to the farm is paramount. It is so intimate as to be almost inseparable. On the farm the uses of wood are manifold, for fuel, fencing, building tools and barrels and crates for shipping.

Within itself, moreover, the forest sustains a vast industry, employing more than 20,000 of our men in handling and sawing and reconverting its lumber and other products. The lumber is used for building our towns and then it keeps the factories of many of them busy, changing the rough lumber into furniture, as is the case at High Point and Lexington; or turning wood into pulp for paper, as is done in the mountains at Canton; or making tanning materials from wood, which is done at Old Fort.

But even this is not the limit of the direct usefulness of the forest.
The value of the many rivers of North Carolina for manufacturing depends largely upon the uniformity of their flow, upon the absence of great floods, and the shortness of the period of low water, and upon how small a quantity of sand and earth is washed from the soil of our hills and mountains. Great uneven-ness in the flow of the streams makes it difficult to use the power.
Large amounts of earth in the water fill up the ponds and reservoirs and prevent the water being stored. The forest is very important in adding to the usefulness of the rivers. The more forest there is on the streams and the thicker the sponge of leaves and litter on the ground beneath the trees the more uniform is the stream flow and the freer the water from sand and earth. And this is true not only of the big rivers but the small streams as well. The bottoms along many of them, at one time cultivated in corn, are now covered with sand bars or have been washed into deep gullies by the floods as the influence of the forest has been lessened by burning and destroying its humus in addition to clearing the land.

It is from these thoughts that the real lesson of Arbor Day can be drawn. The forest is one of our greatest and most valuable natural gifts and one which, when destroyed, lessens our prosperity, reduces our sources of wealth, and brings great damage to other industries; while it is not possible to replace it when once destroyed on steep and poor land except after a great many years and at great expense. As such a resource, it should be wisely used and in such a way that young trees may always come up in the forest land to take the place of those that are cut. It is important to the owner that every acre of his land should be producing something of value, and since in many parts of the State we cannot grow grass on land which has become washed or worn, or which is very steep, such land should be planted in trees that it may be growing something of use and value, for idle lands like idle hands are a reproach to both owner and State. And since the forest is one of the primary sources of wealth like our water-powers and our fisheries, the State should seek by wise laws to perpetuate them, and we should try to retain their ownership and use so far as possible among the people who live in the State, and have their homes here, in order that the wealth that the forests create as they rise in value, may remain at home; and we should look forward with the hope that eventually the greater portion of our hardwoods will be manufactured into finished products within the State, keeping skilled men busy, and building cities where only towns stand to-day; and that the wood will not go out as mere rough lumber to supply the factories of other States.

These are all profitable suggestions for Arbor Day, and will serve to show what the true significance of the day should be; the relation of our forests to our wealth and prosperity.

GOVERNOR C. B. AYCOCK

Strong Letter Favoring the Nomination of Locke Craig.

[From News and Observer, Mar. 27.]

GOLDSBORO, N. C., Mar. 25, '08.

