THE CITY.

—Don't fail to see the Palace of Wonders.

—The State Dental Association will meet in Greensboro on the 25th and 26th insts.

—"Rebecca at the Well," drawing-freshening lemonade, may be seen at the Loan Exhibit.

—A five hundred page book, giving the complete history of the Johnstown flood has already been published.

—Messrs. H. P. Guess & Co., lumbermen of Moore county, took three shares of stock in the cotton factory to-day.

—The Sunday-school of the Good Shepherd church went out on a special train this morning to picnic at Millbrook.

—A very handsome monument has been erected at Wake Forest to the memory of the late Professor, W. G. Simmons.

—There will be an adjourned meeting of the Bench and Bar at the Supreme Court room to-morrow afternoon at five o'clock.

—A number of students of the University will spend a month of camp life around and at Morehead City during the summer.

—This evening will be a brilliant one at the Loan Exhibit. A number of Raleigh's charming young ladies will appear in costumes of "ye olden time."

—The admission to the Loan Exhibit is 25 cents; children under 10 years, 10 cents. Tickets are on sale at A. Williams & Co's book store, Lee, Johnson & Co's drug store and McKimmon's drug store.

—The Loan Exhibit is simply grand. Four arc electric lights make the hall and refreshment rooms brilliant with light, and the hundreds of superb art works and thousands of curiosities constitute a palace of wonders.

—The CALL suggests excursion trains from Durham and Henderson, to give the people of those and intermediate towns an opportunity to visit the Loan Exhibit at a reduced rate. If they could only know what it is, many people would come to see it.

—The Mayor and a committee of the Board of Aldermen are engaged in codifying the city ordinances, taking the additions and amendments to the ordinances for some years back, and will put them in perfect shape they now hold.

—A pleasant incident at Wake Forest College yesterday was the arrival of a Sunday-school excursion train from Durham, with nine coaches full of people. They spread a big dinner in the beautiful campus and had a very delightful day. It was the Sunday-school of the First Baptist church of Durham.

—The commencement agony is about over. The netting on the programme for Raleigh people is Morehead City, or Wrightsville, on the mountains; and yet, strange to say, Raleigh has, by actual record, a more inviting temperature than either place. But there's nothing in this world that can get ahead of "going somewhere."

—There is some guessing fun going on at the Loan Exhibit. Mr. A. Dughi has filled a bottle with shot. Individuals may guess the number of shot in the bottle at five cents a guess, and the one coming nearest the number will be given half a gallon of any kind of ice cream. The proceeds of the guessing will go to the hospital.

A Prophet (?) in Town.

There was a colored man in town this morning who announced himself as a "Prophet from the Lord." He said he had a vision in which he was told to go to Jerusalem where he would be three days and then be killed. He was told not to preach, but to "testify." He was from Texas; had been coming from there for two months, testifying all the way. He furthermore said that when he was killed in Jerusalem the world would immediately come to an end. He was as black as a negro can get, and was about twenty-one years old.

He wound up his statement by asking the gentlemen to whom he was announcing himself for a quarter to get on with. The request was declined by the gentlemen on the ground that it was not the correct thing to help a man get to a place where he would be killed.

Celebration of the Semi-Centennial of the Virginia Military Institute.

The R. & D. R. R. will sell reduced rate tickets to Lexington, Va., on certificate plan; that is, tickets to be purchased for going trip at regular rate and returning at one third at the regular rate on presentation of certificate signed by the President at the Institute, showing that parties were actually in attendance at the celebration and purchased tickets from certain points at full rates.

PALACE OF WONDERS.

Dickens' Curiosity Shop Outdone—The Magnificent Art Gallery—Special Features of Entertainment.

