Judge and jury should feel as much bound to do their duty as a soldier on duty. When they try cases as in the sight of God, with no fear of man or the devil, then a man who commits crime in high life will be tried as a common criminal. Then there will be fewer murders and other high class crimes and misdemeanors and more respect for the courts and for our laws. Let the mills which grind out justice grind slow, if you please, but grind to powder.—Albemarle Enterprise.

A Worker's Song.

It is not for me to order
The work that I have to do;
My eyes must follow the Master,
And ever His will pursue.
And therefore I wait and listen,
For as soon as I hear His voice,
Forward I press with gladness,
And even in toil rejoice.
Sometimes I am growing weary,
And by troublous cares oppress,
And the Master, in his pity,
Dismisses me to rest.
And, again, when I have not earned it,
In His kindly, great reward,
He loads me not with wages,
But manifold reward. —Selected.

RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas our wise and unerring Heavenly Father has called from the scenes of earth our beloved brother deacon, J. J. Rodwell, who for forty years was a consistent member and for thirty years a faithful deacon of Gardner's Baptist Church, and

Whereas, we desire to place on record our high appreciations of our beloved brother. Therefore be it resolved.

1st. That we humbly recognize the will of our Heavenly Father in the death of brother Rodwell, and rejoice to believe that our great loss is his eternal gain.
2nd. That we record our undying remembrance of him as a good citizen, a kind neighbor, a consistent church member and a faithful deacon, whose pleasure was in the discharge of the duties of the office, and was always present at the meeting of the deacon with kind advice and charitable views until the infirmities of age prevented.
3rd. That these resolutions be inscribed on a page in our record book set apart to the memory of our deceased brother, that a copy be furnished the bereaved family and that they be published in THE RECORD and the Biblical Recorder.

W. A. PHARM,

Approved by the Church in conference.

Good Representatives.
The unanimity with which the Congressmen in North Carolina have been nominated as their own successors speaks well for them. All the while this paper has favored returning Congressmen for several terms at least, unless they prove untrue to the trust reposed in them by the people who make up their constituency. It takes a man some time to become fully acquainted with the duties and the demands of his work as a representative member of the American Congress, in some respects the greatest deliberative body in the world. And while a member of that great National Council fills well his position, attends closely to his duties and carefully looks after the interests of the people whom he represents we see no need for being in a hurry to turn aside and place the interests of the people in the hands of another. We do not wish to be understood as advocating for any one a lifetime in office; for we do not believe that a public office belongs to any man; and so rotation of office is a fair thing, and we believe it should be practiced. Generally there are as good and capable men left in the ranks as are chosen for positions of trust. We did not start out to discuss long or short terms of office, but to make note of the high compliment which the people of North Carolina are paying their Congressmen by nominating them as their own successors.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

Irish Economy.
"Begorra," said Patsy "O' couldn't pay me five shillin's foine, and O' had to go to jail for six days."
"An' how much did yez spend to get drunk?" asked Mike rather sarcastically.
"Oh, 'bout five shillin's."
"Yez fool, if yez had not spent yez five shillin's for drink yez'd 'a' had yer five shillin's to pay yer foine wid."—Everybody's Magazine.

Sale of the Portis Gold Mine.
The Portis gold mine was sold on Monday last by Mrs. Lelia A. Sturges to A. J. Overton, of Salisbury, the consideration being $150,000. 933 acres were conveyed, one thousand dollars being paid in cash, five thousand dollars to be paid on November 1st, 1908, and on the first of February, 1909 the balance of $144,000 is to be paid. The agreement stipulates that upon the failure of the buyer to make good his payment of $5,000 on Nov. 1st, 1908, then the contract becomes null and void. It is gathered from the contract which is on public record in the Register of Deeds office that the purchaser intends installing new machinery and to operate the mine on a large scale.—Louisburg Times, 14th.

BEATEN AT THE START

Nation Will Repudiate President Roosevelt's Candidate—The People Would not Have the Creator, and It Follows That They Will not Accept His Man Friday.

The first paragraph in Taft's letter of acceptance, in which he says he accepts the nomination on a platform to carry out all of Roosevelt's policies, will beat him now before he starts. The Republican party repudiated Roosevelt, despite his insidious efforts to secure the nomination. The nation will repudiate his creature in November. They would not have the creator, and it follows they will not accept his man Friday.

Bryan is going to be elected. All this sophistry about the empty buckets being filled will not deceive the country nor appease the stomach of the pail-bearer. There isn't so far grease enough in the bucket to cover the bottom.

Taft, once esteemed a great judge and an evenly balanced man, has shown by becoming the mouthpiece of Roosevelt that he is neither a great nor a well-balanced man. After traveling all over the world, mingling with all sorts and condition of men, Le appears on the American political stage as a mere understudy of the man who has nearly wrecked the nation, and who only desires Taft's success that he may in reality get what his party and the people made clear he could not get at the ballot box—the power to run the government four years longer.—Nashville, Tenn., American.

ONE WHO LOVED HER.

