ASTROLOGY.

The World Astonished, AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST, Madame H. A. Perrigo.

She reveals secrets no mortals ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophic, crosses in love, loss, for realious and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration— from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and all desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with safety and satisfaction to themselves as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secrecy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair. Address, MADAME H. A. PERRIGO, P. O. Drawer 293, Buffalo, N. Y. march 28, 1867. twily

Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig: Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair; And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair. Reparatore Capilli. For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and promoting growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses [from their own experience] can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparatore Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, post paid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, providing entire satisfaction is not given. YOUNG LADY returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City, was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruddy complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the "Circassian Balm," and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. Price $1, sent by Mail or Express on receipt of an order, by W. L. CLARK & Co., Chemists, No. 3 West Fayette St., Syracuse, N. Y. The only American Agents for the sale of the same. march 28—twily

"Bingen on the Rhine."

A soldier of the Legion lay dying in Algiers; There was a lack of woman's nursing, there was lack of woman's tears; But a comrade stood beside him, while his life-blood ebbed away, And bent with pitying glances, to hear what he might say. The dying soldier faltered, as he took his comrade's hand, And he said, I never more shall see my own, my native land; Take a message and a token to some distant friends of mine, For I was born at Bingen, at Bingen on the Rhine. Tell my brothers and companions, when they meet and crowd around, To hear my mournful story, in the pleasant vineyard ground. That we fought the battle bravely, and when the day was done, Full many a corpse lay ghastly pale, beneath the setting sun; And midst the dead and dying, were some grown old in wars, And some were young, and suddenly beheld life's noon decline. And one had come from Bingen, from Bingen on the Rhine. Tell my mother that her sons shall comfort her old age, And I was still a truant bird, that thought his home a cage; For my father was a soldier, and as a child, My heart leaped forth to hear him tell of struggles fierce and wild; And when he died and left us to divide his scanty hoard, Let them take what'er they would, but kept my father's sword, And with boyish love I hung it where the bright light used to shine, On the cottage wall at Bingen, calm Bingen on the Rhine. Tell my sister not to weep for me, and sob with drooping head, When the troops are marching home again with gay and gallant tread; But to look upon them proudly, with a calm and steadfast eye, For her brother was a soldier too, and not afraid to die; And if a comrade seeks her love, I ask her in my name; To listen to him kindly without regret of shame; And to hang the old sword in its place, (my father's sword and mine.) For the honor of old Bingen, dear Bingen on the Rhine.

There's another—not a sister—in the happy days gone by, You'd have known her by the merriment that sparkled in her eye, Too innocent for coquetry, too fond for idle scoring, O friend! I fear sometimes the lightest heart makes sometimes heaviest mourning, Tell her the last night of my life (for, ere she can be risen, My body will be out of pain, my soul be out of prison) I dreamed I stood with her, and saw the yellow sunlight shine On the vine-clad hills of Bingen, fair Bingen on the Rhine. I saw the blue Rhine sweep along—I heard, or seemed to hear, The German songs we used to sing, in chorus sweet and clear, And down the pleasant river, and up the pleasant hill, The echoing chorus sounded through the evening calm and still; And her glad blue eyes were on me, as we passed with friendly talk, Down many a path beloved of yore, and well-remembered walk, But her little hand lay lightly, confidingly in mine— But we'll meet no more at Bingen, loved Bingen on the Rhine. His voice grew faint and hoarse, his grasp was childish weak, His eyes put on a dying look, he sighed and ceased to speak; His comrade bent to lift him, but the spark of life had fled— The soldier of the Legion in a foreign land was dead! And the soft moon rose up slowly, and calmly she looked down, On the red sand of the battle-field, with bloody corpses strown; Yea, calmly on that dreadful scene, her pale light seemed to shine, As vivid in distant Bingen, fair Bingen on the Rhine. MRS. NORTON.

Letter from Gov. Orr.

Gov. Orr has addressed a letter to President Johnson, asking him to revoke General Canby's recent order on the subject of Juries. He says: "To show the ruinous results, however, that will follow from this order, if it is allowed to be executed, I beg leave to call your attention to the matter of registration in this State.

Death of Rt. Rev. L. Silliman Ives, D.D., L.L.D.