The Loan Exhibit is palace of wonders. It were futile to undertake either to enumerate or describe even an infinitesimal part of what may be seen in the hall. The observer gazes and still the wonder grows. In the curio and relic line such articles as ostrich eggs, emu egg, Dead Sea water, piece of the rock of Gibraltar, olive leaf consecrated at the Savior's tomb, hundreds of articles made by prehistoric races, ancient dresses—notably one worn by Marie Antoinette, swords of famous war leaders, piece of Cornwallis' dress-suit, material of Henry Clay's vest, wonderful carved works from Japan and China, dresses and furnishings of Oriental splendor and luxuriousness from Persia, Turkey and other parts of the world; handiwork of Alaska people, Indian war equipments, lace hundreds of years old of indescribable elegance and fineness, Mexican curios, articles carved from the famous "Charter Oak," fine miniature paintings of men and women famous in State and National history, old jewelry from one to three hundred years old, genuine lock of Washington's hair, cabinets of rare stones and gems and a thousand and one more articles. Among the books and documents there are rare old books—some of them 500 years old. One of these contains about 600 pages of vellum and the book is written with a pen—every letter uniform in size and of various colors. There are two columns to the page and at a short distance, the work looks like print. It was the lifetime work of a Monk. There are other rare volumes from one to three hundred years old, including old Bibles, histories and works of literature. The first Bible ever brought to North Carolina is on exhibition.

In one case there are autograph letters and commissions by George Washington; Samuel Johnson, the first Governor of North Carolina, and a commission signed by George Washington and Thos. Jefferson together. There is one old document written and signed in 1756 by Earl Granville, one of the Lord's Proprietors. This is the original draft of his instructions for the government of the Carolina province. Besides these there are various other documents, among them the autograph of Santa Anna, letters written by Robt. E. Lee, and other men of everlasting fame.

In the art gallery which covers both sides of the large hall are paintings by such masters as Murilo, Vinci, Reynolds, Huntington, Titian, Paslina, Poindexter, Girginti, Guilono Guilmi and others. Pen pictures cannot present the interest and excellence of the exposition. It must be seen to be known, understood and appreciated.

SPECIALTIES.

The management, from the first has been determined to make this enterprise a delightful affair. They are not content with having arranged the most interesting thing ever held in the State, but are daily studying to add new attractions.

ONE FOR THIS EVENING.

This evening at 8:30, the young lady assistant managers of the exhibit will appear in perfect costumes of ancient date—some will be costumes worn over 100 years ago. They will receive and entertain company in the old way and will give the old time music on spinets, harpsichords, now in the exhibit, just as did their great grandmothers. The songs will also be of the "good old times."

CHILDREN'S DAY.

To-morrow afternoon will be "children's day" when there will be an exhibition of dolls. This feature will be in charge of Miss Maggie Merrimon who has arranged four prizes; one to be given for the prettiest doll, one for the best dressed doll by a little girl, one for the oldest doll and one for the ugliest doll. All dolls to be exhibited should be sent in by 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

MRS. JARLEY'S WAX WORKS.

This excellent entertainment which was so successfully presented some time since by the Raleigh Casino is under way as an attraction for Saturday night. Its reputation as an attraction is already established. It will be in charge of Miss Lucy Battle as before. Other features are under consideration and will be promptly announced.

Something to Delight the Little Folks—and Big Ones, Too.

There are so many wonders in the Loan Exhibit, that it is impractical to mention them all; but the little people ought to know what they can see when they go. First, there is a wonderful clock over which stands a beautiful tree. In the tree are some pretty little birds. When the clock is wound up, the little birds go to flying all about the tree chirping and singing just like real birds. Besides these, there is a fountain at the bottom of the tree, and it throws a bright sparkling spray of water. A little bird is also on the ground and, it puts its little head down into a shell and drinks water like a real little songster.

Then there is a pretty little girl in a beautiful little dress. She has a music box about her and on her arm is a pretty basket. When wound up the little girl bows her head and looks all around her to see the people. She then opens her basket and shows a lovely, fluffy little chicken which bobs its head up and down and chirps just as little chickens do when the old hen is with them. It is one of the prettiest little things ever seen. All the little folks ought to see it.

About Trinity College.