"The antiquary of The Charlottesville Progress," according to The Petersburg Index-Appeal, "overthrows the claims of The Charlotte, N. C., Observer, that Horace Greeley married a North Carolinian and that the mother of James Madison was a North Carolina woman. The Progress says that Horace Greeley married Mrs. Cheney, who was a Connecticut young woman engaged as a teacher in North Carolina, and whom he first met in New York. The mother of James Madison, according to the same voracious chronicler, was Nellie Conway, of the large and influential family of that name in Lancaster; one of the lower northern neck counties of Virginia." Our only inaccuracy, and this due to a mere slip of the pen, was in saying the "mother" of James Madison when we meant and thought we had written the "wife." His wife was born in North Carolina, May 20th, 1772, three years to a day before the promulgation of the blessed Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence. As for the wife of Horace Greeley we never said and never intended to say that she was a North Carolinian but only that Horace "married in this State." See Observer of Friday, July 17. We knew at the time of the writing that some smarty would read it wrong and try to pick us up. Mrs. Cheney was a teacher at Warrenton, N. C., and Horace came there to marry her.—Charlotte Observer.

Wonderful Growth.
Mr. W. B. LaFar, representing the Gowan Medical Company of Durham, N. C., was in the city this week and favored us with a call. He says he always comes around to the newspaper office—that the newspaper is his best friend. In four years the printer's ink on newspapers has made Gowan's famous in half the States in the Union, and he therefore wants to always see the men who makes them. Gowan's Preparation is an external remedy and he says that he always feels good to know that the mothers use it instead of some of the drug laden dopes that create habit and finally make fiends of those who use them.

Death of Mrs. Lucy S. Clapton.

Lucy Shearin Clapton, wife of W. A. Clapton, died suddenly, July 29, at her home in Henderson, N. C. Her remains were interred in the family burying grounds at her father's, J. L. Shearin, near Vaughan.

The community in which she lived, husband and children are bereft of a good woman, a true friend and a faithful wife and mother. She was a woman of good sense and a beautiful character, and those who knew her best admired her most. She united with the Methodist Church in her girlhood and died in the faith in which she had lived and grown brighter and better. 'Tis sad for those who loved her to know that she is gone; that no more we will see her face, hear her voice and know that she is with us here, but from that other shore we know she is watching and waiting for that day when we too will pass over and clasp hands on the other side.

Yes, on that shore she now is resting, watching, waiting for us there, in a world of bliss eternal free from every sorrow, care, To her mortal being, gone forever, we must sadly say good bye, But in memory it will never, no will never, never die.

OUR EX-PRESIDENTS.

First Time Since Jefferson the Country Has Been Without One.

For the first time since the beginning of Jefferson's administration this country has no living ex-president. Washington died in the third year of John Adams' administration, but Adams lived through the administrations of Jefferson, Madison and Monroe, and died on the same day as Thomas Jefferson, July 4, 1826, in the administration of John Quincy Adams. The presidents who succeeded Washington were as a rule, long-lived, and the presidents between Jackson and Lincoln did not serve more than a single term, so that for a considerable period there were three or four ex-presidents living in each presidency.

Lincoln began his administration with five ex-presidents living, viz: Buchanan, Pierce, Fillmore, Tyler and Van Buren. Grant began with four ex-presidents, but in the last year of Hayes' administration there was but one living ex-president, and that was General Grant. In Cleveland's first year, Grant, Hayes and Arthur were the living ex-presidents. During his second term Benjamin Harrison was the only ex-president, and since 1907 Cleveland has held alone the honorary and honorable position of ex-president of the United States.

With the presidency going into younger and more vigorous hands as is the present drift, ex-presidents are likely again to increase in number, but the relative rapidity of their death in recent years suggests that the strain and stress of the presidential office has become a severer tax on the vitality of the incumbent than it was in the earlier years of the republic.—Philadelphia Press.

The Pekin Poor Relation.

"Your pushing me too hard," said Wu Ting Fang to a reporter in San Francisco who was interviewing him. "You are taking advantage of me. You are like the Pekin poor relation: 'One day he met the head of his family in the street. 'Come and dine with us to-night,' the mandarin said graciously. 'Thank you,' said the poor relation. 'But wouldn't to-morrow night do just as well?' 'Yes, certainly. But where are you dining to-night?' asked the mandarin curiously. 'At your house. You see, your estimable wife was good enough to give me to-night's invitation.'—Everybody's Magazine.

The little attacks of stomach trouble and stomach disorders will undoubtedly lead to chronic dyspepsia unless you take something for a sufficient time to strengthen the stomach and give it a chance to get well. If you take Kodol in the beginning the bad attacks of Dyspepsia will be avoided, but if you allow these little attacks to go unheeded it will take Kodol a longer time to put your stomach in good condition again. Get a bottle of Kodol to-day. Sold by Hunter Drug Co.

Heroic Measures Adopted.

The colonel of a volunteer regiment camping in Virginia came across a private on the outskirts of the camp, painfully munching on something. His face was wry and his lips seemed to move only with the greatest effort. "What are you eating?" demanded the colonel.

"Persimmons, sir."
"Good heavens! Haven't you got any more sense than to eat persimmons at this time of the year? They'll pucker the very stomach out of you!"

"I know, sir. That's why I'm eatin' 'em. I'm tryin' to shrink me stomach to fit me rations."—Everybody's Magazine.

While Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup is especially recommended for children, it is, of course, just as good for adults. Children like to take it because it tastes nearly as good as maple sugar. Its laxative principle drives the cold from the system by a gentle, natural, yet copious action of the bowels. Sold by Hunter Drug Co.
