Shirred Bonnets are New.

A charming accessory of the modish evening toilet is the quaint shirred bonnet of silk which has lately been introduced from Paris.
The silk is shirred on reeds which are bent into a half-hoop shape, and the wide brim is filled in with a soft ruffle of lace or tulle. The bonnet is tied under the chin with wide tie-strings of liberty ribbon, the effect being that of the coal-scuttle bonnet of long ago, with added piquancy and charm. Sometimes mousseline de soie is used instead of silk for making the bonnet, tiny bunches of small flowers being introduced among the soft, full puffs of mousseline by way of trimming.—New Idea Woman's Magazine.

BANK GUARANTEEING.

Mr. Taft seems to think or tries to think that the proposition of Mr. Bryan to guarantee the money of depositors is but little short of anarchy. Now Mr.
Taft's plan is for the Government to establish postal savings banks.
By this means which he proposes the depositor will take his money to the Post Office and have it entered in his book like the bank, and the money that the Post Office receives from the depositor will be deposited in the national banks of the country; here is where Mr. Taft's argument is torn to tatters and riddled with shreds. After the Post Office has received this money from the people, they do not turn one dollar of that money over to the banks until they have a guarantee that every dollar will be returned to the Government. Now if the Government demands a guarantee before they will deposit their own money in a national bank, why should not the depositor have a guarantee when he deposits his all in the bank?
It is a well known fact that the different banks that the Government designate as depositories in which the Government funds are deposited for the benefit of circulation guarantee every dollar of it. Now why should not the individual as well as the Government be guaranteed?

This all goes to show that the Republicans have no plea to make to the people and that they have been unable to answer any of the Democratic arguments.

Three Elements of Citizenship.

Every growing ambitious town is composed of those elements.
Those who work patriotically, vigorously and intelligently for advancement; those who are in a state of apathy or indifference, and those who take a curious delight in discouraging the effort of others by ridicule, and by a persistent denial that any progress can or has been accomplished, and by boasts of every other town besides their own. The last class are called croakers, but they are really something worse, for their opposition does not arise simply from despondency but from that unenviable spirit that will neither act itself or suffer others to act.—Mount Olive Tribune.

Farmers Wanted.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14, '08.
Wanted—3,000 practical farmers who would like to own homes of their own. The government has nearly 200,000 acres of land lying under the various irrigation projects throughout the West for which water will be available next season. The farm unit on these projects varies in most cases from 40 to 80 acres of irrigable land, depending upon location. In many sections a tract of grazing land has been included in the farm unit wherever practicable, bringing the total up to 160 acres.

The only charge for these farms, besides the regular land office fee for filing, is the actual cost of getting water to them, and payment may be made in ten annual installments, without interest.

These irrigation projects are scattered over the entire arid region, from Canada to the Mexican line. In consequence, every variety of crop grown in the temperate zone can be raised under them. If you would like a fruit or dairy farm, a garden for market truck, a tract for diversified farming, hog or poultry raising, just write to the Statistician of the U. S. Reclamation Service, Washington, D. C., for particulars.

Burns, bruises and scratches, big and little cuts or in fact anything requiring a beloved member and co-worker of our Sunday-school, Therefore it is Resolved.

1st. That we the members of Providence Sunday-school do hereby express our deep sense of bereavement in the death of our sister. We feel our loss most keenly, and shall sadly miss her; especially her labor in training the children for Children's Day, Christmas entertainments, etc.

derest sympathy to all of her grief-stricken loved ones, (especially her husband), trusting that they will bow in humble submission to the divine will of Him "who doeth all things well." There is a vacant place in her home and Sunday-school; yet we hope to meet her in the great beyond, blessed of our Father in Heaven.

3rd. That these resolutions be

Where Responsibility Rests.