DEAR SIR:—It has been my habit ever since I became a voter to support somebody for nomination for various offices. I am always for somebody and never against any Democrat. This time I am for the nomination of Mr. Locke Craig. I am supporting him because I know him and have known him for thirty years.
He and I were classmates, and I boarded for one year at his mother's table. I know the man in his personal and private life; I know his public career. He is a gentleman, a patriot and a statesman. He has the courage of his convictions. He has the unselfishness of a genuine love for the people. No toil has ever been too arduous for him to undertake in behalf of Democracy. He made the first speech which was made in the year of our revolution, 1898.
It was his speech which set the pace for that campaign. I made the second speech from the same platform with him, and followed his footsteps. His speech was along the line of appealing to the old Democracy and going to the people on the bad record made by the Republican party. He frankly and openly avowed the thought that a straight fight in behalf of Democracy would redeem the State. From the hour he made that speech until the election in November, 1898, I never ceased to believe for one moment that we would win the great victory which we achieved that year.
While he was going to and fro through the State awakening all our people, his own people in Buncombe county nominated him for the Legislature and elected him, and he came to the Legislature in 1899 and rendered most valuable service in perfecting the Constitutional Amendment, which has already accomplished so much good for the State. But the adoption of the amendment by the Legislature was but the beginning of one of the greatest fights that this State has ever seen. The Amendment was greatly misunderstood by the people at first and the Republicans made a most adroit appeal to the unlettered white voters and sought to convince them that the adoption of the Amendment would disfranchise them and their children. No one contributed more to the removal of this difficulty than Locke Craig. As I recall it, he began his canvass in Buncombe county in January or February of 1900, and from then until the November election he worked without ceasing. When I reached the mountains in May of that year, on my canvass, I found that his splendid work had preceded me and the Democracy was fast uniting in support of the Amendment. When the election came, the fruit of his work in that country was seen from the fact that the Amendment came near carrying the mountain district, and I had carried it by a small majority; a thing which no one would have predicted in January, 1900. Mr. Craig is a true Democrat, believing in the right of the people to make nominations and platforms; but when the platform is made and he is elected upon it, no number of men, however great, could make him vary one iota from the requirements of it. He is a liberal and broad-minded man. He loves his friends, and has no enemies to hate. In him as Governor, I believe we shall have not only good government, but good government with a united party, carrying out every pledge in the platform and steady-ly growing in the confidence of the people.

I sincerely hope to see him nominated. That he would be elected follows as a matter of course. Very truly yours, C. B. AYCOCK.

of Wisconsin, notwithstanding, Milwaukee lives there.
About 45 per cent. of the population of Minnesota live under prohibitory law.
Out of 99 counties, only 22 grant liquor license in the state of Iowa.
North Dakota has Constitutional prohibition. She has the greatest wealth, per capita, in her saving banks of any state in the union, it being $100.
In the East, there is Maine, the mother state of prohibition. Despite illicit selling and encouragement to nullification upon the part of politicians of both parties, the people of the state acknowledge the benefit of the system.
In New Hampshire, 6 out of 11 cities and 183 out of the 224 towns are dry.
Out of 246 towns in the state of Vermont, 221 have voted dry and three-fourths of the people live under prohibitory law.
Massachusetts is fast going dry in the large cities, including Lynn with 78,000 and Worcester with its 130,000 inhabitants.
Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey and New York have done but little for the cause of temperance, but the work is going on there by the temperance forces and it will be only a question of time when this territory will too, be claimed for prohibition.
About 99 per cent. of North Carolina is now under prohibitory law. On the 26th of May the people of this State will have the privilege of expressing themselves on this great moral question.
Friends, we cannot afford to take a backward step. We cannot afford to undo what the good women of this State have been working for and praying for for many years.
Let us go to the polls on the 25th of May and stamp out this evil and thereby show to our good women that their efforts have not been in vain.

ELBERON CLEANINGS.

We are having lovely spring weather now, and the farmers have their plows running in every direction.
Miss Robbie Toon, from Charlotte, is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. O. L. Rowland.
Mr. Tom Reeks was a pleasant visitor in our midst last week.
Messrs. Wilson Aiken and Rickelsimer, book agents from the western part of the State, are canvassing this territory now, and making their headquarters at Mr. B. S. Feilds.
Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Goodwyn, of Cheraw, S. C., after spending a week at Capt. Goodwyn's left last Friday for Norfolk.
The public school at this place closed on Mar. 27th, and our most excellent teacher, Miss Tulla Reeks, has left for her home near Macon. The school was well attended the past session and Miss Reeks gave great satisfaction.
Miss Maude Duke, from Mar-maduke, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Eugene Reavis.
We are glad to see the wave of Prohibition broadening and strengthening in our country.
May every ripple grow to be a billow, and under the efforts of our silver-tongued orator, Hon.
Tasker Polk, may our noble old State come out calm, and peaceful and DRY.

Death Was On His Heels.

Jeane P. Morris, of Skippers, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906.
He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declare consumption had me, and death was on my heels. Then I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately, and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and lung disease in all the world." Sold