This eminent prelate and divine died at New York, Oct. 14, 1867. He was a native of New York; and married a daughter of the distinguished and Rt. Rev. John Hobart, Bishop of that Diocese.—The first Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of North Carolina. Rt. Rev. John Stark Ravenscroft, was consecrated in 1823, and died in Raleigh in 1830. Bishop Ives was consecrated as his successor by Rt. Rev. Bishop White, in Philadelphia, Sept. 22d, 1831, and delivered his primary charge to the Convention of the Church in 1832. Of imposing appearance, dignified manners, and courtly address, and preceded by an enviable reputation for piety and learning, Bishop Ives was received with a warm welcome in North Carolina. Within the circle of his church the welcome was more than cordial—it was enthusiastic. His prestige was sustained, and he fully met the expectations of his flock. He devoted himself with zeal to the discharge of his high duties. In private he won attachment by his refinement and gentility; in the pulpit he commanded attention and reverence by his logic and eloquence. About the year 1834, mainly by his influence was established the "Episcopal School" at Raleigh, an institution of a much higher order than any of its predecessors or successors in North Carolina. That universal scholar, Dr. Cogswell, late of the Astor Library, N. Y., was placed at the head, and for a time the permanence and success of the school seemed assured. In a few years pecuniary embarrassment led to its fall. Its fate was a sad disappointment, a grievous blow to the Bishop. In 1844 he delivered the first lecture before the Historical Society of the University of North Carolina. About 1850 it became rumored that the Bishop was inclined to "Romanise" the Church. He founded at "Valle Crucis," in the mountains, a mission or school thought to have a monastic aspect; and he introduced into the State a number of young men who seemed to strive in dress, genealogies and other externals, to assimilate themselves, at least in appearance, to the clergy of the Roman Catholic Church. He announced new doctrines,—dogmas unknown to a Protestant church. His attitude excited general alarm. His intimate friends and warmest admirers excusare the three points where the U. States Court sits in South Carolina.

Can these colored people discharge the duties of jurors either to the United States, or to the State, to the litigants or to public justice? With such instruments, will not the effort to administer justice be a mockery? Now, if the order had provided that no person shall be allowed to sit upon a jury who is unable to read or write, or if a property qualification had been annexed, or if in cases, civil or criminal, in which colored persons may be interested, a certain proportion of the jury should consist of their own color, it might not have been objected to seriously; but in its present bearings the order is to lead to results which must universally be deplored by those who desire to see even and exact justice meted out to all men. Nearly all of the litigation, certainly all of the important litigation, on the civil side of the court, is between white citizens, and involves intricate issues of law and fact, as well as sums great and small. What protection can the white, or even the colored man himself, have, if his case is to be decided by a jury made up of persons possessing so little intelligence that they are unable to read, write or cipher? With what satisfaction would a Northern claimant regard adverse decision made by a jury, a majority of whom were colored, when the same case measured by intelligence and submitted to the judgment of men of experience and education, would perhaps, have been decided in his favor? Suppose that he is a patentee whose rights have been infringed, and whose interests—involving to the amount of half a million of dollars—are dependent upon the keen discrimination of an intelligent jury called upon to determine some material difference between machinery or processes of manufacture; is it not preposterous to suppose that a colored jury, constituted as I have described, possess the requisite qualifications to render a just and intelligent verdict? Yet this is but one of the many classes of cases, which the Northern as well as the Southern man will be compelled to take judgment of the ignorant and unwise jurors created by order No. 80."

In view of all these circumstances, therefore, I beg leave most earnestly to protest against its execution, and to ask that it may be ordered to be entirely revoked, or suspended until after the close of the fall terms of this State. Your early attention to this matter is respectfully invoked, inasmuch as I desire to communicate the result of this application to the judges prior to the commencement of their respective terms. I have the honor to be, your Excellency's obedient servant, JAMES L. ORR.

EMIGRANTS ARRIVED, AND MORE TO COME. We were pleased to see in our streets a few days ago a family of Swiss emigrants, who had been induced to come to this country by a very wealthy and intelligent gentleman from that country who has been sojourning among us for some months.—These emigrants are of the right sort. They are not picked up promiscuously, but come among us endorsed as intelligent and respectable farmers, and by a proper encouragement from our people, may be made to form a nucleus around which thousands of similar people would undoubtedly gather in a very short time. Even now, thirty other families are awaiting the report of those now here, and if the report is favorable, a tide of immigration will set in towards this section.

We were in Wisconsin when the tide of immigration set in, by this very class of people, to that Territory, and we know something of their character and wants. At first a few families landed at Milwaukee, and finding government lands could be bought cheap, they sent to their Fatherland and had a colony formed. The colony purchased whole townships at once, and in one year from that time not less than twenty thousand Swiss and German emigrants were domiciled in three or four counties. Speculators saw the opportunity and purchased large tracts of land in other parts of the State, cut them up into small farms of from 50 to 100 acres, and offered to give a title in fee simple, to each alternate farm, to any family who would settle on it for five years. These farms were all soon occupied, and at the expiration of five years the unoccupied farms had enhanced in value from five to twenty times the original cost. We know one man who retired from business on the money he had made by purchasing 3,000 acres, and disposing of the land as we have stated.

These great estates must have lands—homes. They do not come to hire out.—Most of them have means to purchase land, but if our land owners are not willing to sell it at reasonable prices they will go where they can do better. We unhesitatingly say that lands in Western North Carolina are held at too high prices. You must come down if you wish to sell. Money is much scarcer than land, and less expensive to keep—except by some of our subscribers, we know, for they keep it from us just as easy as an old glove. There is a chance now for our land owners to make their lands valuable, and create a better market for them by selling these emigrants on portions of them, by gift, or at very moderate prices. You may rest assured that ten families from Switzerland or Germany, if made comfortable in this country, will be followed by as many hundred.—Asheville News.