It is quite the fashion among all classes of people to berate the newspapers for being no better than they are. People who are ready to buy a paper whenever they see a screaming headline or get scent of a sensational or suggestive article are always saying: "You can't believe anything you see in the papers," whithout ever realizing that they themselves make the market for journalistic mendacity, and worse.
The business element looms large in newspaper making. To some extent the public is given what it will have instead of what the makers of the papers would like to give. There is, happily, a wide line of cleavage between those papers which are willing to go to the limit in sensationalism, in the inspiring of mob spirit and in appeals to more sordid emotion, and those who will not. The public must recognize its own responsibility in the matter.

And when it sees the first page of the paper, by common consent belonging to the most important news, given up to the exploitation of sensational fiction or to the heart-throbbings of the sobsquad school of writers, matter that has no connection whatever with legitimate news or the creation of a healthy mental atmosphere, it should stop and think long enough to see whether it is being taken. Many people must get their literature and science their higher education, in fact, from the newspapers very largely, but they should be reasonably careful what school they attend. self-control and self-direction in reading is even more necessary than in eating or drinking.—Pittsburg Post.

FLOOD-CURSED CHINA.

Treeless Condition Exposes It to Inevitable Losses.

No other country suffers so terribly as China from floods. Now, for the second time within a few months, great loss of life and destruction of property are reported from Chinese river valleys.
The ruin wrought is almost beyond belief.
In all the history of the modern world there is no other flood record like some of the ghastly chronicles of river havoc in the densely populated and fertile plains of China. In one year the loss of life by floods in the Yellow river was upwards of 1,000,000, according to the best authorities.
The wiping out of villages enough to run the mortality up to 10,000 is not uncommon in the Chinese valleys.

These are the floods of an almost treeless country, except for remote mountains, west of China proper, and for the fruit and mulberry trees grown in gardens and about houses. The ruin wrought by rivers which sweep out of their channels is the dire result, in the main, of stripping the country of its forests. There is no relief in sight, nothing hopeful in the outlook, because there are no woods.

The warning to America is so plain that the moral need hardly be drawn. There is nothing in this country to guarantee it against similar results of like folly.—Cleveland Leader.

To Protect Washstands.

A housekeeper may protect washstands from ugly rings and scuffs by pads made of common outing flannel of delicate hue and pattern. Double a yard of the material; spread several layers of paper between the folds and then buttonhole the edges with pretty silk thread. When it becomes soiled, clip the stitches.— New Idea Woman's Magazine for November.

Do not let anyone tell you that something else is just as good as DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills because there isn't anything just as good for inflammation of the bladder, or any Kidney and Bladder disorder. A week's trial will convince you. Sold by Hunter Drug Company.

When Mother Gets Old.

A New York exchange carries the story of a mother, aged sixty who asked the courts to relieve her of the bondage in which she is held by her own daughter! It appears that the daughter of whom complaint is made had "taken her mother along" when she (the daughter) took unto herself a husband, and the aged parent practically filled the place of the ordinary domestic. It was cheaper than hiring a girl, for "mother was so willing to do everything" that daughter just couldn't deprive her of the pleasure of doing all the housework.

Whether the story be true or false, it suggests conditions that are often found in these days of "advanced civilization." There are some sons and daughters who forget that childhood has no perpetual claim on parentage. What the ordinary mother endures in the early life of her offspring can never be repaid, even by a lifetime of devotion and kindness, and how a child can burden the declining years of an uncomplai-ning parent is a question beyond our comprehension.

Mother does not possess the secret of everlasting youth. Somehow her shoulders insist on stooping as the years advance, and the eyes that used to glisten with the light of motherhood will get dim.
The journey down hill, then, should not be hastened by unnecessary burdens, and when mother turns her eyes to the setting sun her days should be filled with kindness, gentleness and love. No child holds a mortgage on mother. She discharged her debt to you long ago when her life was featured with sleepless nights and days of nameless anxiety.—Asheville Citizen.

A Jeweler's Experience.

C. R. Kluger, The Jeweler, 1060 writes: "I was so weak from kidney trouble that I could hardly walk, a hundred feet. Four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy cleared my complexion, cured my backache and the irregularities disappeared, and I can now attend to business every day, and recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy to all sufferers, as it cured me after the doctors and other remedies had failed.