Rev. W. S. Black returned this morning from Trinity College. It was he who carried the message from Raleigh to the board of trustees with reference to the removal of the college to the city. The message was presented, and was considered of such importance that the time for action upon it was deferred till July 9th. There has been some opposition developed to the removal of the college, but its strength has not been tested. The action on Raleigh's proposition, so far, by the board is embodied in the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Board of Trustees of Trinity College very highly appreciate the liberal proposition of the city of Raleigh in regard to the removal of Trinity College to that city; but we find in the pressure of other business, at the commencement, that we have not sufficient time to enquire fully into this matter, but will at a future meeting to be held July 9th, at Greensboro, give an answer. It must be, however, understood that this resolution in no way shall commit this board to Raleigh's proposition or any other.

Grand Pic-nic.

Yesterday Messrs. William and James Boylan gave an elaborate pic-nic to many of their friends in the city at Maj. R. S. Tucker's pond. The affair was complete in every respect. A band was on the ground and the handsome pavilion was brilliant with merry dancers until a late hour. Boating was one of the attractions and pleasures of the day. At the proper hour an elegant lunch was served for about one hundred persons who unanimously declared the lunch to be of Delmonico excellence. The party came into the city at an early hour this morning.

THE LADIES' MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION.

Gen'l Pender the Next Subject—Monument Proposed for the Arlington Dead.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Memorial Association was held yesterday, presided over by Mrs. J. B. Bachelor, president.

The Life and War Record, of Gen'l Wm. D. Pender was chosen as the subject of the oration for Memorial Day of 1890.

Gen. Pender was born in North Carolina in 1834 and graduated at the U. S. Military Academy in 1855. He was actively engaged as Lieutenant in service on the frontier until 1861, when he resigned, to enter the Confederate service. He was rapidly promoted for bravery and ability, and attained the rank of Major General. He was killed in the last day's fight at Gettysburg July 3rd, 1863.

The family of General Pender have been notified of the selection, and will choose the orator.

The matter of erecting a monument to the Arlington dead, in the Confederate cemetery, was brought up and discussed at length. No action was taken beyond the appointment of a committee, consisting of Messrs. W. J. Peele, H. M. Cowan and H. W. Ayer, to see what fund could be raised and made available for the purpose. It is hoped the project will meet with favor. Indeed some citizens have already volunteered contributions.

The "Electric Wonder" Coming Back.

Mr. Abbott, the "Georgia Wonder," who stounded Raleigh last Tuesday night by her wonderful feats of strength, will appear again on Monday night at Metropolitan Hall. There is absolutely something amply worth seeing in her performances. Last Tuesday she struck with wonder those who saw her. Among those who tested and examined her remarkable feats were Rev. Dr. Marshall, Messrs. Jno. W. Thompson, J. Y. McRae, G. E. Leach, C. B. Edwards, W. J. Andrews, Frank Dancy and Dr. K. P. Battle, Jr., any one of whom will testify to the wonderful phenomenon. The box sheet will be open to-morrow at A. Williams & Co.'s book store. Reserved seats 75 cents; admission 50 and 25 cents.

New Advertisements.

Separak's Parasols are numerous on the streets. He has a line and assortment that suits any body. He is also making another run on those Gloria Silk Umbrellas. Call quick.

To-morrow is the time to leave orders for Sunday Meats. If anything is wanted nice it is a Sunday dinner. J. Schwartz, the Richmond Meat Market man, says he will have on sale to-morrow some of the most toothsome Veal, Lamb, Beef and other meats that Raleigh people ever bought. He means business in this. The meats are in his refrigerator, and can be seen by anyone who will call. They are fit for an epicurean taste, and he wants Raleigh people to know it.

There will be a howling time at Norris & Carter's store to-morrow between the hours of 9 and 12 o'clock. Just see their new ad.

Notice.

A prominent Republican will address the members of the "Carolina Club" to-night at headquarters at 8:30 o'clock. A full attendance is earnestly requested. By order of Club. J. N. DENTON, Secretary.

A memorial pamphlet of 56 pages has been printed, containing records of the death and funeral of the late lamented Col. Eugene Morehead, together with poems and tributes of respect, by Leo D. Heartt, D. B. Fuller, S. F. Tomlinson and G. W. Watts and the resolutions passed by the different organizations to which he belonged.
