YOUNG LADY returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City, was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twentythree she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change. she plainly told them that she used the Oircassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleausing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. Reparator Capilli.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from hatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practition-ers have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses [from their own experience] can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious ? It certainly is difficult. as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. From the National Intelligencer. The New Issue s Tondered by Mr. Wade-Their Cause and Sincerity.

It was seen, pretty soon after the elec-tion of Mr. Wade to the position of Presi-dent pro tem. of the Senate, that his chardent pro tem. of the Senate, that his char-acter and quality as the great Radical lead-er in that body had received a severe check. Making himself an object of ridicule he-fore the country as presiding officer was a very d fierent thing from being thunderer in the seeme on the floor. As time went on Mr. Wade's consequence faded almost out of sight, while, to the mortification of friends and merriment of his rivals, the latter loomed up to the public view. Hence it could not be determined that this annering state of things should be terminated by an announcement of views by Mr. Wade which should "tower the mountain peaks above the table land" of the most advanced positions of his competitors for the Pre-sidential nomination. That the purpose has been thoroughly accomplished must be confessed. Butler and Stevens are far overleaped. It is difficult to see how the record can be exceeded, except that Gen. Butler may propose to put an end to the system of killing the South by slow processes, and revive the idea of "marching an army southward from Washington in three columns--one to kill, another to burn and a third to possess the land."

After all, this relates to the destruction of the South alone. Mr. Wade's programme deals not alone with the South, but reaches to the inmost recesses of Northern interest and property. We again present to the people a condensed statement of Mr. Wade's speech :

As regarded the political situation, he would only say that the Southerners now had the mildest terms offered them they ever would get. If they chose to accept them well and good ; they might have all the advantage of such action; if they refused them, another turn would be given to the screw, and they would be compelled to yield, whether they wished to or not.--Congress had thus far been with the people, and would not now desert them under the lead of Johnson or the devil. His hearers might rest assured of one thing. that reconstruction was as certain to take

Calcutta, April 27 .- The prospect of a war in Europe, and especially the designs of Russia on the Danube and, Constantinople, excite discussion in native no less than in English society here. Especially in the former the advance of Russia towards Bokhara and Cabul is discussed with no little cagerness, and with a degree of exaggeration natural to politicians whose knowledge of geography is so hazy. The opinions of the really discontented, the Mussulmans, do not find public expression, but on the whole they welcome the approach of Russia just as we know the mass of the people do in Central Asia. It is true that Russian e vilization, backward Samarand and Bokhara, but it present tries to the Indian empire. There is no the Russians are wise enough to conciliate doubt that at last they will have to send the Russians are wise enough to conciliate and so disarm that fanaticism, while ever since the Crimean war, which had so close an influence on the mutiny, the discontented of India are well aware that the Russian influence is hostile to the English in Eastern politics, and dream that between the two they will accomplish their wishes. A weak English army in India will again prove their opportunity, as it did when Lord Dalhousie's remonstrances were unheeded before 1857. Now, whether it be an European war for the preservation of the independence of Belgium, or one for the possession of the two roads to the East by Egypt and the Euphrates, that is, whether the enemy be France or Russia, the English army in India is likely to be reduced even below its present minimum of 60,000 men. When the struggle for I'onstantmople comes it is well understood by the native politicians of India that our army will be divided and distracted by Russia, being himself on our 3 northwest frontier, or stirring up the restless tribes there, and by a Russian force on the Danube and Black Sea, as in 1854. The Russian attempt on Constantimople failed, reason they, only because her second line of opcrations against us in Central Asia had not been formed. To remedy that mistake her steamers Persia is complete; and her popularity the liber y which any slave may new-puramong the people of Central Asia is for the chase will perhaps enhance the value of time unbounded, and will be carefully maintained. Sir John Lawrence's successor will have to do it if he does not."

There is not one native power, even Bengalee, which approves the policy of the hour-non-intervention. It will certainly be well for England to show less indifference on the subject. The government of India is not heedless though it is inactive. Sir John Lawrence maintains a vigilant watch, and has sources of information that it would not be prudent for me to disclose.

The emancipation question in Cuba is again rumored. A Spanish mail steamer, it is said, recently arrived, brought out a royal decree deckiring free all colored children born of slave parents on and after the 1st of July next. After that date any slave may obtain his or her liberty for the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars .-There seems to be no doubt that such a decree had been received by the Cap'ain General, although it had not been publishambition and energy. It is not improbable that among the immediate practical re-

It is not right or just that any man should be compelled to labor until life is worn out and being is a curse, The Almighty did not intend that this should be the case, nor will it always remain bit the defiant spirit of the brainless bras so. More leisure must be given to people for mental accomplishments, and labor saving machines had not yet fulfilled their mission, since they had failed to effect this result.

One of our exchanges hits the truth in the following : "The men who fought," it says, "have yielded more readily to the Congressional plan of Reconstruction than those who staid at home. Generals who will be disfranchised by the Constitutional Amendment, reommend its acceptance, while men who only talked treason and kept their precious bodies out of harm, are full of patriotic defiance !" This is the case everywhere. -Files the man who disturbed the Mobile meeting, and interrupted Kelly's speech, occupied a "bombproof" during the entire war, and those men who talk the loudest in bar-rooms and on street corners, were never guilty of stri-king a blow against the Umon.
